The Course was inaugurated by Professor AP Singh of the Acupressure Shodh Prashikshan Evam Upchar Sansthan (ASPEUS) and Professor Swati Pal, Principal, Janki Devi Memorial College, University of Delhi on April 12, 2021 at 3:30 pm.

About 65 participants took part in this Add-on Course which included known people of diverse fields like College Principal, University Teachers, Scientists, business owners, eminent doctor from reputed health institutions like AIIMS, who were Covid experts, Practising Acupuncturist, Suzok Therapist, Social Activist, Bank Manager, retired people and many more.

The resource persons of the Add-On Course were Professor Ramola Madnani, Mr. Brajmohan Saini both from Acupressure Shodh Prashikshan Evam Upchar Sansthan (ASPEUS) and Dr. Ambiba Pandey, Senior Physiotherapist, who explained the important aspects of Ayurvedic Acupressure during this spectacular Add-On Course.

Professor AP Singh said in his statement that during these unprecedented times, the importance of a course related to acupressure increases manifold. He also made the audience aware of Acupressure Shodh Prashikshan Evam Upchar Sansthan (ASPEUS) Allahabad, an institution which is constantly working towards the promotion and propagation of Acupressure. He also emphasised on the benefits of Acupressure in everyday life.

On this occasion, Professor Swati Pal, Principal, Janki Devi Memorial College, University of Delhi congratulated everyone on organising such an enriching and successful Add-On Course and mentioned that in these difficult times, a self-treatment system like Acupressure will help people in fighting diseases. The biggest truth today is to be vigilant. One who is conscious, is healthy and one who is healthy, is safe. It is also noticeable that about three generations will be benefitted from this Add-On Course.

The Course emphasized upon the importance of palms and soles of feet in our body. In Acupressure, what are the important points of the palms and soles of the feet, what happens in the body by pressing those points, etc. and how the body reacts to the same were explained in the initial lectures.

Professor Ramola Madnani said during the Course that Acupressure is like a “First Aid Box”. She explained the basic meaning of Acu-pressure i.e. “Acu” means point and pressure means applying force. She also emphasised that the primary treatment of most of the diseases can be done by us through applying the techniques of Acupressure. Professor Ramola Madnani identified every pressure point and explained its benefits in detail during the entire duration of the Course. She explained the primary cures for specific diseases or illness by pressing certain points in great detail. Treatment of problems like headache, body pain, blood pressure, thyroid, sugar, heart, liver, kidney diseases, etc can be done by pressing certain pressure points in both arms, wrists, palms and fingers. Also, many diseases can be cured by pressing and massaging the necessary points in the head, ear, back of the ear, neck and toes.

During the Add-On Course, it was also claimed that treatment of a pandemic like Covid-19 is also possible with Acupressure. The necessary points needed for the treatment of diseases were described with the help of making dots on the fingers with black, blue, yellow and orange colours. It was also explained that the network of nerves and veins in the human body is actually capable of treatment of primary physical diseases by applying pressure to specific points. People were motivated to self-treat themselves. Acupressure can also be used for treatment of chronic diseases. It has no side effects at all. Also, a person of any age, gender, etc can apply this technique for treatment of several problems.

The main aim of this Add-On Course, which lasted about one and a half months, was to build the importance of Acupressure in our daily life. The people participating in this Course were not only given information to treat themselves, but were also equipped to use Acupressure on any needy person and establish a disease-free society. Those who do not have money can also be completely healthy by using these simple techniques of Acupressure.

The participants of the Course were really delighted to be a part of such an enriching Course. Some participants asked for more of such Courses and Workshops to be organised in the near future, while others said that due to acupressure, everyone can be guaranteed to be healthy.

The Add-On Course was organized by Dr. Vibha Jain, Secretary General, Janki Devi Memorial College Alumnae Association with the help of other members of the Executive Body of Janki Devi Memorial College Alumnae Association. Professor Swati Pal, Principal, Janki Devi Memorial College, congratulated the members of the Alumnae Association for organisation of such a successful Course which saw huge enthusiasm amongst the participants to learn the techniques of Acupressure. She said that when the entire country is in the grip of Covid19 pandemic, organising an Acupressure Add-On Course will certainly be very helpful in keeping the common people healthy. Dr. Poonam Sharma, President, Janki Devi Memorial College Alumnae Association, extended her greetings and thanks to everyone at the conclusion of the Course. Special thanks was also conveyed to the members of the technical team for hassle free conduct of classes. This initiative of Janki Devi Memorial College was a commendable step during these special circumstances of lockdown.
