Janki Devi Memorial College (JDMC) was founded by Shri Brij Krishna Chandiwala, an eminent Gandhian, with a mission to provide value based quality education to the young women of independent India, especially those from a less privileged background, that will make them responsible citizens and provide academic and employment avenues. This will make them strong, as in the quote above by Swami Vivekananda, Strength is life, and will lead to their economic empowerment. JDMC has been diligently fulfilling this responsibility for almost six decades. As a constituent college of the University of Delhi, JDMC has earned a reputation for providing education that has a firm basis in our untiring quest for quality.

The management, faculty and staff of the college are fully aware that the quality of education we provide can be ensured only when all the stakeholders are equally involved in achieving this aim. Hence, we have practiced and created many policies that help us maintain high standards of education for women hailing from all sections and regions of the Indian society. We are particularly sensitive to the needs of the physically, economically and socially marginalised students.

The visit of Rt. Hon. David Cameron, the former Prime Minister of the United Kingdom on 19th February 2013 along with a team of Vice-Chancellors of the top British Universities to our college was a validation of our success. JDMC was the only college that Prime Minister Cameron chose to visit in the course of his Indian sojourn, as he was impressed with our commitment to the cause of women’s education. His purpose in visiting our college in the company of Mr. Aamir Khan, the famous actor and UN ambassador for Child Nutrition, was to prepare a white paper on the subject of women’s empowerment, which was to be presented at the UN.

The requirement to get NAAC accreditation has provided us an invaluable opportunity to objectively study the performance of our institution and assess its strengths and weaknesses. While we celebrate our successes, it has not blinded us to the need to rework and revise some aspects of our functioning that need further improvement. In order to fulfil our mission in the field of higher education in the ever changing global context, such introspection will help us change with times and fulfil the vision of our founder more effectively. At all times, we must remember in the words of Tennyson To strive, to seek, to find, and not to yield.

INTRODUCTION

As an administrative-legal-educational entity, we are a constituent college of the University of Delhi. The Banarasidas Chandiwala Sewa Smarak Trust founded this college in 1959. The college receives 95% of grant through the UGC and 5% from the Trust and is recognized under 2 (f) and 12 (B) of the UGC Act. The college is located in central Delhi's Ridge area for the past five and a half decades. JDMC caters to women students of Delhi and neighbouring states like Haryana, Uttar Pradesh, Bihar, Himachal Pradesh, Madhya Pradesh as well as the North-Eastern states of Assam, Arunachal Pradesh, Manipur, Meghalaya, Mizoram, Nagaland and Tripura. We offer eleven programmes in Humanities, Social Sciences and Commerce at under-graduate level.

It is our professed mission to empower women of all regions and sections of the society through holistic education. Our endeavour is to make them responsible citizens of the emerging global society, in addition to equipping them to be financially independent. To accomplish this aim, we provide education that nurtures our students' ability to compete with the best in the world while instilling ethics and values that make them upright human beings who are sensitive to the social imperatives. We believe in the Gandhian philosophy that the only way to help women of India exercise their constitutional and social rights is to empower them thorough education. Once women are educated and economically independent, they have the capacity to educate the whole society.

This idea of education as a source of enlightenment and upliftment is reinforced by the logo of our college: “Vidyahi paramam jyoti.” It highlights the truth that knowledge indeed is the ultimate light which dissipates the darkness of ignorance that is the source of evil. The visuals of a candle and a book are graphic illustrations of this philosophy. The college prayer too articulates the belief in the efficacy of knowledge and education in achieving greatness. We hope to continue our efforts to provide quality education to women of all strata of society, belonging to different regions, ethnicities and faiths.

The college aims at the all-round development of the students to make them confident, self-reliant and ethical individuals. Our system of values is articulated in the following statements:

- We believe that knowledge does not derive from books alone; one learns from life and practical experience too. Therefore, our students and faculty are not just involved in academic activities, they are equally dedicated to community service.

- We are particularly sensitive to the needs of the differently-abled students and faculty of our college. In addition to sensitising our students about issues pertaining to disability, we have tried to facilitate the learning experience of our differently-abled students by constructing ramps and lift for easy mobility. We also have provision for recording textbooks in addition to material in Braille for our visually-challenged students. We have provided special toilets for the differently-abled students. The college has a dedicated Equal Opportunity Cell (EOC) and National Service Scheme (NSS) wing that are committed to help their fellow students who need such support.
- We are equally committed to safeguard our environment and have been practicing rain water harvesting, paper recycling and solar lighting for years. Our gardens are famous for their unparalleled beauty and we have also planted a herb garden recently.

- We train our students to think for themselves by giving them access to scholarly material in the form of books and articles. They are encouraged to research and study the topics of their choice in class as well as seminars and conferences.

- We have participatory management at all levels. The College functions under the general supervision and control of the Governing Body consisting of the members of the Trust, representatives of the University, College faculty and non-teaching staff. The decision making for day to day functioning is through the Staff Council.
ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The NAAC Self-Study Report of Janki Devi Memorial College has been two years in making and innumerable people have contributed to it. Each one of them deserves our gratitude. Starting with Dr. Indu Anand, who initiated the report and retired in August 2015, to Dr. Swati Pal, who is currently officiating as the Principal, without whose support and untiring efforts, completing the report would have been impossible.

All the members of our Administrative and Accounts office have worked hard to provide us with the information that is essential to complete a report of this magnitude. Mr. Surender Kumar, Senior PA to the Principal, has been a pillar of support. Mr. Vashishtha, the Consultant AO, worked hard to coordinate the Administrative staff, while Dr. Kaushal Kishore Shahi, the AO, has willingly taken responsibility to provide the NAAC team with the required information. Mr. G.C. Gulati provided the NAAC team with accounts related information, in spite of ill health; while Mr. Bisht, Mr. Arvind Pal, Mr. Avinash and Mr. Vijay Prakash worked hard to locate and type the information required for the report.

Under the leadership of the College librarian, Dr. Nivedita Sharma, the library staff, in spite of their depleted numbers, went out of their way to provide the NAAC team with relevant inputs.

The NAAC team is especially appreciative of Mr. Manoj Sharma and Mr. Deepak Kumar, our IT support team, who gave unstinting and enthusiastic assistance whenever we needed it.

All our students, past and present, have been a source of inspiration and encouragement. We would like to express our gratitude to all of them, especially the Students’ Union, and the members of the College Photography Club, who provided us with evocative pictures of the College.

The faculty members of the College have proved to be the backbone of this effort, without their diligence and uncomplaining help, the NAAC report could not have been compiled.

The College Governing Body and Management have been a constant source of inspiration in all our efforts. Their vision has guided us and their collaborative and participative style of functioning has given shape to our College.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Criterion I: Curricular Aspects
With a strong commitment to Gandhian ideals, Janki Devi Memorial College (JDMC) endeavours to promote holistic knowledge, which, while being global in perspective, maintains its local relevance. Humanities, Social Sciences and Commerce are offered to students with the mission to educate and economically empower women. The college strives to make the learning process a stimulating one. As a constituent college affiliated to the University of Delhi, the College teaches the syllabus prescribed by the University. However, many faculty members of the College are members of curriculum revision and curriculum review committees of various departments and contribute to the process of curriculum development at the university level, while the College website and Orientation Programmes help in effective curriculum delivery. The recently-introduced Choice Based Credit System (CBCS) has given us the opportunity to introduce new pedagogic practices and inter-disciplinarity. Individual learning through project work and innovative teaching also provide scope for creative articulation by the students.

We believe in the spirit of academic flexibility. So, along with the prescribed courses, numerous certificate courses have also been offered in the past few years, in addition to the vocational training provided by the Janki Devi Vocational Centre (JDVC) to enhance students' skills. Formal and informal feedback mechanism, transparency in functioning and effective grievance redressal contribute to a dynamic academic environment. For effective implementation of the curriculum, regular talks and seminars by professionals enrich students. Participation in numerous associations and societies refines students' talents further. Effective curriculum implementation fulfil the wider objective of making young women ready to face the challenges of the world.

Criterion II: Teaching, Learning and Evaluation
JDMC encourages diversity and representation of student community from different geographical areas and socio-economic, cultural and educational backgrounds. Apart from this, the college ensures teacher quality by ensuring the qualifications and calibre of the faculty by following stringent recruitment procedures; encouraging professional development, while giving due importance to the recognition of teaching abilities.

The college employs various formative and summative assessment approaches adapted to measure students' achievements and encourages holistic development of students in scholastic as well as co-scholastic areas. Providing a supportive environment to students is one of the conspicuous strengths of the college. An analysis of data about the performance of our students across batches and a comparison with similar institutions indicates that JDMC has been able to improve its students' performance in a remarkable manner.

The college has provided a nurturing environment to students of different communities, regions, faiths, ethnicities in the past sixty years. We have always been particularly sensitive to the needs of the differently-abled students as well as those hailing from the marginalised sections of society. So, in addition to infrastructural and educational facilities, we also provide them free meals and financial help. Our inclusive practices and sensitivity to the needs of the marginalised groups was the primary reason behind the former British Prime Minister’s decision to pick JDMC out of hundreds of women’s colleges in India, for his visit in 2013.

Criterion III: Research Consultancy and Extension

The college actively promotes its faculty’s research aspirations by making all resources available to them. Many of our faculty members are actively involved in individual and collaborative research; are members of editorial boards of national as well as international journals; and have received numerous awards. Some of them are also engaged in consultancy projects in research organizations. The Academic Excellence Committee, constituted to encourage inter-disciplinary research work in the college, has submitted several proposals to various funding agencies in the past few months.

We also encourage critical thinking and research culture among students by organising talks, seminars, conferences, paper presentation competitions, in addition to mentoring them for projects submitted as a part of the internal assessment. The College has provided gainful academic and professional opportunities to students by entering into collaborations with the Netherlands Embassy & ECORYS, Cleveland Institute of Technology (CIT), USA, the University of Sunderland, UK, and ILLL, University of Delhi.

As an acknowledgement of its orientation towards the principles of social responsibility, the College received the Second Prize in Chief Minister's Best Rain Water Harvesters category in 2006. We inculcate a sense of good citizenship and service among students by actively engaging them in societies such as NSS, NCC, WDC, Avani - the Environment Club, EOC and Gandhi Study Circle.

Criterion IV: Infrastructure and Learning Resources

Physical facilities play a crucial role in the smooth functioning of a college. JDMC has 73 class rooms, 29 of them with the capacity of seating more than fifty students; 25 of them are IT enabled and facilitate power point presentations and video screenings; the three computer labs with computers, projectors and screens for practicals and assignments also help students access study material through the internet. The college provides free Wi-Fi access to encourage students to use the internet for online study through their own devices.

The fully automated College library is air conditioned and has OPAC facility. It offers a comfortable place for students to study and research subjects of their choice. The College library is home to a hundred thousand volumes, with a Braille section and a special room equipped with special softwares dedicated to the requirements of the visually-challenged students.

The college auditorium, equipped with a sophisticated sound and lighting system, has the capacity to seat more than 1,500 people. The auditorium is used for multiple activities, e.g. to address college gatherings, students' rehearsals, theatrical, musical and dance performances. Three music rooms are located behind the stage for convenience. The College also has a laboratory-cum-classroom for Family and Child Welfare (renamed Human Development and Family Empowerment) department that can seat fifty students.

The College canteen is spacious and hygienic; while rooms are provided for Physical Education department, NSS, NCC and Equal Opportunity Cell to run their affairs. One lift with exits on each floor has been installed for the physically-challenged students and faculty. The medical room fulfills the first-aid and minor medical requirements. The college PIO has also been given office space to help her fulfill her responsibilities.

The air conditioned Seminar Hall and Committee Room are used for activities like lectures, meetings, movie screenings etc. There is a huge play ground which is used for playing Softball, Football, Archery, Cricket, Hockey, Tennis, Martial Arts and also for Yoga and Aerobics. The College strives to ensure that the infrastructure and learning resources are in line with the students' needs and contribute to the growth of academic life. A significant step in this direction is the construction of a residential facility for outstation students, which will be completed by the next session.

Criterion V: Student Support and Progression

The report on Student Support and Progression provides a detailed account of professional, infrastructural and financial opportunities and aids offered by JDMC to facilitate student achievements in academics, sports, socio-cultural, co-curricular and extra-curricular activities. This part of the report throws light on the courses, programmes, projects, scholarships/free-ships, committees and procedural mechanisms available at JDMC to ensure proper maintenance of a conducive environment for sustained personal, psycho-social and career-related growth of the students coming from diverse backgrounds. It also offers insight into the institutional provisions for engaging with the alumnae and former faculty members in a bid to enrich and enhance the overall learning experience at JDMC.

Criterion VI: Governance, Leadership and Management

This criterion focuses on five core areas of institutional functioning. The first section assesses the institution's vision and leadership; the distinctive features of the Institution and its redressal mechanisms. This part of the report also scrutinises the role of the management and leadership in achieving the goals of the institution. The second section examines the institution's plans, policies and mechanisms for development and the associated structures and processes of decision making.

The third section of this report focuses on the institutional strategies and procedures for the professional development and performance appraisal of the staff. The fourth section engages with measures related to the institutional funding, expenditure, management of resources and auditing. The final section pertains to the establishment of the IQAC and the policies and mechanisms for ensuring quality assurance in the institution.

Criterion VII: Innovation and Best Practices

Located in the Delhi Ridge area, JDMC is fully aware of the environmental issues and has been working tirelessly to minimize the impact of increasing human encroachment in this ecologically fragile region by harvesting rainwater, using solar energy, recycling, maintaining an urban forest and actively participating in initiatives like Earth Day Network's #SayNoToPlasticBags Campaign, TERI LEADearthSHIP programme, to name a few.

One of the Best Practices discussed in this report is our innovative use of technology in classroom as well as outside, which is not limited to power point presentations in class by students and faculty and showing relevant films. We also use technology to collate attendance, create time tables, organise examination duties and to hold Students' Union elections. We encourage our students to engage actively with the community at large by supporting the inmates of a nearby Old People's Home and an orphanage in the form of emotional and financial aid.

Another one of our Best Practices is to provide quality education by creating a welcoming ambience for all students, irrespective of their regional, caste, class, religious and ethnic affiliations. We are particularly sensitive to the needs of the differently-abled students and provide them with appropriate infrastructure, computers, Braille books, recording and cultural activities.
SWOC ANALYSIS OF JDMC

Strengths:

JDMC's Gandhian roots guide us to provide quality education to all students, especially those hailing from the marginalised sections of society. The college is particularly sensitive to the needs of all such students.

The faculty has the intellectual calibre to provide quality education, as proved by their research and publications. Students are also exposed to eminent scholars through workshops, seminars and talks.

The teaching-learning mechanisms of the college are responsive to the needs of students. We have transparent processes in place, along with feedback mechanisms. In addition, we also encourage participation in extra- and co-curricular activities, in which JDMC has won numerous prizes.

JDMC constantly strives to improve its infrastructure and make the campus environment-friendly. The college also has an exceptional library.

Weakness:

The dramatic increase in number of students over the last few years has strained the resources of the college.

Opportunities:

We have responded well to the changes introduced in the higher education sector in the past few years by increasing our use of technology, embracing inter-disciplinarity and introducing add-on courses.

Challenges:

The need to keep abreast of the ever-changing requirements of higher education by offering courses that are relevant, given the infrastructural and financial constraints of many of the students.

CRITERION I

CURRICULAR ASPECTS
1.1 Curriculum Planning and Implementation

1.1.1 State the vision, mission and objectives of the institution and describe how these are communicated to the students, teachers, staff and other stakeholders

Vision:

With strong Gandhian values, Janki Devi Memorial College endeavours to promote knowledge which is global in its perspective and local in relevance. Students are motivated to pursue excellence in Social Science, Humanities, Commerce and Sports, in an environment which is vibrant and constantly evolving. Founded with a vision to empower women from all sections and regions of the Indian society through education, JDMC strives to help its students in developing a capacity to think, change and lead the world.

Mission:

- To fulfil the educational needs of women from every section of society so that all women stand at par and are economically and socially empowered
- Provide a holistic education that makes students not only well-informed and enlightened, but also responsible citizens
- Hone the talents of the students to make them independent women of substance
- Sensitise the students to local challenges and a changing global scenario, and help them realise that they can contribute meaningfully to their immediate community as well as to the world at large
- To make young women realise that they can lead in all walks of life if they are educated, aware and articulate

Objectives:

- To ensure that curricular and co-curricular progress is made by all students attending the college, so that they leave the college equipped not only with a valuable degree and sound knowledge and values, but also a sense of self-worth and dignity
- To make the learning process a stimulating one by using innovative pedagogic tools to facilitate knowledge absorption and focus on an interactive classroom environment
- To ensure that students are well placed in the job market and thus, we train them to be truly thorough in their disciplinary and inter-disciplinary knowledge, be effective communicators and be well informed about developments across the globe
- To make students aware of their rights as women and as citizens of a democratic nation, so that they are ready to face the challenges of the world
- To make students sensitive to issues, situations and people, while encouraging them to resolve problems no matter where they are
The Vision and Mission of the college are communicated through the College website, the Prospectus, Orientation Programmes for students and parents; and on various occasions such as the Founder’s Day, Teachers’ Day, Independence Day and Annual Day celebrations.

1.1.2 How does the College develop and deploy action plans for effective implementation of the Curriculum? Give details of the process and substantiate through specific example(s).

With an aim of fulfilling the broader objectives of the college, every effort is made to enlighten the students about the details, duration and the processes involved in the curriculum. This is done through the college website and student orientation programs. There is conscious effort on the part of the faculty to engage in rigorous capacity enhancement possibilities, in order to accomplish continuous upgradation of their teaching skills, as per the demands of the newly introduced curriculum.

Various action plans are deployed with a view to effectively implement curriculum. Some examples of the same are:

- Whenever the University introduces new curricula, orientation programmes are organised for the faculty for the effective implementation of new courses
- The workload committee of the College ensures that the curriculum workload is fairly distributed within each Department
- At the departmental level, regular meetings are held to ensure that (a) the curriculum is being implemented smoothly (b) discuss and share methodologies to handle problematic aspects of the curriculum
- Tutorial classes are held regularly and every effort is made to ensure that the students take these classes seriously
- Individual teachers share their work plan, including their assessment criteria, with the students to give adequate time for preparation for every class
- Contact hours are used to meet students who may have been absent and thus missed out on a section of the curriculum covered in the class

1.1.3 What type of support (procedural and practical) do the teachers receive (from the University and/or institution) for effectively translating the curriculum and improving teaching practices?

The University organizes orientation programs and workshops in order to familiarize the faculty, as and when any new curriculum is introduced. In addition to organizing orientation programmes, the University also seeks inputs from faculty members of colleges, while the curriculum is being designed. Once the term starts, the University ensures that the texts and other academic materials are easily available to the students and faculty.

The College infrastructure includes a fully automated and updated library, a Wi-Fi enabled computer system, a well-equipped seminar room and a number of classrooms with audio-visual facilities. Photocopying facilities, availability of individual laptops and encouragement to implement innovative teaching methods, are a great support for teachers to effectively translate curriculum and improve teaching practices.

Individually and at the intra-/inter-departmental levels, teachers are encouraged and aided to hold workshops, seminars, call guest speakers and organize educational/field trips, so that the teaching and learning process becomes attractive and meaningful. Please refer to the Departmental Evaluative Reports for more details.
1.1.4 Specify the initiatives taken up or contribution made by the institution for effective curriculum delivery and transaction on the curriculum provided by the affiliating University or other statutory agency.

- The details of the newly introduced Choice-Based Credit System (CBCS) have been added to the College website as well as the Prospectus
- Soft copy of each course being offered by the College is available on the University and College website
- Students are also provided relevant details about the CBCS during the orientation program. Furthermore, the faculty and students discuss the curriculum in class when the term begins
- Regular departmental meetings are held where the question of curriculum delivery is addressed, as discussed in 1.1.2 above
- Since the curriculum under the CBCS is essentially multi-disciplinary, very often, experts from other disciplines are invited to deliver talks. This enriches delivery of the course content. For example, a faculty member from the History Department who may have specialised in Modern Indian History, is invited to talk about the Freedom struggle to a class majoring in English literature, for a course on Modern Indian Literature. Similarly, a member of Philosophy department may be invited to teach a course on Ethics to Commerce students.

1.1.5 How does the Institution network and interact with beneficiaries such as industry, research bodies and the University in effective operationalisation of the curriculum?

As mentioned earlier, our objective is to economically empower our students, in addition to giving them a good education that allows them to compete globally. This objective of the curriculum is fulfilled when our students get employment commensurate with their skills. This function is performed by the Career Opportunity Cell of the college.

- In recent years, our students have been inducted into companies such as Genpact, IBM Daksh, Fluor Daniel India Pvt. Ltd, Oberoi Group of Hotels, Planman, Siemens Limited, Wipro (BPO), and Ernst and Young. In the academic year 2015-2016, reputed companies like Genpact, ICICI Prudential, SBI Cards, and Tata Consultancy Services recruited around 270 of our students. Details of the activities of the cell have been provided at various points in the report.

The College has ongoing interaction with many of the above-mentioned organisations that helps us keep abreast of the new developments in the job market and update our classroom practices to suit these requirements.

- We invite researchers and scholars from universities and organisations like ICHR, Sahitya Akademi and the industry to keep our students apprised of the most recent innovations and research in areas of their interest.
- Associations and Societies for different Disciplines hold talks, conduct seminars and organise field visits, to enhance students’ knowledge Please refer to the Departmental Evaluative reports for details.

1.1.6 What are the contributions of the institution and/or its staff members to the development of the curriculum by the University? (Number of staff members/ departments represented on the Board of Studies, student feedback, teacher feedback, stakeholder feedback provided, specific suggestions etc)
JDMC is a constituent college of the University of Delhi and the process of curriculum formulation is centralised, with all the colleges teaching the prescribed syllabi. However various faculty members of our college have been involved in the development of the curriculum in their respective disciplines and have also been associated with committees framing and revising the syllabi as per the new norms under the CBCS. They are involved as resource persons for Academic Courses and Curriculum Development Programmes, and as authors of texts prescribed by the University for different Courses. Please refer to the detailed list of the same in the response to 1.4.1

- Within the individual departments, the suggestions of teachers are discussed and incorporated into a report before the departmental representative carries it to the parent department in the University for review.

- Based on the feedback from the students regarding curriculum enrichment, numerous societies, clubs and associations have been set up to ensure that the students get the benefit of expert knowledge for their course. Please refer to 1.3.5

1.1.7 Does the Institution develop curriculum for any of the courses (other than those under the purview of the Affiliating University) offered by it? If ‘Yes’ give details on the process (‘Needs Assessment’, Design, Development and Planning) and the courses for which the Curriculum has been developed.

The University of Delhi does not have any provision so far to allow the affiliated colleges to develop their own curriculum. However, JDMC offers some enrichment courses to its students.

- ELPC: English Language Proficiency Course was an 80 hour certificate course taught in collaboration with the Institute of Life Long Learning (ILLL), University of Delhi. It aimed at improving the reading, writing, speaking and comprehension skills of students in English. The course was developed by the faculty of Central Institute of Education (CIE) and experts with a background in teaching English as a second language. The faculty who taught this course were trained in an orientation programme and at the completion of the course had to provide feedback to improve it further. The fee for this course was Rs. 4,000/-.

- The College ran a self-financed course in Hindi Journalism from 2004 till 2012, which was open to students across colleges of the University of Delhi. This was one of the add-on courses offered by the College, with a 100 hour duration and a fee of Rs. 1,500/-. Photo-Journalism, Feature writing, Audio-visual Communication Mediums, Advertising and Public Relations formed a major part of the curriculum of this course. The course aimed at educating students in the basics of Journalism and provided knowledge of print and electronic media. Students were trained in not just the theoretical aspects of Journalism but also in various other aspects such as layout designing and proof reading by eminent faculty from the world of print and electronic media. This certificate course was conducted from 2-4 p.m. and required class room attendance, project work and viva-voce. However, the course had to be discontinued with the onset of the semester system, when the regular classes went on till 4pm.

- Spanish Language Certificate course was taught from 2010-2012 in collaboration with the Cleveland Institute of Technology (CIT). It was a basic course to facilitate reading, speaking and comprehension skills similar in Spanish and was taught over a period of eighty hours. The syllabus was based on the basic level courses devised by the University of Delhi and Cervantes Institute. The faculty came from JNU and the fee was Rs. 10,000/-.
- Peace and Conflict Studies: The Gandhian Alternative: This three month certificate course aims at familiarising students with the theoretical and praxeological dimensions of Gandhism in world politics, disseminating Gandhian philosophy, operationalising Gandhian principles and exploring the contemporary relevance of Gandhism. The fee for this course is Rs.1,500/-. The Course is open to students from different disciplinary backgrounds, who undergo at least 12 hours of instruction and participation. Lectures are delivered by eminent scholars and activists. Students also get an opportunity to learn about the impact of Gandhian philosophy through movie/documentary screenings and participatory activities like poster competitions, photography competitions, debating competitions and visits to the Gandhi Smriti Darshan Samiti at Rajghat.

In the light of the exponential growth of Peace and Conflict Studies as a discipline over the last decade, it was felt that revamping the syllabus and making it more attuned to Peace and Conflict Studies as an academic discipline was necessary. The revamped course structure for 2016-2017 includes Pedagogy, origin and classification of Peace Studies, Concepts of Peace and Conflict, Peace paradigms, Five approaches to Peace, Gandhian Perspective on Peace, Nature of conflicts within and between states from 1945 onwards and the key theoretical assumptions about the causes, dynamics and resolution of conflicts.

- The Women Entrepreneurship Support Training (WEST) was started in collaboration with Ecorys and the Government of Netherlands in 2013. It aimed at creating and supporting young women entrepreneurs by training them with entrepreneurship skills and enabling them to achieve economic self-dependence. 60 undergraduates participated in this programme that helped them to identify their business projects and build a development model with which they could have linkages with network partners in the field of marketing, finance etc. This was a certificate course funded by Ecorys and the Embassy of Netherlands.

- The College offers a basic course in Translation that is expected to enhance students’ language skills and open another avenue of employment. It is an 80 hour Certificate course offered in collaboration with Bhartiya Anuvad Parishad. The syllabus has been devised by experts from Bhartiya Anuvad Parishad. The classes are held from 2.00-4.00 PM twice a week and its fee is Rs. 1,500/-.

1.1.8 How does the institution analyse/ensure that the stated objectives of curriculum are achieved in the course of implementation?

- Students are encouraged to give feedback to the individual teachers as well as the departments regarding the curriculum. For detailed information about students’ feedback, please refer to 6.2.11

- Timely tests/quizzes are conducted by teachers to assess whether students have actually been able to comprehend and learn what is taught in class

- Periodically, the Department reviews such implementation through discussions and meetings

- There is not only a student-teacher interface but also discussions in the Staff Council of the College which addresses all issues related to curriculum implementation
1.2 Academic Flexibility

1.2.1 Specifying the goals and objectives, give details of the certificate/diploma/skill development courses etc, offered by the Institution.

The Certificate, Diploma, Skill Development courses offered by the college, along with their goals and objectives, are as follows:

- ELPC: English Language Proficiency Course was an 80 hour certificate course taught in collaboration with the Institute of Life Long Learning (ILLL), University of Delhi, aimed at improving the reading, writing, speaking and comprehension skills of the students in English. The course was developed by the faculty of Central Institute of Education and experts with a background in teaching English as a second language. As this course focuses on the practical application of these skills rather than book learning, it was successful in improving the communication skills of the students.

- Peace and Conflict Studies: The Gandhian Alternative: This three month certificate course aims at familiarising students with the theoretical and praxeological dimensions of Gandhism in world politics, disseminating Gandhian philosophy and operationalising Gandhian principles. The course facilitates exploring the contemporary relevance of Gandhism, and of Gandhi’s moral and political philosophy for resolving conflict and promoting peace. This course, along with the Gandhi Study Circle-JDMC, has been successful in raising the social consciousness towards peace and conflict resolution among our students as well as the faculty members.

- Spanish Language Certificate course facilitated reading, speaking and comprehension skills in Spanish and was taught over a period of eighty hours. The syllabus was based on the basic level courses devised by the University of Delhi and Cervantes Institute. Knowledge of an additional language is an asset in today’s global job market, so the objective of this course was to improve the employability of our students.

- Women Entrepreneurship Support Training (WEST) was started in collaboration with Ecorys and the Government of Netherlands in 2013. It aimed at creating and supporting young women entrepreneurs by training them with entrepreneurial skills and enabling them to achieve economic self-dependence by helping them to identify their business projects and build a development model with which they could have linkages with network partners in the field of marketing, finance etc.

1.2.2 Does the Institution offer programmes that facilitate twinning/dual degree? If ‘yes’, give details.
The institution does not offer such programmes, as there is no provision for twinning or dual degrees in the ordinances of the University of Delhi.

1.2.3 Give details on the various institutional provisions with reference to academic flexibility and how it has been helpful to students in terms of skills development, academic mobility, progression to higher studies and improved potential for employability. Issues may cover the following and beyond:

- Range of core/elective options offered by the University and those opted by the College
- Choice based credit system and range of subject options
- Courses offered in Modular form
- Credit transfer and Accumulation Facility
- Lateral and vertical mobility within and across courses
- Enrichment courses

Apart from offering a wider choice in the selection of optional courses offered to the students under the prescribed syllabi, the college also endeavors to provide numerous enrichment/short term courses.

Academic Flexibility

The FYUP introduced by the University in the 2013-2014, provided students with academic flexibility to pick any subject of their choice as Discipline Course II and Applied Courses without any conditions or restrictions. A Sanskrit Honours student, for example, could study Commerce, English or Maths as DC II subjects and could take Game Theory and Computer Applications as Applied Courses. This wide ranging choice allowed the students to explore different areas of knowledge and helped them in developing a broader vision.

The University introduced the Choice Based Credit System (CBCS) in 2015 after the FYUP was rolled back in 2014. The CBCS provides an opportunity for the students to choose courses from the options comprising core, elective/minor or skill based courses. The courses are evaluated following the grading system, which is considered to be better than the conventional marking system. This is expected to help students to move across institutions within India and across countries. The uniform grading system will also enable potential employers to accurately assess the performance of the candidates.

Core/Elective options offered by the College under CBCS

The College offers AECC, Generic Elective Courses as well as Skill Enhancing Course (SEC) in addition to the core Discipline courses under the CBCS, as per University regulations. Some of these course are “Understanding the Economic Survey and the Union Budget,” “Historical Tourism: Theory and Practice,” “Legislative Support,” “Ethical Decision Making,” “Value Based and Practical Oriented Course in Hindustani Music,” “Latex and HTML,” “Soft Skills and Problem Solving,” “Introduction to Guidance and Counselling,” and many others. For details Please refer to 1.2.5

CBCS allows lateral mobility within and across courses in the form of the SECs. For instance, a student of Sanskrit (Hons.) can choose SECs offered by Economics, History, Mathematics or Philosophy departments.
Enrichment Courses and Employability

Apart from implementing the CBCS, with its entire range of core and elective courses across disciplines as prescribed by the University, the college also offers a range of Skill Based Courses to the students. Please refer to 1.2.5 for details.

The college, as mentioned earlier, also offers a range of modular courses like Peace and Conflict Studies and a basic course in Translation, apart from numerous Enrichment Courses offered under the aegis of the Janki Devi Vocational Centre. Please refer 1.2.1 for details.

1.2.4 Does the Institution offer self-financed programmes? If ‘yes’, list them and indicate how they differ from other programmes, with reference to admission, curriculum, fee structure, teacher qualification, salary etc.

- The College offers Advertising, Sales Promotion and Sales Management, and Office Management and Secretarial Practice as self-financed courses to the students of B.A. (Prog.) in accordance with the admission criteria specified by the University. These subjects are offered as part of the B.A. (Prog.), for which faculty is invited from outside. External faculty and/ or experts are paid as per the norms prescribed by the University for guest faculty, ie. Rs.1,000/- per lecture. Therefore, students who opt for Advertising and Sales Promotion have to pay Rs.10,000/- extra per annum. The syllabus for these courses is prescribed by the University.

- The College offered a self-financed course in English Language Proficiency that was offered to students of all disciplines in collaboration with the Institute of Life Long Learning (ILLL), University of Delhi, from 2009-2012 to enhance students’ speaking, reading, writing and comprehension skills in English. Unlike the regular language courses prescribed by the University, this course did not focus on textbook teaching; the stress was on practicing the language in everyday situations. The curriculum was made by the experts from Central Institute of Education and the faculty members of various University of Delhi colleges, who had expertise in teaching English as a second language. It was initially a 100 hour course, which was later condensed to 80 hours. Students paid Rs. 4,000/- for this course. The faculty who taught this course had to attend an orientation course and were paid Rs. 1,000/- per lecture.

- The College ran a self-financed course in Hindi Journalism from 2004 till 2012, which was open to students across colleges of the University of Delhi. This was one of the add-on courses offered by the College, with a 100 hour duration and a fee of Rs.1,500/-. The course aimed at educating students in the basics of Journalism and provided knowledge of print and electronic media. Students were trained in not just the theoretical aspects of Journalism, but also in various other aspects such as layout designing and proof reading, by eminent faculty from the world of print and electronic media. The course was based on class room attendance, project work and viva-voce.

- Spanish Language certificate course in collaboration with the Cleveland Institute of Technology was offered from 2010 to 2012. Knowledge of an additional language is an asset in today’s global job market, so the objective of this course was to improve the employability of our students. Students were taught by faculty from JNU and paid Rs. 10,000/- for this certificate course. The syllabus was similar to the basic level course taught at the University of Delhi. The advantage of this course was that the students received training without leaving the college campus before their regular classes started at 9.00 AM.

- Peace and Conflict Studies: The Gandhian Alternative: This three month certificate course aims at familiarising students with the contemporary relevance of Gandhi in a world fraught with conflict and violence. A course fee of Rs. 1,500/- is charged for this course. This course is open to students across disciplines. Eminent activists and scholars like the Director of National Gandhi Museum and Library, Teen Murti Library, Centre for the Study of Developing Societies and the Institute for Defence Studies and Analyses are invited to deliver lectures to the students.

All undergraduate students can choose subjects from a variety of courses offered by each department, regardless of their major area of interest. These Skill Enhancing Courses are a part of the prescribed curriculum. Some of these courses as offered by the college are as follows:

1.2.6 Does the University provide for the flexibility of combining the conventional and face-to-face and Distance Mode of Education for students to choose the courses/combinations of their choice? If ‘yes’, how does the institution take advantage of such provision for the benefit of students?
No such flexibility is provided by the University of Delhi at present. However, the college hosts Non-Collegiate Women’s Education Board (NCWEB) classes on Sundays and holidays to give working women a chance to earn a degree.

1.3 Curriculum Enrichment

1.3.1 Describe the efforts made by the Institution to supplement the University’s Curriculum to ensure that the academic programmes and the Institution’s goals and objectives are integrated?

The college has

- An active NSS Cell, Women’s Development Cell and Environment Club that provide sensitisation training to the students in various realms such as gender issues, environmental factors and human rights.

- Many Societies/Associations of the college promote talent in acting, debating, singing and dancing. They are, Anubhuti: the Drama Society, Euphonie: the Western Music Society, Debating Society and the Choreography Society, Nritya, all of which help students to develop their creative potential. We also teach Music as a formal discipline. Please refer to 2.3.4 for a detailed list of all the societies

- The departmental associations hold numerous events through the year which students organise and participate in under the mentorship of their teachers.

- An annual College magazine called JANKI has a student editorial team and articles, especially on burning issues, are written by the students of the college.

- The college NSS cell brings out a magazine, DISHA, that gives the students a chance to explore and write about contemporary social issues.

- JDMC is the only college in the University of Delhi that has an Annual Inter-College Creative Writing Competition, with a Rolling Trophy called the Atul Krishna-Binodini Debi Creative Writing Competition.

- Events such as the Mock UN are conducted by students of the Debating Society of the College, in which students across colleges participate.

- The College promotes the use of Theatre not only to familiarise the students with the works of playwrights like Shakespeare, but also for personality development. In the past five years, Bardolators, the college Shakespeare Society, has successfully staged the musical version of A Midsummer Night’s Dream and adaptations of Taming of the Shrew and Coriolanus, in which students from every discipline acted and were part of production, set design etc. A Midsummer Night’s Dream was staged for public too.

- Cultural events throughout the academic year, including the Annual Inter-College festival, Symphony, are handled primarily by the Students’ Union and the Cultural Council which helps students to develop organisational skills.

- An active Sports department and NCC wing provide rigorous training under the guidance of experts to make students physically active and strong.

- The College has an extremely active Environment Club, Avani, which has successfully undertaken many projects, such as growing more trees, trash recycling, solar lighting etc.

- The Photography club Lumiere focuses on issue based photography. There are critical analyses and lively discussions, sometimes with the help of an expert, to aid the interaction.
All of the above supplement the University’s curriculum and ensure that the Academic programmes and the Institution’s goals and objectives are integrated.

1.3.2 What are the efforts made by the Institution to enrich and organise the curriculum to enhance the experiences of the students so as to cope with the needs of the dynamic employment market?

The College, through its Career Opportunity Cell, organises many talks, seminars and workshops in which well-known professionals from different sectors educate the students about professional opportunities and demands.

The College also organises field visits and educational tours that give students a hands on experience of the professional world. (Please refer to 5.1.9 for details)

1.3.3 Enumerate the efforts made by the Institution to integrate the cross cutting issues such as Gender, Climate Change, Environmental Education, Human Rights, ICT etc into the curriculum.

As elucidated in 1.3.1, the College has a number of active societies such as the Equal Opportunity Cell (EOC), Women’s Development Cell (WDC), the Environment Club Avani, NSS, Gandhi Study Circle, the English Dramatics Society; Rhetorique, the English Debating Society and Anubhuti, the street play society that organise talks, workshops, events like Munadi street plays, film screenings etc. that integrate these cross cutting issues such as gender, climate change, environmental education, and Human rights.

To highlight the significance of issues related to the environment, Environment Studies is also taught formally as a subject to all students in the first year under CBCS. For details please see 1.3.4 and the Self-Evaluation Reports of the Departments and the “Innovation and Best Practices” Report

1.3.4 What are the various value added courses/enrichment programmes offered to ensure holistic development of students?

- moral and ethical values
- employable and life skills
- better career options
- community orientation

The ethical attitude of students is influenced as much by the exposure to larger socio-cultural norms of the society as by pedagogical instruction that sharpens their understanding of their own values and stances, and helps them develop a moral perspective. Teaching of ethics has a positive impact on students, as it helps them to resolve moral and ethical issues that they face as they prepare to enter diverse fields of employment. It involves sensitizing students not only to the moral values and duties of the profession they join, but also to the existing values and expectations of the society at large. For instance, it promotes gender sensitivity that helps them question behaviour and attitudes based on gender discrimination. It leads their attention towards what is morally right or wrong while dealing with environmental concerns; the rights of children; rights of the marginalized populations, of people existing in the fringes of society, rights of animals and so on. Most importantly, moral philosophy also presents guidelines for resolving conflicts, apart from facilitating a holistic development. The college aims to fulfil these objectives in the following ways:

- JDMC understands the need to provide education that is supplemented with value based learning. Chetna society exemplifies this endeavor. This society organizes motivational talks and workshops where intellectuals from all spheres of life interact with students, thereby giving them an opportunity to engage in insightful and thought-provoking dialogues with experts, teachers and peers. They are exposed to a vast array of themes ranging from Yoga and Pranayam to the techniques of time and energy management. Swami Vivekananda said, “You have to grow from the inside out;” Chetna aims at enabling every student to live by the same principles.

- Students are sensitised to issues such as child labour, discrimination against women, gender stereotyping, trafficking of women through workshops and talks organised by the Women’s Development Cell (WDC) as well as in class as a part of their curriculum for courses like Family and Child Welfare, Mass Communications, Legal Literacy, and Women’s Studies.

- Avani, the Environment Club, addresses the issues of Environmental pollution, Global warming, conservation of resources etc. through talks, seminars and campaigns. Basic civic sense including learning about traffic rules has been taught to students through talks by experts from NGOs.

- The NSS wing of JDMC organizes several events from time to time to address specific issues. Students visit an Old Age Home for destitute women- the Arya Mahila Ashram regularly. NSS students carry out programmes under the Swachch Bharat initiative including campaigns to clean up the park area outside college, the garden, prayer hall and kitchen area of the old age home the students visit, besides regular cleaning up of college premises. NSS also organises blood donation camps, raises awareness about HIV/ AIDS through seminars. Workshops are also conducted to address problems related to physically and mentally challenged people.

- Philosophy Department offers courses like “Critical Thinking and Decision Making” as well as “Ethical Decision Making” to impart knowledge about the implications of choices, identifying options and evaluating them, and making moral judgments about right and wrong to undergraduate students of Philosophy both at the Honours and the Programme level.

- Under FYUP, “Integrating Mind Body and Heart” was a compulsory course taught to all first year students about Gandhian value system and its relevance in the contemporary world.

- Department of Human Development and Family Empowerment also teaches a Skill Enhancing Course in Life Skill Education to students of B.A. (Prog), II ndYear.

- To enhance the employability of our students further, the college conducted a 15 day Entrepreneurship Development Programme for students that included one day classroom training and 14 day E-learning Module. This programme was conducted by the National Institute for Entrepreneurship and Small Business Development (NIESBUD) in September, 2016. Please refer to Departmental Evaluative reports and Research and Consultancy report and Innovation and Best Practices report for more details.

1.3.5 Citing a few examples, enumerate on the extent of use of the feedback from stakeholders in enriching the curriculum.

It was based on the feedback from the students that events such as the MOCK UN were introduced. Students also expressed a need to learn and perform English Theatre and Western Music, which led to the formation of Societies like Bardolators and Euphonic, that are now known for their excellent performances. When required, the college gets professional help to train students in these performing arts as suggested by students themselves.

Over the years, the Students' Union has acted as an effective communicator of students' expectations by actively seeking their opinions and conveying it to the college. They have learnt to take initiative, communicating not just with college authorities, staff and students but also with professionals; they have proved to be effective managers and exhibited dedication and commitment and a keen sense of responsibility.

1.3.6 How does the Institution monitor and evaluate the quality of its enrichment programmes?

The college faculty seeks students’ views about the enrichment programmes informally. Students also have the option of discussing this in the course of the Student-faculty meetings that are held on monthly basis.

In addition to this, we also have a feedback form that asks for students’ response to various issues and we plan to add specific questions about their opinions regarding quality of the enrichment programmes in our feedback form.

1.4 Feedback System

1.4.2 Is there a formal mechanism to obtain feedback from students and stakeholders on curriculum? If yes, how is it communicated to the University and made use of internally for curriculum enrichment and introducing changes/new programmes?

The college has designed an online feedback form in April 2016, as a formal mechanism to obtain feedback from the students. We plan to add questions seeking their response to curriculum to this feedback form.

Apart from this, the Faculty-Students Committee is constituted at the department level with two student representatives from each year, the teacher-in-charge as well as two or more faculty members from the department. These committees hold monthly meetings to facilitate continuous inputs by way of Students’ feedback in order to thrash out the problems that the students may be facing.

Once information has been collected from students and faculty regarding new curricula, each department conveys its suggestions to the parent department at the University. The courses are reviewed periodically and inputs sought from the college faculty.

The college has a Complaint/Suggestion Box where students are free to voice their complaints on any issue related to their studies and college. This is effective, as anonymity is maintained and this gives students the space and freedom to speak out fearlessly.

1.4.3 How many new programmes/courses were introduced by the Institution during the last few years? What was the rationale for introducing new courses/programmes?

Since Janki Devi Memorial College is a constituent college of the University of Delhi, the College follows the programmes and courses prescribed by the University.

- In 2004, the University introduced B.A. (Prog.) which aimed at developing skills through Application courses such as Mass Communications, Translation, Creative Writing and Tourism.

- In 2012, the University adopted the Semester system which saw changes in syllabi/course structure, evaluation pattern and the time frame in which they had to be taught.

- In 2013, the University introduced the Four Year Undergraduate Programme (FYUP) to bring the University of Delhi at par with International Universities that follow this practice and give our students a fair chance to study in these Universities at the post-graduation level. Janki Devi Memorial College adapted these changes by introducing innovative pedagogies, introducing new technologies into the classrooms and practising inter-disciplinarity.

- The University introduced Choice Based Credit System (CBCS) in 2015-16. CBCS provides flexibility in selection of courses, advanced learning opportunities, intra- and inter-institutional transferability and overall, a quality education to students. The inbuilt flexibility of this system also allows students to exercise options in their selection of skills and learn them at their own pace.

- Inter-disciplinarity is the hallmark of CBCS, and project work, outreach activities, field programmes etc. are the essential requirements. Special emphasis is hence being laid by each department on learning through team work, independent learning through project work, interactive teaching and learning, with a view to provide innovative spaces for creative formulation and articulation by the students. Seminars and workshops on inter-disciplinary themes are encouraged and successfully organised to facilitate wider participation, attendance, interaction and discussion.
CRITERION II

TEACHING, LEARNING AND EVALUATION
2.1.1 How does the college ensure publicity and transparency in the admission process?

The admission process in JDMC is highly transparent and strictly based on the guidelines provided by the University of Delhi. Some of the measures undertaken with regard to publicity and transparency are as follows:

Publicity:

- The College publishes a Prospectus, which highlights the profile, achievements and the vision of the college. Its also covers the rules and regulations regarding the admission process.
- All relevant information like admission procedure, courses available, infrastructural facilities, fees and scholarships, extra-and co-curricular activities etc. are notified in the bulletin for the benefit of students.
- College profile is updated on the JDMC website with a link to the University homepage.
- Media coverage is also a source of publicity for the college.
- The College runs a help desk to provide counseling to the students.

Transparency:

- Transparency is ensured by strictly adhering to rules and regulations laid down by the University of Delhi.
- The College constitutes an admission committee in the Staff Council, which meets at the end of every academic session to determine cut-offs, with duly recorded minutes of the meeting.
- The College also has Admission Grievance Cell and a cell for special categories’ counseling, as per DU directives. Members of the Equal Opportunity cell i.e. EOC are present during the admission process to provide necessary assistance to the differently-abled candidates. The details of the Grievance Committee members, with their contact numbers, are displayed on the College website and the notice board.
- Till last year, for admission under the extra-curricular activities category, an Extra-Curricular Activities (ECA) Committee was formed by the Staff Council for selection under different categories, such as dance, western music, drama, debate, etc. The Sports Committee appointed by the Staff Council used to formulate guidelines, organize trials and monitor the admission process for candidates seeking admission under sports quota. Fair trials were ensured by the presence of external experts in the respective areas of fine arts and sports. From this year, however, the process of admission to these two categories has been centralised by the University.
• Transparency is also ensured by updating the data of admitted students on the college website. The same is compiled and sent to the University of Delhi on the same day.

• The College also updates the information regarding availability of vacant seats in each category on college website and on the college notice board regularly.

• Payment of fees, cancellation of admission and other information like change in any admission rule or policy is also made available on the College website and notice board.

• The admission process in all categories is monitored closely by the administration and scrutinized by the University on a regular basis.

• Admission Assistance Teams and Monitoring Committees set up by the University visit the College throughout the admission process to assist students and monitor the admission procedure.

2.1.2 Explain in detail the criteria adopted and process of admission (Ex.(i) merit (ii) common admission test conducted by state agencies and national agencies (iii) combination of merit and entrance test or merit, entrance test and interview (iv) any other) to various programmes of the Institution.

For admissions, we strictly follow the norms laid down by Delhi University.

• General category admissions are done on merit basis.

• For admission under ECA and Sports quota, DU norms are strictly adhered to.

• Admissions under all reserved categories take place as per DU norms.

• Candidates in post-graduate courses are admitted by the respective departments of the University.

2.1.3 Give the minimum and maximum percentage of marks for admission at entry level for each of the programmes offered by the college and provide a comparison with other colleges of the affiliating university within the city/district.

The minimum and maximum percentage of marks of different programmes for the last four years i.e. 2012-2013, 2013-2014, 2014-2015, 2015-2016 and the comparative analysis of the same with some of the women’s colleges of west Delhi affiliated to Delhi University, are given below.

Up to 2012-13, SC, ST and PWD admissions were done by the University. Admissions of post-graduate students are still done at university level.

The following tables clearly show that JDMC is one of the most preferred colleges for women in west Delhi, as the cut-off percentage of JDMC in most courses is higher in comparison to the contiguous women’s colleges affiliated to Delhi University;

2.1.4  Is there a mechanism in the institution to review the admission process and student profiles annually? If yes, what is the outcome of such an effort and how has it contributed to the improvement of the process?

- The College has an Admission Committee and an Admission Grievance Committee to scrutinize the admission process. The Admission Committee has faculty members from all departments who not only decide the cut-off percentage for each course, but also regularly review the admission policy based on the past data. The Admission Grievance Committee looks into grievances related to admissions and tries to resolve them.

- Additionally, the Academic Committee and the Principal of the college review the admission process after each list and make suggestions for changes that can be implemented in future. If required, admission policies are also discussed in the Staff Council and the suggestions are incorporated.

- Multiple pre-admission counseling sessions are organized for candidates seeking admission every year. The Equal Opportunity Cell of JDMC also helps the differently-abled students in getting admission. Counseling for ST, SC and OBC students is also done by the college, as per DU norms, to provide hassle free admission.

- Student profiles have not generally been monitored. The college provides a bias-free admission process that is solely based on merit. All students, irrespective of their ethnicity, religion and domicile, are granted admission if they fulfill the eligibility criteria. The college believes that such a policy helps in maintaining transparency in the entire admission process.

2.1.5  Reflecting on the strategies adopted to increase/improve access for following categories of students, enumerate on how admission policy of the institution and its student profiles demonstrate/reflect the National commitment to diversity and inclusion.

- SC / ST
- OBC
- Women
- Differently-abled

JDMMC was founded with the specific purpose of empowering women through education. Furthermore, to ensure that women are empowered, the College has a Women’s Development Cell, which trains young women to be good citizens by educating them about laws and creating social awareness among women.

- SC, ST, OBC, the differently-abled, wards of defense personnel, war widows, Kashmiri Migrants and Foreign National students are given admission strictly in accordance with the reservation policy of the Central Government adopted by the University of Delhi. An admission Help Desk is set up during and before the admission process to cater to the needs of reserved category and outstation candidates. Please refer to 5.1.2 and 5.1.4 for details.

- We try to provide a single window approach to admission for the differently-abled, so that their enrolment is stress-free and convenient. These students are exempted from payment of fees as prescribed by the University’s rules. Our college has a dedicated forum called the Equal Opportunity Cell to provide support to them.

- There is a provision for fee concession, free books and free rations for bright outstation students, who require financial support. Some members of the faculty also try to subsidize the fee of such students by using their own funds.

- To avoid any discrimination, mental or physical harassment, the college has constituted an Anti-Ragging committee to ensure a conducive environment for every student.

- North-East students’ society works to provide students from these states a welcoming environment in college.

The data showing the diversity of our students (course-wise) is given below:

2.1.6 Provide the following details for various programmes offered by the institution during the last four years and comment on the trends i.e. reasons for increase/decrease and actions initiated for improvement.

Since Delhi University offers centralized admission facility to students, the college doesn't have data for the total number of applications received for various courses offered in this college. Demand ratio of different courses thus cannot be provided here. However, the following data provides the representation of the number of students selected and the number of students who took admission.

2.2 Catering to Student Diversity

2.2.1 How does the institution cater to the needs of differently-abled students and ensure adherence to government policies in this regard?

- In accordance with the policy of the Government, the College has reserved 3% seats for the differently-abled candidates. These students are exempted from payment of fees as per the prescribed University rules.

- Ramps and separate washrooms have been constructed to help the orthopedically-challenged students. Ramps provide access to the classrooms, washrooms, library, tutorial rooms and the administrative block. Wheel chairs are also available in the college. A lift that connects all floors has been installed for the differently-abled students.

- Screen reading software, books in Braille, computers and audio CDs of resource material are available in the Library for the visually-challenged students. Our NSS cell also records reading material for them and they are regularly taken to the University Braille Library for research etc. A software that makes reading and printing easier was installed on the laptops of the students and they were given training to use this software by ‘Saksham.’ Assistance is provided to the visually-challenged students in the form of scribes during examination and extra time for writing the exam.

- These students are supported by waiving the college fees, special prizes and competitions. The differently-abled students are also encouraged to participate in inter-college festivals and sports meets held in different colleges to showcase their talent.

- In order to cater to the needs of differently-abled students, we have a special caregiver, who assists these students to access the facilities provided by the college.

- The EOC works in collaboration with the “Scope Foundation” and the EOC, University of Delhi, to provide opportunities and information to the differently-abled students. The EOC of the college organises self-defence and sensitisation workshops, fun activities including picnics and trips to inculcate confidence and competitive spirit among students with physical disabilities. The students were taken for ‘Raahgiri’ at Connaught Place that was organized specially for persons with disabilities. They participated in cycling, running, playing drums and singing. A month long self-defense workshop was organized and students were trained by Mr. Mohd. Kaish, a black belt in Judo. Smart Canes developed by IIT Delhi were provided to the students. These canes warn the user of impending dangers by sending a signal. The students were given training on how to use these canes by ‘Saksham.’ Please refer to ‘Student Support and Progression’ and ‘Innovation and Best Practices’ reports for more details on the support provided to the differently-abled students.

2.2.2 Does the institution assess the students’ needs in terms of Knowledge and skills before the commencement of the programme? If yes, give details on the process.

Yes, the College has effective mechanism to assess the students’ skills and knowledge from the time of their admission to the commencement of the programme:

- To counsel the candidates seeking admission about various career options, the college has a help desk before and during the admission process. Pre-admission counselling sessions are organized by the University and the college.

- During the admission process, there is the formal collection of data in some areas which helps the College to stream the students along the lines of language competencies. On the basis of this information, if need be, arrangements are made for bilingual classes, separate tutorials for Hindi medium students, remedial classes, communication classes for overseas students. Students are also offered a choice of English and Hindi language according to their level of exposure to the language during schooling. Otherwise, we offer another subject in lieu of MIL.

- Before centralised admissions, Sports and ECA Trials were done to know the capability and the caliber of the students. The admission under sports quota were finalized by the college on the recommendation of the sports committee which assessed the performance of the students under various criterion like sports certificates, fitness test etc. as per the university guidelines. ECA Trials were also done strictly as per the University guidelines. Similarly ECA Committee constituted as per University guidelines, admitted students under the ECA Category on the basis of trial/test of respective extracurricular activity.

- The academic session starts with a General Orientation Programme for the new students to introduce them to the college, its background, culture and infrastructural facilities. The Principal addresses the gathering and encourages the students to participate in various aspects of college life. Staff Advisors introduce the first year students to the convenors of NSS, NCC, Sports and various societies and clubs of the college that provide students a platform to identify their competencies in fields other than academics. At the time of admission, students are counselled to opt for a particular society or cultural group based on their interest, skill and talent.

- In addition, each department organizes a get-together to make new students interact with the senior students and faculty and also identify their talents by organising a freshers’ talent hunt.

2.2.3 What are the strategies adopted by the institution to bridge the Knowledge gap of the enrolled students (Bridge/Remedial/Add-on/Enrichment Courses, etc.) to enable them to cope with the programme of their choice?
To bridge the knowledge gap of the enrolled students and enable them to cope with the programme of their choice, the College takes the following measures:

- Remedial classes are organized by various departments for slow learners to bring clarity in their concepts.
- Tutorial classes are incorporated in students’ time table. Tutorials for small groups are held to solve their problems. Faculty members deal with students on individual basis to guide and help them achieve their full potential.
- Institute of lifelong learning (ILLL), University of Delhi, provides online Lectures, question banks and Lessons to help them understand the topic.
- Many add-on and enrichment courses are conducted from time to time to enhance the students’ skills. For example, English Language Proficiency Course was offered in collaboration with ILLL, Delhi University, to improve their language proficiency (2009 – 12). A Spanish Language Certificate Course was also offered by the college. An add-on course titled, ‘Peace and Conflict Studies: The Gandhian Alternative,’ familiarizes students with the theoretical and practical dimensions of Gandhism in the arena of world politics. A Journalism course was offered to train the students in mass communication (2004-2012). JDMC also offered short term courses in computer literacy (Web Designing, Animation and Multimedia) in collaboration with the Cleveland Institute of Technology. (Also refer to 1.2.5 and 1.3.4 for details)
- In addition to this, Janki Devi Vocational Centre offers Diploma and Certificate courses in computer application, modern secretarial practice, fashion design, textile design, art and craft, tourism, media and communication, library science, French and German language, music and dance, commercial art, personality development, personal grooming, and home science. JDVC has also collaborated with Shehnaz Hussain for its beauty culture course.
- Workshops, seminars and special lectures are regularly organised by each department and experts from different fields are invited to help students go beyond the prescribed curriculum.

2.2.4 How does the college sensitize its staff and students on issues such as gender, inclusion, environment etc.?

The college sensitizes its staff and students on issues such as gender, inclusion, environment etc. through various clubs and societies which organise lectures, workshops and seminars on such issues.

- AVANI-The Environmental Club of the college has been actively involved in green activities. It has hosted many events like ‘Create from Waste’ and Clay Workshop in the College. It also set up an Eco-diversity stall at Antardhwani (the DU festival), which focussed on the issue of re-cycling and creating objects from waste and a project on the use of solar power for street lights in the campus.
- Our concern for the environment was officially recognised when we received the Chief Minister’s Best Rain Water Harvester Award in 2006, as the first college in Delhi University to start Rain Water Harvesting.
- JDMC is a Tobacco - Free Zone; in keeping with Delhi University’s decision to turn all its educational institutions into smoke-free zones. Members of the administrative staff... have been persuaded to refrain from smoking on campus and several agreed to a meditation course to help them give up smoking.

- An innovative Project titled “Creative Solution to Water Logging through Rain water harvesting in South Delhi” was awarded to the College under the Convenorship of Dr. Usha Krishna, Associate Professor, Commerce department.

- A solar energy project has already been initiated in the college campus on the premises is underway in the form of solar street lights and solar panels.

- The college has a dedicated Women’s Development Cell that strives to create awareness about women’s issues and assisting Goonj (NGO) through Project Warmth; lectures by eminent personalities like Ms. Mrinal Pande (journalist, author and Chairperson of Prasar Bharti); and a self-defence training camp with the support of Delhi Police.

- NSS is working on gender sensitisation, environmental awareness, problems related to sex-determination, substance abuse, road safety, along with contributing to the welfare of the marginalised sections of society. NSS volunteers participate in activities like contributing to Arya Mahila Ashram (Old Age Home for Women) and Palna (Orphanage); helping the differently-abled participate in the Annual Salwan Marathon Run.

- NSS also organises workshops and seminars on its aforementioned thrust areas like collaboration with Samvedna, to create awareness among students regarding problems faced by persons with disabilities.

- “Gandhi Study Circle “ is committed to the spread and realisation of Gandhian values. It is a social service outreach through the ‘Right to Food’ programme for the under-privileged students, and for promoting Gandhian values by organizing events around Mahatma Gandhi’s life and philosophy viz. events on Gandhi Jayanti, the Martyr’s Day, promoting khadi and handloom, film shows and visits to Gandhian sites; the “Ek Mutthi Anaj Program” in association with the ‘Food for the Hungry Foundation,’ where students and faculty contribute food material for the deprived sections of society. Through such programmes, the college community is sensitized about issues of social disparities, gender and inclusion. In 2015-16, JDMC organized an International Conference on Peace and Conflict Resolution.

- Chetna Society is committed to make people aware of the ways to reduce stress by living a peaceful and harmonious life. Chetna, aims at promoting values in our student-teacher fraternity. A lecture was organised on “Time, Energy and Attention Management.” This society also organized “Meditation and Yoga” by Shri Sohan Lal Jain, which was attended by both faculty and students.

- Anubhuti, the Street Play Society of the College, engages with contemporary society by performing plays on sensitive topics like violence against women.

- Nritya, the Western Dance society, has also created social awareness by organising flash mobs on issues like women’s empowerment.

- The North-East Students’ society of JDMC was established in the year 2013. The society was formed to introduce the new entrants hailing from North-Eastern States of the country to the college by their seniors, as well as to give them a platform to showcase their culture and tradition through performances in college functions.
Various departments of the College organize seminars and workshops on such issues. For example, Philosophy Department invited Dr. Vibha Chaturvedi, retired Professor, University of Delhi, to speak on “Gender Equality: Some Issues”. Dr Rebecca Marshall Klenk, (Lecturer, Interdisciplinary Programs in Asian Studies, Global Studies, and Women’s Studies, College of Arts and Sciences, University of Tennessee, Knoxville, TN, USA, Fulbright-Nehru Visiting Lecturer at the University of Delhi) also delivered a lecture on “Promoting Gender Equality through Gandhian Naî Tâlîm: Lakshmi Ashram, Kumaon.”

- Gender–sensitization workshops have also been conducted by Sociology department.
- Faculty from Philosophy, History, and Commerce Department participated in “Adopt a Heritage” movement that involved cleaning of heritage monuments.

2.2.5 How does the institution identify and respond to special educational/learning needs of advanced learners?

- Advanced learners are identified through academic performance, willingness to interact in class, performance in class etc. Regular tutorials and continuous interaction between students and teachers help in identifying advanced learners. Students are given an opportunity for micro teaching in the class as well as making individual presentations.
- Academically bright students are provided with scholarships and prizes on the Annual Day of the College. (refer to 5.1.2 for details)
- Many seminars and workshops are conducted on regular basis to enhance the students’ knowledge. CV writing sessions are conducted and personality development programmes initiated to encourage the students.
- Students are encouraged by faculty to research, read and publish their articles in journals and magazines. We have a very good Library which has one lakh books, in addition to journals and magazines to guide students with advanced study and research.
- Students get a chance to showcase their creative and editorial skills in the annual issues of the trilingual college magazine, Janki. Some specialised student magazines are also brought out. For instance, Economics department has its “Ecogene;” and the NSS has Disha. B.A Programme, Mass Communication, English medium students also bring out a newspaper on the college cultural festival.
- Students are encouraged to practice creative writing. JDMC offers a unique opportunity to university and college students across the city in the form of Atul Krishna-Binodini Devi Creative Writing Competition, that is held each year and gives the students a chance to display their talents in multiple genres and win cash awards.
- Students with potential for advanced learning are identified, selected and provided with appropriate opportunities by departments. For example, advanced learners are sent for internship to different companies. During previous academic sessions, 68 JDM students were placed for internships by Internshala (University Relationship Programme) in various companies i.e., Educomp Solutions, Fever 104 etc. Advanced learners of Commerce department were sent for two months summer internship for corporate training by Aon Hewitt. Please refer to ‘Innovation and Best Practices’ report for details.
2.2.6 How does the institute collect, analyse and use the data and information on the academic performance (through the programme duration) of the students at risk of dropout (students from the disadvantaged sections of society, physically challenged, slow learners, economically weaker sections etc. Who may discontinue their studies if some sort of support is not provided)?

Faculty and Administrative staff are extremely cautious regarding dropouts. For this

- They keep a track of students’ attendance and performance. The faculty monitors the performance of students in class on a regular basis. If a student is absent for a few days, then efforts are made to find out the reason, whether academic or personal, and immediate counseling is provided. Students are encouraged to discuss their issues with faculty members. To facilitate this, every teacher has two contact periods per week wherein students can meet him/her.

- Tutorials are held for small groups to solve students’ problems. Faculty members deal with the students on one - to - one basis in tutorials to guide them and help them achieve their full potential.

- Remedial classes are organized by various departments for slow learners.

- ILLL Lectures, question banks and lessons are available online to help them understand the topic.

- We have a well-developed support system for differently-abled candidates, like full time caregiver, separate toilets, wheel chair and books in braille. The EOC of the College supports and encourages the differently-abled students by organizing various activities for them throughout the year.

- Students from economically weak background are provided free books, college fee waivers, scholarships to outstanding students, while some faculty members have been subsidising their fee for years.

- There is a Corpus fund in college to provide free meals to needy students. The Sports Department provides the entire year’s rations to outstanding outstation students.

- The College has also appointed a Counselor to guide the students about psycho-social issues.

- The College has constituted an Apex Grievance Cell and department level grievance committees to deal with all type of grievances of the students. The Apex Grievance Cell comprises the Chairperson, General body member, three senior faculty members and one student representative. The departmental grievance cell consists of four faculty members: the present TiC, the previous TiC, the incoming TiC and the senior-most faculty member and representatives of every class. It is a two tier mechanism, whereby the students’ concerns are first discussed at the departmental level grievance committee. If unresolved at the departmental level, it goes to the Apex Grievance Committee.

- The College also has a Suggestion and Complaint Box wherein the students can write about their problems.

2.3 Teaching-Learning Process

2.3.1 How does the college plan and organize the teaching, learning and evaluation schedules? (Academic calendar, teaching plan, evaluation blueprint etc.)
The Academic Calendar constituting the teaching and examination/evaluation schedule is finalized by the University of Delhi for its constituent colleges. JDMC adheres to the academic calendar of the University of Delhi and ensures that the teaching, learning and evaluation schedule is planned and finished on time.

Before the termination of the ongoing academic session (semester), the teacher-in-charge of each department convenes a meeting with all the departmental colleagues and prepares a blue print for the coming semester with regard to the papers to be taught, teaching methodologies for special papers, course allocation, teaching schedule and evaluation plan.

At the end of each semester, the Time Table Committee prepares the master time table according to the papers to be taught in the next academic session (semester) by each department after the teaching load has been verified by the Workload Committee. Once it is finalized, the departmental time tables are prepared. Tutorial classes of all subjects are incorporated in students’ time table. The Committee prepares the time-tables for each department in advance so that teaching begins on the very first day of the session. The time table, with the teachers’ names and courses taught clearly marked, is displayed on the college website and notice boards.

Every teacher draws her teaching plan broadly taking into consideration the ability of the students. These plans are reviewed and modified from time to time. Topics of syllabus covered and internal assessment is duly filled in the attendance register for which special pages are incorporated in the register. Remedial and/or extra classes are fixed as required. The principal regularly visits the classrooms and laboratories to encourage teachers and students.

Students’ assimilation and analytical skills are assessed. Group discussions are held in the tutorial classes. Project presentation is also encouraged, wherein students present their project in front of their classmates and teacher. The Monitoring Committee regulates the schedule of internal assessment process (conduct of project presentations, submission of internal assessment, monthly and semester - end attendance etc.) and the deadlines for course completion.

Semester-end evaluation schedule is prepared and notified by the University. The teachers check their individual papers according to the schedule prescribed by the University. It is mandatory for faculty members to participate in it. Evaluation of the practical examination, as per the guidelines of the University, is done by both the external and internal examiners. Under the CBCS scheme introduced in 2015-16, the UGC has laid emphasis on the comprehensive and continuous evaluation of the students and credits are awarded.

2.3.2 How does IQAC contribute to improve the teaching–learning process?

- The college generally monitors the performance of students through committees like Monitoring Committee and Academic Committee.
- Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC) had its first meeting on 7th April, 2015, where procedures and policy framework regarding internal quality maintenance and assessment were discussed at length.
- Matters related to internal quality were discussed at the Staff Council meetings to ensure that the best is delivered to our students even before the IQAC came in existence. Various committees in the college (like Academic Excellence, Workload, Attendance, Timetable, Grievances etc.) have been constituted to maintain standards, evaluate teaching-learning processes and to optimise resources to ensure the highest standards of excellence.

- IQAC plans to focus on upgrading the educational ecosystem and improve the teaching-learning process further. The IQAC intends to play a proactive role in enhancing the quality of the academic and co-curricular endeavours of the College in line with its vision. It aims to work towards strengthening the good practices of the College, encourage innovative practices and modify practices that need to be improved. It plans to play a constructive role by making recommendations and suggesting measures for internal quality enhancement on matters pertaining to teaching, infrastructure, feedback mechanism etc.

- IQAC shall coordinate efforts of all segments comprising the educational ecosystem to improve the teaching-learning process. This includes aspects like physical and IT infrastructure, provision of the best management and service delivery practices to create an environment that drives the most effective teaching methods and allows students to participate in and absorb the delivery.

- IQAC would focus on faculty development, research and exposure to best practices in pedagogy. It would enable the College to create effective education management information systems and transparent management practices.

- The education management system would generate feedback for evaluation of academic practices and suggest steps to improve them to create a system for continuous improvement in delivery and assimilation of lectures. Refer to 6.5.1 for details.

2.3.3. How is learning made more student-centric? Give details on the support structures and systems available for teachers to develop skills like interactive learning, collaborative learning and independent learning among the students?

At JDMC, students have always been the centre of academic, extra- and co-curricular activities. All possible efforts are made to ensure their fullest growth and development in a safe and congenial environment. Right from the time a student enters the portals of the college, she is guided, counselled, inspired, motivated and corrected as required.

Various extra-and co-curricular activities, talent hunt programmes, awards and incentives, special classes, tutorials and good infrastructure help to groom the students into responsible human beings. Most faculty members believe in a dialogic approach to teaching to ensure that every student participates in class discussions. Besides this, collaborative learning and power point presentations for which students work together in small groups is encouraged. Independent learning is ensured in tutorial groups, where students are made to write assignments or solve problems, which is a key feature of student-centric learning.

The College offers support structure, services and systems to develop skills like interactive learning, collaborative learning and independent learning among the students.

- We have three computer labs with nearly 150 computers with internet connectivity for the use of students and faculty. Free Wi-Fi services are provided to all students and staff. Each student of first year under FYUP was provided with a free laptop to facilitate learning through ICT and preparation of innovative projects. Laptops are made available to faculty to access the e-resources. The College encourages the use of internet and computers by the staff and students to help them keep abreast of the latest developments in their respective field of study.

- ILLL-lectures, question bank and chapters are prepared for independent learning of students. E-resources are available for access through the Delhi University Library System (DULS) for independent learning.

- The College provides a well-stocked library which boasts of latest books and journals which the faculty uses to provide comprehensive and latest information to the students. Students are also encouraged to use the library independently to enhance their knowledge.

- The College has a Seminar Hall, a Committee Room and 25 IT enabled classrooms which enable students to participate in group discussions, debates, quizzes, project presentations and seminars. Teachers impart the curriculum through innovative teaching methods such as use of the ICT, LCD, assignments, interactive teaching sessions, discussions, workshops, seminars, industrial visits, and computer education, apart from traditional teaching methods.

- To promote critical thinking and independent learning among students, some departments also adopt practices such as screening of films, conducting workshops and interaction with experts. These techniques encourage discussions beyond the classroom.

- The College facilitates refresher courses and orientation programs for the faculty, which updates their knowledge of the latest methodologies in pedagogy and disciplinary advances.

- As a part of the curriculum, project reports are often prepared by the students. They use projectors and PPTs to explain and present these reports. Classroom presentations by students have become an important component of the teaching-learning process. Group presentations are collaborative endeavours, where students learn to work in a team and also learn to complement each other’s strengths and weaknesses. It facilitates learning from peers. Field studies in subjects like Environment Studies, History, Family and Child Welfare and Mathematics help students gain practical knowledge of their subjects. Students are sent for internship to various companies. As mentioned earlier, in the last academic session, 68 JDM students were placed for internships by Internshala (University Relationship Programme) in various companies i.e., Educomp Solutions, Fever 104 etc.

- Extra- and co-curricular activities like NSS, NCC and sports also contribute in the all-round growth of students. We have a large sports ground for students. Students’ Union of the college provides the students a platform to showcase their organisational skills, teamwork, leadership qualities and other competencies. From time to time, creative writing, debate competitions are held to give the students an opportunity to develop their independent learning skills. In addition, students are urged to contribute articles, poems, stories etc. to the College magazine “Janki” and the departmental magazines. The editorial boards of these magazines comprise students and teachers.

- The innovation projects awarded to the College by the University foster collaborative learning, wherein the students from different departments come under one umbrella and share their individual knowledge and skills with each other. Talks, seminars and conferences that cut across departments are also organised to promote collaborative learning.
Along with this, our College and departments are continuously engaged in creating the best platforms that provide opportunities to our students for their all-round development and growth.

2.3.4 How does the institution nurture critical thinking, creativity and scientific temper among the students to transform them into life-long learners and innovators?

In addition to the conventional methods of pedagogy consisting of lectures, using the blackboard and dialogue with students, our College has consistently encouraged the use of new technologies like computers, laptops etc. and various clubs and societies are formed to develop an innovative approach amongst students.

Our College inculcates critical thinking by encouraging the habit of scepticism, which leads to constant questioning. It nurtures critical thinking by encouraging students to read and expand the domain of their knowledge.

Scientific temper is developed by facilitating empirical methods of data collection and testing of hypothesis rather than a passive acceptance of received knowledge. Much of this depends on pedagogical strategies and the teachers’ own intellectual engagement with these issues.

Creativity and critical thinking is nurtured through the following:-

- Our college worked on an innovation project called ‘Creative Solutions to Rain Water Harvesting’ under the guidance of Dr. Usha Krishna. Various projects were prepared by students under the FYUP, which were also showcased in the Delhi University festival- Antardhwani. The College, in collaboration with Netherlands Embassy and Ecorys (the knowledge partner), organised the Women Entrepreneurship Support Training (WEST) in 2013-14 to upgrade the students’ skills and help them adopt newer methods of entrepreneurship.

- To develop a scientific temper among students, the College organises field trips for Environmental Studies. Field trips are also organised for subjects like History, Commerce, Sociology and Economics to help the students gain practical knowledge of their subjects.

- Besides this, to foster scientific temper, our teachers impart the curriculum through innovative teaching methods. We have computer labs with nearly 150 computers with internet connectivity for the use of students and faculty. Each student of first year under FYUP was provided with a free laptop to facilitate learning through ICT and preparing innovative projects. Free Wi-Fi services are provided to all students and staff. As a part of the curriculum, project reports are prepared for every subject by the students. E-learning tools are regularly used by the faculty to improve learning outcomes and at the same time helping students keep pace with the changes taking place in the field of technology.

- A wide spectrum of extracurricular activities are made available to the students, to hone their talents in diverse fields, such as music, dance, dramatics, public speaking, photography, creative writing and art. For example - students are encouraged to participate in plays to enhance their appreciation of literary texts of eminent dramatists like Shakespeare. In addition to this, they are also taken to venues like the NSD to enjoy live theatre. Various clubs and societies of the college nurture critical thinking, and creativity among the students. Some of these are:
  - Anubhooti - the drama society,
A separate one hour time slot is kept aside in the time table for these societies and other extra & co-curricular activities.

- Sports Day, Library Fest and various inter-college competitions under “Symphony” are organised every year. The college also organises awareness programmes on environment, health, water conservation, spirituality, yoga, self-defence, and disaster management from time to time. Students also help organise functions for various clubs, societies, departments and annual events like SYMPHONY and the Lib Fest. Students are also encouraged to attend and organise seminars, conferences and workshops, to undertake projects funded by various funding agencies. To encourage creative and artistic temper among students, we motivate them to participate in inter- and intra-college extra-curricular activities. The long list of prizes won by our students in inter-college festivals and other State and National level competitions bears a testimony to the success of our endeavours.

- The college has been bringing out a college magazine, JANKI, for the past four decades, which provides students with an avenue to exercise their creative and editorial skills. JDMC is also the only college in Delhi University to host a creative writing competition, known as Atul Krishna-Binodini Devi Creative Writing Competition for the past ten years, in which hundreds of students participate.

- Counseling sessions are held for the students to guide them about their future course of action. Faculty members deal with students on one to one basis to guide and help them achieve their full potential.

- The institution believes in contribution to the community. This is ensured through:
  - NSS: The National Service Scheme works on gender sensitisation, environmental awareness, substance abuse, road safety, along with contributing to the upliftment of the weaker sections of the society. Students are encouraged to participate actively in the College NSS unit to inculcate a sense of civic responsibility and community orientation. They participate in activities throughout the year by visiting Arya Mahila Ashram (Old Age Home for Women), Palna (Orphanage); the Annual Salwan Marathon Run, besides organising many workshops and seminars on its aforementioned thrust areas.
• NCC: NCC inculcates discipline and punctuality in students. Under the guidance of the National Cadet Corps, cadets have participated in All India Training Camps for trekking, shooting and adventure sports.

• WDC: The Cell strives to create awareness about women’s issues and contribute to their development through various programmes like assisting Goonj (NGO) through Project Warmth; lectures; and self-defence training camp with the support of Delhi Police.

• Equal Opportunity Cell: It is proactively engaged in helping students with disabilities by providing useful information and amenities; encouraging them to participate in various events that are organised both at the inter-departmental & inter-college level. The cell has actively worked with SCOPE FOUNDATION and organised programmes to sensitise the public about problems faced by the differently-abled people.

• Gandhi Study Circle It is committed to spreading Gandhian values. It started the “Ek Mutthi Anaaj Program” in association with the ‘Food for Hungry Foundation,’ where students and the staff contribute food material for the economically deprived sections of the society.

• Chetna Society is committed to help the students, faculty and staff to understand the true purpose of life. It enables the participants to understand how to live in harmony with the environment.

2.3.5 What are the technologies and facilities available and used by the faculty for effective teaching? Eg: Virtual laboratories, e-learning-resources from National Programme on Technology Enhanced Learning (NPTEL) and National Mission on Education through Information and Communication Technology (NME-ICT), open educational resources, mobile education, etc.

For effective e-learning and teaching the following tools and techniques are used:-

• Our college is equipped with computer laboratories, projectors and LCD screens to facilitate learning through ICT among students.

• On-line lectures, chapters and question bank developed by ILLL are also available to the students. E-resources are available through Delhi University Library System (DULS) for teachers and students. These e-lessons of ILLL, DU, are accessible from the College, in addition to online portals like JSTOR, Emerald, Springer etc. to enhance their research capabilities.

• The College organised two ICT workshops in 2009-10 for teachers, to enable the participants to become well versed in using ICT in their work domain and one for the administrative staff on 15th June 2016. Refer to 1.1.3, 4.3 & 7.2.1 for more details.

2.3.6 How are the students and faculty exposed to advanced level of Knowledge and skills (blended learning, expert lectures, seminars, workshops etc.)?

JDMC employs latest teaching and learning methods which are interactive and student-friendly.

• The College also organises lectures, seminars and workshops (at international/national/state level) to foster a spirit of academic excellence and to engage students in a dialogue on contemporary issues. Eminent personalities from various fields are invited to address students. Some of the famous names that have been invited to our
Each department has an Association which is responsible for organising department talks and seminars. In addition, the college organises interdisciplinary lectures and seminars. Refer to Q. 25 and 32 of evaluative report of different departments for details.

The College promotes faculty enrichment programs by funding their visits for refresher courses, orientation courses, paper presentations and invited talks. This helps in equipping teachers with latest trends in the field of education as well as enabling them to acquire skills to strengthen the teaching process. Faculty is also encouraged to research and present their research papers in both national and international conferences. We have a very good Library, which has huge collections of books, journals and magazines to support advanced study and research.

Apart from adopting traditional class room chalk and board method, effort is made to incorporate electronic learning methods such as PPT presentations, audi-video based lectures etc. ICT workshops organised by ILLL in the college helped to impart computer knowledge to the faculty.

In JDMC, we try to give real life examples to help students relate the curriculum to real life. Innovation projects encourage blended learning among students and teachers. Students are sent for in-house training and internship in different companies. During the previous academic session, 68 students were placed for internships by Internshala (University Relationship Programme) in various companies i.e., Educomp Solutions, Fever 104 etc.

Field trips for subjects like Environment Studies, History, Family and Child Welfare (FCW), Sociology and Mathematics are organised to help students gain practical knowledge of their subject.

All the departments formally and informally provide professional and personal counselling to the students. Academic support and guidance is regularly provided by the faculty of the departments to which the student belongs. The tutorial system allows close interaction between faculty and students in groups of small size. This gives students an additional opportunity to clarify doubts beyond the classroom lectures.

Remedial classes are organised for students who need extra academic support.

Teachers are often approached by students for guidance and advice. All possible help is extended not only on academic issues, but also on any other issue related to the students’ well being. The faculty has two contact periods per week to interact with them and address their academic and other concerns.

Some programmes like B.Com (H.) require students to prepare a project under a teacher mentor as part of the curricular requirements.

The College has a Grievance Cell which addresses all problems of the students by holding meetings from time to time. Services of the college counsellor are also available to the students facing problems of adjustment and difficulty in coping with the pressures of academic life.

• The Anti-Ragging Committee functions to prevent any unethical behaviour among the students from the commencement of the academic session.

• WDC, in association with the Crimes against Women cell, organizes Self-Defence camps for girls.

• Our College contributes to the “Food for Hungry” programme to sensitize students about social issues. Avani has been constantly engaging students on issues pertaining to the environment. Chetna society strives to make the lives of its members more meaningful and less stressful. We network with NGOs like Jagori, AAG and Rahi on a regular basis. Students and teachers take active interest in organizing health camps with a panel of Ganga Ram Hospital doctors and blood donation camps, HIV awareness workshops with inputs from army doctors, legal awareness workshops and debates on women’s issues.

• We actively inculcate a spirit of leadership and partnership between students and the faculty. Student Union elections are held at the beginning of each academic year. Students are also given a chance to be associated with extra-curricular and co-curricular activities of the College through the Extended Union.

• Leadership qualities are developed in the students by allowing them to organise activities, workshops, seminars at the departmental level. Students are encouraged to participate actively in the college NSS unit to develop a sense of civic responsibility and community orientation. The Discipline Committee endeavours to inculcate discipline, while NCC and sports activities help in maintaining discipline and punctuality in students.

• Besides providing job opportunities, the Placement Cell also trains students for interviews, group discussions and at times, conducts workshops to help the students. Many students have benefitted as a result of academic, professional, personal, psycho-social guidance, though the exact number can’t be quoted.

2.3.8 Provide details of innovative teaching approaches/methods adopted by the faculty during the last four years? What are the efforts made by the institution to encourage the faculty to adopt new and innovative approaches and the impact of such innovative practices on student learning?

The innovative teaching approaches/methods adopted by the faculty during the last four years consist of the following parameters:-

• The College organised an ICT workshop in 2009-10 for teachers to encourage the use of ICT in their work domain.

• Our College is equipped with three computer laboratories with projectors and LCD screens to facilitate learning through ICT. Overhead projectors are made available in a large number of class rooms and many teachers use them for delivering lectures.

• Apart from adopting traditional class room chalk and board method, effort is made to incorporate electronic learning methods such as PPT presentations, audio-video lectures etc.
We have computer labs with nearly 150 computers with internet connectivity for the use of students and faculty. As a part of the curriculum, project reports are prepared by the students using PPT. E-Learning tools are regularly used by the faculty to improve learning outcomes and helping students keep pace with the changes taking place in their subjects.

On-line lectures, chapters and question bank developed by ILLL are also available to the students on various topics and subjects. The College library has e-resources and e-study materials made available through Delhi University library system (DULS) for teachers and students.

Some departments also adopt pedagogical practices like screening films, role playing, workshops and interaction with experts. These techniques encourage discussions on issues beyond the classroom.

The College encourages teachers to undertake refresher courses and orientation programs to keep abreast of latest methodologies in pedagogical practices and disciplinary advances.

Field studies in subjects like Environmental Studies, History, HDFE and Mathematics help students gain practical knowledge of their subjects. Commerce students are now sent for in-house training in different companies.

2.3.9 How are library resources used to augment the teaching-Learning process?

- The College library is well-equipped and well stocked; with one lakh books and 82 national and international journals catering to different courses offered by the college. We have two sections – general collection, which has open access and issuable collection; and the reference collection, which consists of non-issuable texts.

- The library organizes an orientation programme for freshers every year. During the programme, the new students are introduced to the library rules, reading material and the library staff. The library staff is always available to assist readers find the required material.

- Ours is a fully computerized library using Libsys Software (an integrated Library management system). The database of books and journals available is updated on day-to-day basis and several terminals are provided for students and teachers to search for documents available online. Internet access is provided free of cost to all the members of library to search the material required for their course/project.

- In order to provide equal access to visually-challenged users, the library has installed onscreen reading software (SAFA) and audio recorders and blank audio cassettes that are issued to visually-challenged users. Also Braille books are arranged for them, whenever required. Computer training is also provided to our visually-challenged students and teachers. JDMC Library also has a Women’s Studies Resource Centre.

- The College organises Library Fest every year in which various competitions are held and prizes are distributed for the maximum use of library.

2.3.10 Does the institution face any challenges in completing the Curriculum within the planned time frame and calendar? If yes, Elaborate on the challenges encountered and the institutional Approaches to overcome these.
Normally, the curriculum is completed within the planned framework of the university. To minimise the loss of study hours

- The college organises remedial classes for weaker students.
- If needed, extra classes in addition to the scheduled lectures are taken by the faculty.
- Experts are called to share their knowledge and make the students understand such topics with ease.
- If a teacher is on leave, guest/temporary/ad-hoc faculty is hired to make up for the loss of classes for the students.

In the last four years, DU has witnessed a number of changes in its academic pattern. These include a switch from the annual teaching mode to the semester mode in 2011-12 and another switch from a three year undergraduate programme to four year undergraduate programme, which was implemented during the year 2013-14. The FYUP was rolled back in 2014-15. In the Academic year 2015-16, the University introduced CBCS. These changes also necessitated changes in the teaching methodology to cope with the varying system and posed many challenges for both faculty as well as students.

The four year undergraduate programme (FYUP) gave teachers very little time for preparation. The College organised several orientation programmes and faculty meetings to discuss the methodology of teaching the foundation course papers and the evaluation methodology to be followed for them.

Semester mode, in which all the new systems of higher education (FYUP and CBCS) function, operates on a tighter schedule. So the students and faculty have to strike a balance between academic and extra-curricular activities, which is possible only through precise and advanced planning and extra efforts.

2.3.11 How does the institute monitor and evaluates the quality of teaching learning?

- Firstly, to ensure that faculty members are fully qualified to teach, the College recruits them strictly in accordance with the norms of UGC.
- Then, to make sure that the teachers do their best to fulfil their professional responsibilities, we encourage them by giving perks that are granted by the UGC like study leave, duty leave to attend conferences and increments for M.Phil and Ph.D., promptly.
- Seminars, conferences, workshops and programmes are conducted regularly for the faculty members to enrich their knowledge and skills from time to time. The college promotes faculty enrichment programs by funding their visits for refresher courses, orientation courses, paper presentations and invited talks. This helps in equipping teachers with latest trends in the field of education and enables them to acquire skills to strengthen the teaching process. Faculty is also encouraged to do research and present their research papers in both national and international conferences.
- Monitoring Committee and Academic Committee of the College contribute to improve the teaching –learning process.
- Although the College has recently introduced a formal evaluation system through a feedback form, oral feedback is taken by the Principal and the teachers-in-charge of the respective departments regularly.
A Suggestion/Complaint Box is kept in the College, in which students can give their feedback on all issues pertaining to their education. The Principal also takes anonymous feedback from the students and makes regular visits to classrooms and laboratories to monitor the regularity of classroom teaching.

Teachers-in-charge conduct regular meetings with their departments and review the performance of students. Slow learners are given additional time by teachers to meet their needs.

The results of students are discussed in the Staff Council and appropriate suggestions for improvement of teaching-learning are adopted.

The College has a formal feedback mechanism. The feedback form highlights our strengths but also points out the areas where we need to improve as an institution. In the even semester of 2015-16, the college got its feedback form filled by the third year students of all the departments. In the near future, we intend to extend the feedback mechanism to students of all the semesters of all the departments. Also refer to 1.4.2 for details.

Prior to the launch of this formal feedback, most of the faculty members used to informally take feedback from the students. Also refer to 2.3.2 above.

2.5 Evaluation Process and Reforms

2.5.1 How does the institution ensure that the stakeholders of the institution especially students and faculty are aware of the evaluation processes?

The University of Delhi, (of which Janki Devi Memorial College is a constituent college) has in place a Centralized Evaluation System, and the University keeps all its constituent colleges regularly informed of the changes introduced in the process. The University adopts a transparent mechanism for communicating with the stakeholders through its constituent institutions. Colleges also use various strategies to connect with various stakeholders.

- The College prospectus, the College and University websites provide students and faculty with details of teaching, internal evaluation, time tables, evaluation and examinations.
- All rules, regulations and other necessary information, especially the nuances of the evaluation process are shared with the new entrants in the Orientation Program of the College and in all departments by the Principal/Teachers-in-Charge, respectively.
At the beginning of the academic year, a calendar containing all details regarding the evaluation process, like internal assessment and attendance; curricula and syllabi for the end of semester exam of all the programmes; schedule of evaluation and other general rules of evaluation are displayed by the university on its website.

The University also communicates the dates of supplementary examinations and dates of central evaluation of end-of-semester examinations to the faculty members.

The necessary details of the evaluation process are on the website and the notice boards of the College; announced in the assembly and class rooms.

All letters, circulars, ordinances about examination and decisions regarding evaluation are brought to the notice of the faculty, which are further communicated to the students, if required.

The internal assessment marks are made known to the students individually and their consent is obtained through signatures. The marks are sent to the University only after each student has been given an opportunity to check her records.

The University of Delhi has introduced various reforms in the evaluation process which every College has to adopt. Some of them are:

- The University has adopted semester system in place of annual examination. As a constituent college of the University of Delhi, JDMC has already adopted the two reforms which were introduced by the University, namely (a) Internal Assessment (b) Centralised Evaluation.

- The College follows the University guidelines strictly. It also allows students to improve their performance through multiple class tests and assignment. Students who do not perform well in a particular subject are offered counselling and remedial classes.

- Students are encouraged to make presentations on topics from their syllabi to help them hone their presentation skills, which also boosts their confidence.

- Necessary guidelines pertaining to internal assessment are shared with the faculty members at the very outset of the academic session; this ensures an effective implementation of internal assessment.

- All examiners are appointed by the Controller of Examinations, as per the DU norms. The question papers are drafted by a board of experts, rather than an individual faculty member.

- All the examiners follow the guidelines given by the University and the respective head examiners to ensure uniformity in evaluation.

- The answer scripts are evaluated by external examiners, which in turn, are cross-checked by the head examiner at random.

- Unique paper code and date of birth of the student have been introduced in the answer sheets.

- From the academic session 2015-16, University of Delhi has adopted the CBCS as directed by the UGC. Prior to CBCS, the performance of the students was mainly reported using the conventional system of marks secured in the examinations or grades or both. Grading system, introduced for the first time in University of Delhi for its undergraduate courses, is considered to be better than the conventional marks system.

Some of the key terms associated with the evaluation process of CBCS are explained below-

a) Credit Point: It is the product of grade point and number of credits for a course.

b) Credit: A unit by which the course work is measured. It determines the number of hours of instructions required per week. One credit is equivalent to one hour of teaching (lecture or tutorial) or two hours of practical work/field work per week.

c) Cumulative Grade Point Average (CGPA): It is a measure of overall cumulative performance of a student over all semesters. The CGPA is the ratio of total credit points secured by a student in various courses in all semesters and the sum of the total credits of all courses in all the semesters. It is expressed up to two decimal places.

d) Grade Point: It is a numerical weight allotted to each letter grade on a 10-point scale.

e) Letter Grade: It is an index of the performance of students in a said course. Grades are denoted by letters O, A+, A, B+, B, C, P and F.

f) Programme: An educational programme leading to award of a Degree, diploma or certificate.

g) Semester Grade Point Average (SGPA): It is a measure of performance of work done in a semester. It is ratio of total credit points secured by a student in various courses registered in a semester and the total course credits taken during that semester. It shall be expressed up to two decimal places.

h) Semester: Each semester will consist of 15-18 weeks of academic work equivalent to 90 actual teaching days. The odd semester may be scheduled from July to December and even semester from January to June.

i) Transcript or Grade Card or Certificate: Based on the grades earned, a grade certificate shall be issued to all the registered students after every semester. The grade certificate will display the course details (code, title, number of credits, grade secured) along with SGPA of that semester and CGPA earned till that semester.

The UGC has recommended a 10-point grading system with the following letter grades as given below:

A student obtaining Grade F shall be considered failed and will be required to reappear in the examination. For non-credit courses 'Satisfactory' or "Unsatisfactory" shall be indicated instead of the letter grade and this will not be counted for the computation of SGPA/CGPA.

2.5.3 How does the institution ensure effective implementation of the evaluation reforms of the university and those initiated by the institution on its own?

- The evaluation reforms of the University are followed by the College.
- For the effective and smooth implementation of the evaluation reforms, the College has a Monitoring Committee, Moderation Committee, Attendance Committee and Examination Committee.
- As the University has made centralized evaluation mandatory, the College ensures that all faculty members evaluate, as per university schedule.
- The teachers cross-check the marks awarded and recorded by the administrative staff for accuracy.
- Students are shown their answer sheets and the internal assessment marks. Any clarification needed is addressed. These are sent to the University after students' verification.
- All records are maintained i.e. award lists, attendance records, project reports etc. by the faculty and the office.
- Besides the usual informal/formal feedback of students to the Principal/ faculty members, there is a Grievance Redressal Cell in place in our College. Besides this, the College approaches the University for help in the effective implementation of the evaluation process.
- If need be, faculty interacts with the Principal to deliberate upon matters related to the evaluation process and internal assessment.
- The College as a part of Delhi University is mandatorily obliged to adopt all evaluation directives issued by the University. The College ensures that all such directives are implemented without any delay.

2.5.4 Provide details on the formative and summative assessment approaches adapted to measure student achievement. Cite a few examples which have positively impacted the system.

The College encourages holistic development of students in scholastic as well as co-scholastic areas.

Scholastic: As formative assessment includes learning through presentations, discussions, writing tutorials, quizzes, problem solving and project making, JDMC has always encouraged its students to involve themselves actively in this process of learning. So, these modes have been an integral part of the institute's evaluation process.

For summative assessment, the college has been conducting in-house or mid-term examinations for decades. We have found that preparation for in-house examinations helps students to get ready for the end-of-term evaluation in a more effective fashion; because the students not only get a chance to prepare for exams in advance, but writing the exams gives them a better sense of time management and helps them assess their level of preparedness. Students find it a very effective means of gauging their exam preparedness, which has contributed in excellent performance of JDMC students over the years.

The following formative and summative evaluation approaches are adopted at scholastic front to measure student achievements:

- The formative assessment involves learning through problem solving, case studies, group discussions, seminars and project making.
- For summative assessment, college conducts class and mid-term tests on regular basis.
- To enhance their scholastic performance, repeated assignment, test and presentations are taken as and when required, specially for the under-performers.
- Tutorials and personal counseling is a very important feature of the institute for enhancing the students' competency.

Co-Scholastic

- Formative evaluation approaches include sports trials, NCC exams etc. Students who are selected through sports trials are thereafter given rigorous training to help them improve their skills and compete at various levels.
- For summative evaluation, students are trained to appear in competitions at district, state, national and international level.
- Similar formative and summative assessment applies to extra-curricular activities like Music, Dance and Debates etc. Formative evaluation approaches include organising talent hunt competitions. Selected students are trained further.
- For summative evaluation, selected students appear in competitions at district, state, national and international level.

As a result, there has been a remarkable improvement in the overall performance of the students as reflected from our results and their active participation in various activities.

- Scholastic Highlights: Many students did exceptionally well in academics and got University positions. For example:

The College recognises and felicitates the outstanding students in various fora like the Annual Day, departmental events and at events held by societies and clubs. Refer to details of achievements in section 5.3.2 of the ‘Student Support and Progression’ report.

2.5.5 Detail on the significant improvements made in ensuring rigor and transparency in the internal assessment during the last four years and weightages assigned for the overall development of students (weightage for behavioural aspects, independent learning, communication skills etc.)

The College maintains maximum levels of transparency with regards to internal assessment of the students:

- Monthly attendance of students is uploaded on the college website for easy access. Marks for attendance as per the University rules (up to 5%) are allocated to students.
- Mid-semester/other internal exams are conducted every semester and the answer scripts are shown to the students to help them analyse their performance.
- Internal assessments marks are also conveyed to the students.
- To maintain appropriate standards of transparency for internal assessment of students, a copy of projects submitted by students and softcopies of the presentation slides prepared by them are retained by the college for a stipulated period of time.
- No discipline today exists independently. The interdependency of various disciplines is understood and the teaching methodology is devised accordingly. Group projects, presentations, group discussions, class activities are conducted to assess students on various parameters. The marks obtained by them are also made known to the students. When the students under-perform, they are asked to either take retests or submit additional home assignments or presentations to improve their performance, before the internal assessment process is concluded for each semester.
- Students work on projects which may at times even extend beyond the confines of the syllabi, like critical review of literature, analysing a research paper, film/text analysis, etc. that gives them confidence to speak in front of others as well as develop their presentation skills.
- Teachers ensure that the students are made aware of the internal assessment evaluation criteria. The assessment and the evaluation record is made available to each student. No separate weightage is assigned for behavioural aspects for assessment as per University guidelines.
- The College is in the process of adopting a completely web-enabled (online) internal assessment system along with online attendance management system.

2.5.6 What is the graduate attributes specified by the college/affiliating university? How does the college ensure the attainment of these by the students?

JDMC, a premier women's college of the University of Delhi, focuses on providing best quality education to its students, irrespective of their ethnicity, caste, class and regional affiliations. We believe that good education enables women to become financially independent, and also better individuals and responsible citizens. In short, the college promotes the intellectual, social, professional and moral development of every student in keeping with the Gandhian ideals of our Founder. Refer to Section 2.3.4.
The College endeavours to promote enduring knowledge which is global in its perspective and local in its relevance. Students are challenged & inspired to pursue excellence in Liberal and Performing Arts, Humanities, Commerce and Sports, in an environment which is vibrant & constantly evolving. Founded with a vision to empower women, JDMC continues to strive to help its students to develop a capacity to think, lead and change the world.

- Emphasis is laid on building the ability of students to learn and sustain learning ability throughout their life. We strive not only towards excellence in academics, but also in all other spheres of life. We strongly believe that education is a life-long journey.
- Leadership, team work and awareness are built by encouraging Students’ Union which organises activities, workshops, seminars, under the guidance of the Faculty Advisors.
- Importance is given to soft skills and personality development of the students. We hope to transform our students into women of substance and responsible global citizens.
- To empower our students to fulfil their future roles, the College regularly organises programmes like the WEST programme that trains women as entrepreneurs and ELPC, to improve their English speaking and writing skills.
- To instil team spirit, students are given group projects. Students are encouraged to take up projects that involve research and field visits. The findings of the project work undertaken are explained in class through presentations.
- Teachers do not act merely as facilitators, but take up the role of mentors and are always available to guide students. They are available to students to discuss not just issues pertaining to classroom, but those related to their future professions and studying abroad. This helps students appreciate the relevance of what is being taught to them and any disharmony between desired outcomes and the student's perception about syllabi is resolved.
- The skills that JDMC as an institute inculcates and promotes in its students are: human values, ethics, critical thinking, team spirit, resourcefulness, responsibility, leadership, adaptability and confidence.

2.5.7 What are the mechanisms for redressal of grievances with reference to evaluation both at the college and University level?

A Grievance Redressal Committee operates at the college level and looks into any complaints about errors in evaluation and takes necessary steps to rectify them. The answer scripts of internal class tests/assignments are returned to the students after evaluation and the students are encouraged to immediately convey their grievances pertaining to the evaluation to this committee.

- At the level of the University, each answer script is evaluated by an external examiner to ensure that no bias seeps into the evaluation process.
- A few copies are corrected randomly by the Head Examiner of each subject to ensure uniformity and fairness.
- Students can ask for a photocopy of evaluated answer scripts in case they are dissatisfied with the marks scored by them.
- Students are free to apply for revaluation by paying the prescribed fee.
- On dispute pertaining to internal assessment, the College has adopted a three-fold mechanism.
• Tier 1- This operates at the level of the concerned teacher. Students are free to approach the concerned faculty to discuss their problem related to internal assessment.

• Tier 2- This operates at Departmental Level. In case the matter is not resolved at the first level, the concerned department may take up the issue and resolve the same.

• Tier 3- This operates at the level of the college. The College has a Monitoring Committee to look into any grievance of students pertaining to evaluation, if not resolved at Level 1 & 2.

Grievance redressal at University Level:

The grievance redressal related to evaluation and assessment at the University level is managed by the Examination Branch of the University. The Examination Branch prepares necessary guidelines for addressing grievances related to internal assessment, practical exam result and the end-semester exam result. These guidelines are shared with the constituent colleges of the University. In all cases of grievances, the College first checks and verifies the claim made by the student, and the application is then forwarded to the University for rectification. The University allows the students to approach the Dean Students' Welfare directly for redressal of their grievances.

There is also a provision to access student answer scripts through the RTI process.

2.6. Student performance and Learning Outcomes

2.6.1 Does the college have clearly stated learning outcomes? If yes give details on how the students and staff are made aware of these?

JDMC endeavours to promote holistic and enduring knowledge which is global in its perspective and local in its relevance. Students are challenged & inspired to pursue excellence in Liberal and Performing Arts, Humanities, Commerce and Sports, in an environment which is vibrant & constantly evolving. Founded with a vision to empower women, JDMC strives to help its students to develop a capacity to think, lead and change the world.

• The College has clearly stated learning outcomes in the vision and mission statement of the College enshrined in the college prospectus and the website.

• The stated learning outcomes are also communicated to its new students at the orientation.

• At University level, every syllabus has a well-defined learning outcome. This is made available to students through University and college websites.

• Our faculty members also make the same known to the students before the actual teaching process begins each semester. This is done to ensure that the students are aware of what is expected of them.

• Deliberating upon the expected learning outcomes helps align the teaching process adopted by faculty members and the learning process of students.

• Students are made to understand not just what is taught to them, but why it is being taught to them in the light of recent national and international developments in areas related to their discipline.
• However, in general the learning outcomes include the ability to recall, analyse, assimilate and apply the knowledge gained.

• By grooming our students into intelligent, culturally conscious, socially responsible, globally competent and ethical human being, the College translates learning outcomes into reality.

2.6.2 Enumerate on how the institution monitors and communicates the progress and performance of students through the duration of the course/programme? Provide an analysis of the students’ results/achievements (Programme/course-wise for last four years) and explain the differences if any and patterns of achievement across the programmes/courses offered.

• The performance of students and their progress is periodically evaluated by giving them assignments and by holding class tests.

• Marks obtained by students in assignments and class tests are communicated to them and the answer scripts are made available to them to know their mistakes. The area in which student needs to improve is highlighted.

• Tutorial meetings are held regularly, as that helps the teachers to assess the knowledge of an individual student and identify her strengths and weaknesses.

• The internal assessment marks are shared with the students. Discrepancy, if any, is resolved in the manner prescribed. Signatures of students are obtained on the result sheet that shows the marks of internal assessment.

• Each department conducts an analysis of its result. The Examination, Moderation and Monitoring Committee of the College, along with the help of the administrative staff, regulate and collect the data on students’ performance, which is later analysed to draw relevant conclusions.

• The conclusions drawn are then used to find ways of improving students’ performance in future by introducing remedial measures.

• The data also gives insight about specific disciplines & subjects that have either high performing students or display a greater degree of under-performance by students. Meetings are held to know the causes of under-performance of students and remedial measures are taken.

• Data analysis has revealed that JDMC has been able to improve the student performance, which is shown in the following tables:

The result analysis across various programs over the last four years shows an overall improvement in the performance of the students. This is evident from the data on pass percentage and the number of first divisions across the programs. The trends can be seen over the last four years as well as by analysis of the two batches covered in the last four years, i.e., 2011-14 and 2012-15.

2.6.3 How are the teaching, learning and assessment strategies of the institution structured to facilitate the achievement of the intended learning outcomes?

- Time-tables are prepared meticulously by the timetable committee to meet the intended learning outcome.
- Apart from adopting traditional chalk and board method, efforts are also made to incorporate more innovative learning methods such as PPT presentations, audio-video based lectures etc.
- Faculty members combine their lectures with presentations and make use of ICT, which is supported by availability of Wi-Fi connectivity for faculty and students.
- Faculty members and students are encouraged to use the ICT facilities, to make teaching and learning processes more enjoyable and easy.
- Tutorials are held regularly and help the teachers to assess and improve the students' academic performance.
- Remedial and extra classes are arranged for weaker students.
- They are also given project works on varied themes from the syllabus. Group projects instil a team spirit. Students learn to work with classmates with different temperaments and this makes them adapt and adjust. Such characteristics add to the overall development of students. For projects, students are encouraged to think out of the box and be as innovative and as they can be.
- Apart from classroom teaching, students are made to learn beyond the classroom by participating in college activities/societies that groom their personalities.
- Various departments of the college regularly organise seminars and talks. Such events help students understand their subject better. The speakers are from academic and industrial background. In this way, the college also helps students understand what the industry expects from them, which enhances their employability.
- Educational trips like visit to historical places, business and industrial units are organised in order to integrate classroom teaching with practical learning.
- Class attendance is submitted by the teachers to the College office every month and students are duly informed about the same. Marks are given for attendance to incentivise the students to attend classes regularly.
- Class tests are conducted; assignments are given at regular intervals during the semester. Students are informed about their performances and given a chance to improve the same by the way of re-tests, in case of poor performance.

2.6.4 What are the measures/initiatives taken up by the institution to enhance the social and economic relevance (student placements, entrepreneurship, innovation and research aptitude developed among students etc.) of the courses offered?
In order to upgrade and enhance the social and economic skills of the students, many initiatives have been taken at the college level.

- The College has a very active Placement Cell. Every year, many reputed companies visit our college and offer jobs to our students. The Placement Cell organises workshops, special lectures for the students.
- In November 2013, an MOU was signed between the Dutch Government and the College to setup a partnership for empowering college students by imparting entrepreneurial skills to them through the WEST programme.
- Students who display remarkable aptitude and are keen on learning are sent for internships with reputed organisations from time to time.
- As a part of their graduating process, students of Commerce department are required to either take up a field study or prepare a project on a topic relevant to the subject. Some students opt for corporate training. In the year 2013, we had students doing summer internship for two months with Aon Hewitt. In 2015-16, 9 students were selected for the internship in Tata Consultancy Services, 4 students for internship in Honest Data, 2 students for internship in Consumer India. Please refer to 'Innovation and Best Practices' report for details.
- Disabled-friendly environment of the college provides a positive learning environment for the differently-abled, to bring about social equivalence. Please refer to 'Innovation and Best Practices' report for details.
- Students were selected for the DU Innovative Project on 'Rain water Harvesting' under the guidance of Dr. Usha Krishna in 2015. Please refer to 'Research, Consultancy and Collaboration' report for details.
- The College had facilitated students' trip on the DU Gyanodaya Express-Educational Train Journey to central and western parts of India in 2012; to Punjab in 2013; to Kanpur, Varanasi, Bhopal, Ahmedabad & Surat in 2014; and to North-Eastern parts of India in 2015.
- All the departments formally and informally provide career, personal and psycho-social counselling to the students.
- Women's Development Cell sensitizes students to social issues such as gender bias, crime against women, women's empowerment, and support programs for the economically weaker sections. In May 2015, WDC had organized a collection camp for relief to Nepal Earthquake victims and contributed a large amount of material (such as dry ration, clothes, blankets, medicines) to the Nepal Embassy, New Delhi.
- The College organised a 14-week Certificate Programme on Self-development with the help of Shri Ram Chandra Mission in August 2015.
- The students are encouraged to participate in and organise events, seminars and workshops related to academic and socio-economic issues to inculcate attributes required for making informed career choices. Through this, they can contribute to the society through NGOs and other social organisations. For more details, refer section 5.1.4, 5.1.5. and 5.1.9.

2.6.5 How does the institution collect and analyse data on student performance and learning outcomes and use it for planning and overcoming barriers of learning?
The Examination, Moderation and Monitoring Committees of the College, with the help of the administrative staff, regulate and collect the data on students' performance. The College follows a two level system of data collection, which is later analysed to draw relevant conclusions.

The first operates at the level of each faculty member. By giving exhaustive assignments and conducting class tests, presentation, the students' understanding of the subject is evaluated.

Teachers collect data informally through class discussions and tutorial meetings.

In case the performance is not satisfactory, repeated assignments /tests/ presentations are given to the student and her performance is monitored again by the faculty. This is done to help students improve and upgrade their writing and analytical skills.

Thereafter, the Moderation and Monitoring Committees of the College assess the results of students in college and University examination. The University academic result is analysed in terms of the pass percentage; first, second and third position; the first, second and third divisions earned by JDMC students etc.

The conclusions drawn are then used to find ways of improving students' performance in future and remedial measures are introduced.

The data also gives insight about specific disciplines & subjects that have either a large number of students excelling in the subject or have a larger proportion of under-performing students.

Data analysis has revealed that JDMC has been able to improve the students' performance over the years.

2.6.6 How does the institution monitor and ensure the achievement of learning outcomes?

Learning outcomes comprise the understanding of concepts, ability to apply knowledge, inculcating moral values for overall development of the personalities of students. For this

- There is a Monitoring Committee to review the results and performance of students from each department.
- The rules prescribed by Delhi University are duly adhered to in terms of its academic norms, examination pattern etc.
- In addition to this, we have faculty members taking regular tests and giving comprehensive assignments and presentations.
- Tutorial meetings are held to assess and identify students' weaknesses and improve the same.
- To improve the thinking and speaking ability of students, group discussions are also conducted in classrooms.
- The parents of students with low attendance are also informed about their wards' absence from classes from time to time.
- Students' feedback is regularly taken to improve the quality of education. Apart from the informal feedback taken by each department, the College also has a formal feedback mechanism. The template of the feedback form was drafted by the faculty. The form focuses on teacher accessibility, student-teacher interaction and the classroom learning environment. This process does not just highlight the strengths of the institution but also points out the areas for improvement.

- The College also has a three-tier grievance redressal system. For this, a committee has been formed which looks into the redressal of students' grievances, to make the institution more effective in fulfilling its duties.

- Emphasis is laid on linking the text with recent developments at the national as well as global front, thereby relating the subject matter taught to the contemporary events.

- The faculty members of the college are given opportunities to participate in faculty development programmes, refresher courses for teachers, research programmes and projects etc. This helps faculty keep themselves apprised of recent developments in their area of specialisation.

- Regular departmental meetings and Staff Council meetings are held to review the students' performance. Faculty also gives feedback to improve the achievement of intended learning outcomes.

2.6.7 Does the institution and individual teachers use assessment/evaluation outcomes as an indicator for evaluating student performance, achievement of learning objectives and planning? If yes provide details on the process and cite a few examples.

- Yes, the assessment/evaluation outcome is an indicator for evaluating student performance. However, it is not regarded as the sole indicator.

- Though there is no specific methodology outlined for the parameter asked, faculty members conduct student performance evaluation through regular tests, assignments, presentations etc. to analyse the accomplishment of the learning objectives stated for each subject and remedial action is taken, if necessary.

- To improve their knowledge, the students are given questions that are analytical and require in-depth understanding. To avoid cramming up of answers, students are given assignments that require thinking. This ensures that a student has understood the subject as well. Only proper understanding will help students write answers to such questions.

- To assess how well the subject has been understood, students are asked to give presentations on the relevant theme.

- Moreover, if students underperform in tests and assignments, then re-tests are conducted and assignments are also given again. This is done to improve the quality of answers that students write.

- Apart from the above assessment and evaluation, students' 'beyond the classroom' knowledge is enhanced and students are encouraged to think out-of-the box. They are motivated to participate in college activities and societies to bring an overall development in their personalities.

- The academic ability of students is recognised by award of prizes for outstanding performance. For example:

- Ms. Shilpi, BA (H) Hindi IIIrd Year awarded Rs.1,100/- Mahima Casewa Award for Excellence in Academics (physically-challenged) 2015-16.

- Ms. Subha Wadhwa was awarded Rs.300/- Kamla Rani Prize for the best student of Eco (H) IIIrd Year, 2015-16.

- Ms. Ruby Jaiswal & Anjali Gupta, Pol. Sc(H) IIIrd Year were awarded Rs 2,000/- Mrs. Ruby Basu Prize for Academic Sincerity (merit-cum-means) in 2014-15.

The College as well as teachers encourage students to participate in co-curricular and sports activities. Students are nominated to University, State and National level events after a process of evaluation by the faculty. For example,

- Alka (2011-2014 batch) was selected for educational trip to Dubai by participating in the S. P. Jain Global School of Managements’s Student Ambassador Programme, Dubai, 2014.

Any other relevant information regarding Teaching-Learning and evaluation which the college would like to include.

The institution places great emphasis on providing quality education that incorporates theoretical knowledge with practical experience and instils values that make our students not just good scholars and professionals, but also responsible citizens.

To achieve this aim, the College focuses on enriching the knowledge of students by encouraging them to learn from books and also extra- and co-curricular activities. So, in addition to ensuring an intellectually invigorating classroom experience, we also organise field trips, heritage walks, industrial visits and educational tours that enhance the knowledge of the students.

Our students are actively involved in National Cadet Corps (NCC), National Service Scheme (NSS), Women's Development Cell (WDC) as well as dance, drama, debate, singing, photography and the environment club, which helps them become well-rounded personalities. To further these aims, the College has recently introduced a Creative Writing Society and Arts Club to provide more avenues of creative expression to the students.

3.6.7 Reflecting on objectives and expected outcomes of the extension activities organized by the institution, comment on how they complement students’ academic learning experience and specify the values and skills inculcated.

The objectives of extension activities are to inculcate leadership skills, encourage team work, discipline, compassion and a sense of social responsibility among students. Participation in extension activities provides an excellent avenue to help students to rise above caste/ class/ religion/language differences and accept humanity as their prime value.

Participation in extension activities also teaches students to be confident and aware of their rights and to deal with adverse situations in life. Such programmes encourage students to take care of and improve their mental and physical fitness.

Social responsibility is one of our strategic priorities. We believe that in addition to imparting knowledge and skills to our students, it is important to transform them into active agents of social change. In addition to values imparted within the classrooms, NSS, NCC, WDC and Avani play a pivotal role in creating awareness and motivating students to seek solutions to social problems.

3.7.6 Detail on the systemic efforts of the institution in planning, establishing and implementing the initiatives of the linkages/collaborations.

Any other relevant information regarding Research, Consultancy and Extension which the college would like to include.

We recognize and appreciate the importance of linkages and collaborations with industry/ experts/ other institutes as they play a vital role in facilitating, enhancing and supplementing the faculty’s research aspirations as well as students’ academic journey. Research work and its dissemination require fruitful linkages with external agencies. There are several linkages operating at various levels in the institution at the college-level, at the level of departments, societies and faculty, in individual capacity as well as in collaboration with each other.

We introduced courses like English Language Proficiency Course (ELPC) in collaboration with the Institute of Lifelong Learning (ILLL), University of Delhi, to improve the language skills of our students.

Similarly, Women’s Entrepreneurship Support Training programme (WEST), in collaboration with the Netherlands Embassy and ECORYS, was an attempt to upgrade the skills of our students, so that they could adopt innovative methods of entrepreneurship.

Our future plans are to actively encourage the faculty to engage in interdisciplinary research and to help fund their projects with the help of UGC, ICSSR, ICHR etc. A list of projects that have been submitted for approval to various funding agencies follows:

CRITERION IV

INFRASTRUCTURE AND LEARNING RESOURCES
4.1 Physical Facilities

4.1.1 What is the policy of the Institution for creation and enhancement of infrastructure that facilitate effective teaching and learning?

The policy of the college for creation and enhancement of infrastructure is guided by the vision of ensuring quality education at an affordable cost, and the college tries to channel all its resources to meet this goal. We believe that effective teaching and learning can be achieved only by evoking a desire to learn through interactive teaching processes and a supportive infrastructure.

In 2008, after the addition of OBC seats, the total strength of students went up by 54%. The infrastructural demands imposed by this doubling of student numbers were met with the help of funds received from MHRD as well as UGC under the 12th plan to enhance the college infrastructure.

Consequently, all decisions about infrastructure are made keeping in view the present and future requirements of students, faculty and staff. The college has recently renovated the auditorium as well as all the class rooms. A large number of classrooms have been converted into IT enabled rooms. A new set of classrooms have been constructed on the third floor. One of the computer labs is being renovated, while the medical room is under construction. In order to promote research work, which is an integral part of the teaching process, a new research room for faculty is also under construction.

To make a safe residential space available to our outstation students, a hostel is being constructed within the college premises.

4.1.2 Detail the facilities available for

(a) Curricular and co-curricular activities - classrooms, technology enabled learning spaces, seminar halls, tutorial spaces, laboratories, botanical garden, animal house, specialised facilities and equipment for teaching, learning and research etc.

JDMC is a Humanities and Commerce college; consequently, we do not need an animal house or a botanical garden. However, given our commitment to environment friendly practices, we have a flourishing urban forest just outside our gates. We take pride in our gardens, while the MCD maintains a herb garden immediately outside the college gate.

The infrastructural facilities available in the college are given in the table below:

4.1.3 How does the institution plan and ensure that the available infrastructure is in line with its academic growth and is optimally utilized? Give specific examples of the facilities developed/augmented and the amounts spent during the last four years (enclose the Master Plan of the institution/campus and indicate the existing physical infrastructure and the future planned expansions if any).

The college ensures that the available infrastructure is best used for the academic growth of individual students as well as the college as a whole. The infrastructure has been enhanced in accordance with the requirements of a larger student body.

The library was air conditioned to provide a comfortable space that will encourage students to use the library on regular basis for study and research. Students are also provided with free Wi-Fi facility as an inducement to use online study material, and submit their assignments online. IT enabled class rooms are used by the faculty for power point presentations to make learning student friendly, and to encourage a more participative classroom experience.

There are various academic and cultural societies which enhance the intellectual activities, creativity and imagination of the students. Computer labs with projectors and screens are used by the faculty for practicals and assignments. The college tries to maintain high standards, while providing education at an affordable cost.

To fulfil these requirements, the college receives funds from the UGC and University of Delhi which are optimally used as prioritised by the authorized bodies.

Refer to the table 4.4.1 for the list of item wise expenditure incurred in the last four years.

4.1.4 How does the institute ensure that the infrastructure facilities meet the requirements of the students with physical disabilities?

Physically disabled students deserve special provisions that cater to their requirements. The college is particularly sensitive to their needs. The college is barrier free and a lift has been installed at the entrance of the building with exits on each floor for disabled students, faculty members and staff. Each floor has a ramp to enable easy mobility on wheel chairs.

The college library has a dedicated room for differently-abled students. They are provided free learning aids. The Equal Opportunity Cell has been diligently working to provide these students a hurdle free education by providing enhanced infrastructure.

Please refer to 'Innovation and Best Practices' report for details,

4.1.5 Give details on the residential facility and various provisions available within them:

The college has 12 flats for the faculty and 12 for the staff. They are located within the college premises. The residents of these flats have access to water supply and the privilege of enjoying the college gardens and sports facilities. They also have easy access to one of the most important hospitals in the city which is located almost next door to the college.

A kiosk provides Mother Dairy products in the college to students and residents.

A hostel for our students is under construction.

4.1.6 What are the provisions made available to students and staff in terms of health care on the campus and off the campus?

The College has a Medical Room which is open on working days from 10:00 a.m. to 12 p.m. to cater to the first aid and other medical requirements of both students and staff. Dr. Sudesh K. Chugh is a Senior Consultant, Physician, Cardiologist, Diabetologist, Gastroenterologist and Neurologist.

In emergency situations, the College also facilitates advanced medical treatment at the Ganga Ram Hospital. A first-aid box and OTC medicines are also available. The students and faculty members may also avail the W.U.S. (World University Service) health centre on the University of Delhi Campus.

The college also has a trained psychotherapist, Dr. Ritu Chaudhary, on call.

4.1.7 Give details of the Common Facilities available on the campus- spaces for special units like IQAC, Grievance Redressal unit, Women’s Cell, Counselling and Career Guidance, Placement unit, Health Centre, Canteen, Recreational spaces for staff and students, safe drinking water facility, auditorium, etc.

Refer to question 4.1.2
4.2 Library as a Learning Resource

4.2.1 Does the library have an Advisory Committee? Specify the composition of such a committee. What significant initiatives have been implemented by the committee to render the library, student/user friendly?

The library is the hub of intellectual and social activities of any educational institution. The success of a library depends largely on the selection of books, journals and periodicals. JDMC has a Library Committee comprising of:

- the Principal as Chairperson
- the Librarian serves as Convener of the committee
- Convener of Equal Opportunity Cell
- Convener of ASC/IQAC
- One faculty member from each Department.

The Library Committee members work on rotational basis. The committee members meet once a month. The Committee members report to their respective departments about matters like annual allocation of funds, subscribing to new journals etc. They also encourage members to suggest the titles of books to be bought.

The Committee also plays an important role in coordinating the Library Orientation for the new entrants. This enables the Librarian and the Library Staff to meet students and introduce them to the easiest ways of accessing books, as well as the on-line resources provided by the college library. The Library Committee takes the lead in setting strategic directions for all aspects of the Library’s services and operations.

Every year, JDMC also organizes the “Library Fest.”

The significant initiatives taken by the Library are:

- The library is equipped with CCTV cameras and Electronic Article Surveillance (EAS) system to prevent pilferage and overall monitoring and surveillance of the library
- Creation of Braille Books Section
- Conducting orientation programme for new entrants at the beginning of the academic session
- To look into the complaints/feedback of the users
- Book Bank facility
- Access to e-resources and e-journals through DELNET, NLIST and DULS.

4.2.3 How does the library ensure purchase and use of current titles, print and e-journals and other reading materials? Specify the amount spent on procuring new books, journals and e-resources during the last four years.

The Library committee members identify and recommend the titles for purchase after consulting publishers' catalogues, recommendations of department members and references given in the University's prescribed syllabus. Book selection is also done during the book exhibition organized in the college library and book fairs in Delhi.

Our library presently subscribes to 72 +11 journals/magazines and newspapers in core as well as allied areas. This number keeps changing, as every year we review the list to decide which titles may be added or deleted as per the usage or requirement, before paying the annual subscription.

E-journals – the College Library is connected to the Delhi University campus network. So, we are able to access various online services provided by the Delhi University Library System. DULS subscribes to a large number of electronic databases and is available through the DU campus network. Besides this, we can also access UGC-Infonet Digital Library Consortia.
List of e-resources is prominently displayed on the library notice board and announced during the orientation. The students can access them through the college computers.

The college library is also in the process of subscribing to NList through InfLibNet.

The following tables show the number of books purchased and the amount spent on procuring new books, journals and e-resources during the last 4 years:

4.2.7 Enumerate on the support provided by the Library staff to the students and teachers of the College.

The Library staff is very supportive in providing all the routine services to the students and teachers, like assistance in finding a book, recall of any book if urgently required by a teacher, and guiding the users in using the library catalogue.

4.2.8 What are the special facilities offered by the library to the visually/physically challenged persons? Give details.

Students with disabilities are our special users. We try to give personalized service to them, yet we want to make them independent. There is a separate room in the library for our visually challenged students. We also have the provision for computer software for our differently-abled students along with braille books etc.

For details please refer to the 'Innovations and Best Practices' Report.

4.2.9 Does the library get the feedback from its users? If yes, how is it analyzed and used for improving the library services? (What strategies are deployed by the Library to collect feedback from users? How is the feedback analyzed and used for further improvement of library services?)

We do not have any formal feedback system in the library as yet.

However, the President of Students' Union and other office bearers of the union are a part of the library committee with whom we discuss various issues related to the development of the library.

4.3 IT Infrastructure

4.3.2 Details of the computer and internet facility made available to the faculty and students on the campus, and off-campus.

Computer facility is made available to the faculty and students on-campus and off-campus through dedicated computer labs and laptops.

Internet facility is made available to faculty and students on campus, through Wi-Fi. No additional charges are levied for the use of Internet. JDMC was part of the first eight out-of-campus colleges to be connected to the DU Wide area network in 2006.

The total of 873 Laptops (Make: HP, Model: Probook 445G1, 8GB RAM/AMD Elite A65350M)
2.9 GHz Processor, Specs: Ubuntu 12/) have been provided to students and 17 (with AMD Elite A10 5750M 2.56 GHz Processor) to faculty.

The College has a total of 02 Servers, 18 Printers, 03 Scanners, and 29 Projectors.

The College is a part of NKN's fibre optic Gigabit Network through University of Delhi with present Internet speed of 100 Mbps.

Students and faculty members avail computing and internet facilities in the Computer labs and Library Computer Hub.

The entire campus is Wi-Fi enabled. Students and faculty have been provided Wi-Fi authenticated User ID and Password for Internet access through their devices (Mobile, Laptops etc.).

4.3.3 What are the institutional plans and strategies for deploying and upgrading the IT Infrastructure And Associated Facilities?

The college has three computer labs well-equipped with IT infrastructure and the associated facilities. Computing nodes are also available in the library. The ICT infrastructure is regularly updated as per the curriculum.

Over the years, due to well-thought out and effectively implemented institutional plans and strategies, the college has been able to expand its ICT infrastructure and equip itself with servers, printers, desktop computers, laptops, projectors and scanners etc., with assistance received from University of Delhi.

The college library is fully computerized. The administrative and accounts offices have also increased their efficiency by increasing the use of ICT facilities.

The regular upkeep, maintenance, deployment and up-gradation are carried out by the computer centre personnel.

The college plans to build a faculty research node that shall be ready within a year and provide dedicated computing/internet/printing services to each department. The college also intends to procure more softwares, as per the requirements of the faculty and students.

4.3.4 Provide details on the provision made in the annual budget for procurement, upgradation, deployment and maintenance of the computers and their accessories in the institution (year wise for last four years).

The College does not have any separate provision in the annual budget for IT and computerization. The computers and laptops have been generously provided by the University of Delhi from 2006 onwards.

Recurring expenditure on purchase, maintenance, up-gradation and deployment of computers, projectors, computer labs etc has been funded from self-generated resources (students' fees).

In the past four years, the expenditure on this head has been as follows:

2011-2012 – Rs. 2, 63,350/-
2012-2013 – Rs. 2, 61,707/-
2013-2014 – Rs. 3, 26,793/-
4.3.5 How does the institution facilitate extensive use of ICT resources including development and use of computer-aided teaching/learning materials by its staff and students?

The institution ensures availability of adequately staffed ICT resources to its faculty and students at Computer Labs as well as at the Library. To cater to the computing and ICT needs of students and faculty, the Labs remain open from 9.00 A.M to 5.30 P.M and the library from 8:30 A.M. to 4:30 P.M. on all working days.

Wi-Fi connectivity is available throughout the college campus, further facilitating internet access.

Nearly all the classrooms have Projectors and Internet enabled Video facility that can be used for imparting lectures. These are also used by students to give their presentations.

The Library's in-house access to computing, internet and e-resources are available through University of Delhi's institutional membership.

The library also has a dedicated hub and computing software for Visually Challenged students.

Computer aided teaching is imparted using different licensed software packages such as Mathematica, Matlab, MS-Office 2010, Adobe Illustrator CS Version 12.0, Adobe PhotoShop CS 2.9.0, Adobe CS5 etc.

The ICT enabled classrooms as well as Labs facilitate extensive use of ICT resources including development and use of computer aided teaching/learning materials.

The College also has a Seminar Room with seating capacity of over 100, equipped with a projector and an Internet-enabled audio-video facility for holding talks, seminars, and workshops that contribute to an all encompassing educational experience.

The Committee Room with a seating capacity of 30, and audio-video facility is also available for holding smaller workshops and meetings.

4.3.6 Elaborate, giving suitable examples on how the learning activities and technologies deployed (access to on-line teaching - learning resources, independent learning, ICT enabled-classrooms/learning spaces etc) by the institution place the student at the centre of teaching-learning process and render the role of a facilitator for the teacher.

The college aims to strengthen students' academic foundation, contribute to their all-round personality development and broaden their horizons. Apart from academic activities such as class-tests, assignments, projects and presentations, students actively participate in their respective department's Association activities such as seminars, debates, workshops, quiz competitions, panel discussions etc. Opportunities are also provided to participate in college-level societies such as debates, dramatics, Environment club, NSS, Film club, etc. The ICT infrastructure is used to supplement and integrate academic, co-curricular as well as extra-curricular activities.

Wi-Fi access, ICT enabled class-rooms, computer labs, computing nodes in the library and Library Computer Hub for the visually-challenged students provide the necessary learning spaces which facilitate student-centred learning.

The College encourages and facilitates teachers' use of ICT to enrich the teaching-learning experience. All the students under the FYUP were provided individual Laptops to improve the learning process.
ICT helps to promote independent learning among the students. The study material developed for various courses by the Institute of Life Long Learning (ILLL), University of Delhi, is available to students free of cost through the website. The University also developed a Blog for FYUP students where it posted course content. Students can go through these e-learning materials at their own pace.

The online resources also provide a much needed opportunity to the students to go beyond their prescribed texts. The access to e-archives and e-journals makes primary texts and scholarly material easily available to the faculty and helps to expand their knowledge frontiers.

ICT also increases connectivity among teachers and students, as assignments are often e-mailed. It also provides an easy platform to the students to clarify their doubts online with the teachers.

ICT has facilitated the day to day administration, both at the departmental and the college level. Facilitating administrative activities requiring inter and intra-departmental cooperation like making of inter-disciplinary sections, computation of attendance and internal assessment, to name just a few, through the use of common cloud storage like Dropbox and Google Drive (free license), has already been initiated.

4.3.7 Does the institution avail of the national knowledge network connectivity directly or through the affiliating University? If so, what are the services availed of?

Yes, the college avails of the National Knowledge Network (NKN) connectivity through the parent university. There are various services that are being availed using NKN backbone, namely:

- Delhi University wide area network (WAN)
- College local area network (LAN)
- Access to scholarly content of UGC-Infonet Digital Library Consortium (IDLC)
- Local resource sharing services of Delhi University Library System (DULS)
- Internet services through dedicated fibre optic network presently with 100 mbps speed.
- Video conferencing and virtual class room activities through the University developed application called Virtual Learning Environment (VLE).

4.4 Maintenance of Campus Facilities

4.4.1 How does the institution ensure optimal allocation and utilization of the available financial resources for maintenance and upkeep of the following facilities (substantiate your statements by providing details of budget allocated during last four years)

The college has a policy to immediately address issues of infrastructure requirements. The requirements are first discussed in the departmental and staff council committees, and decisions are taken according to priority.

The college also considers the requirement of maintenance of building and equipments from time to time, and maintenance is carried out wherever needed. We receive funds from the UGC and University of Delhi, and optimally utilize them according to the guidelines received from them.
Details of the expenditure incurred in the last four years are shown in the following table.

6.1. Institutional Vision and Leadership

6.1.1. State the vision and mission of the Institution and enumerate on how the mission statement defines the Institution’s distinctive characteristics in terms of addressing the needs of the society, the students it seeks to serve, institution’s traditions, values, vision for the future, etc?

Since the inception of the College in 1959, the Gandhian philosophy of responsible citizenship and empowerment of women through education is embedded in its beliefs and practices. The management and the faculty firmly believe in imparting knowledge based on traditional values, yet with modern and global significance in an evolving academic world. This foundational ideal is enshrined in the upanishadic motto of the college itself, “Vidyahi paramam Jyoti.” Education, in combination with technological skills, empowers the students both academically and economically, and proactively contributes to their brighter future. Therefore, the college creates a motivational environment to provide holistic education and personality development of the students, resulting in a synthesis of their career growth and ethical and responsible citizenship.

The egalitarian approach of the institution promotes the inclusion of marginalised sections of the society. The institution is equally inclusive of all its constituencies, with their respective duties, responsibilities and achievements. The students and staff, belonging to diverse classes, castes, ethnic and religious groups, cooperate in a democratic environment to take the college to newer heights of excellence. The institution besides providing education, also serves as a platform for cultural expression and excellence, constantly reminding students of the primary importance of cultural diversity, national integration and tolerance, along with the need to be in harmony with the environment. Please also refer to 1.1.1.

The college translates its vision statement through the following steps:

- The Orientation Programme for the first year students and their parents includes the following steps:
  - First, the new students are apprised of the Gandhian principles of the Founder and untiring efforts of the institution to fulfill his dream of providing quality education to women from all sections of the Indian society that will empower them intellectually, socially and economically.

The workload is prepared, the four points about workload distribution, timetables, schedule of ECA activities and contact periods are sub-points of the systematic planning, discussed and revised prior to the commencement of the academic session. Faculty appointments are also made before the semester commences.
  • Timetables of various departments are made and uploaded on the college website, prior to the commencement of the academic session.
  • A schedule of extra-curricular and co-curricular activities of the college is given in the Prospectus and the college website at the beginning of the term. These activities are organized during the assigned one hour break on every Wednesday of the week.

6.1.2. What is the role of top management, Principal and Faculty in design and implementation of its quality policy and plans?

The various constituencies of the college i.e. the Governing Body, the Principal, Faculty and the students are a close-knit unit which operates in complete coordination with each other for the smooth functioning of the institution.
The Governing Body, through its constituted committees and in consultation with the Principal, oversees the maintenance and development of the infrastructural amenities of the college. It also decides on issues regarding the policy and the functioning of the college. All major plans drafted by the various constituencies are subject to the approval of the Governing Body.

The IQAC, in consultation with the Principal and the faculty, plans and implements the institutional quality policy. The faculty is encouraged to organise and participate in various conferences and workshops to develop their professional skills and expertise.

The Principal constitutes various committees which manage all the curricular and extra-curricular activities of the college, in the Staff Council.

Through the Staff Council and the Staff Association, the faculty also contributes to the academic administration of the college.

As the chief executive officer, the Head of the Institution guides all the administrative functions of the college. The Principal also continuously interacts with the non-teaching staff to ensure an efficient and qualitative administration.

In consultation with the Governing Body and the Bursar, the Principal plans the allocation and utilisation of funds in a transparent and systematic manner.

6.1.3. What is the involvement of the leadership in ensuring:

- The policy statements and action plans for fulfillment of the stated mission
- Formulation of action plans for all operations and incorporation of the same in to the institutional strategic plan
- Interaction with stakeholders
- Proper support for policy and planning through need analysis, research inputs and consultations with the stakeholders
- Reinforcing the culture of excellence
- Champion organizational change

The policy statements and action plans for fulfillment of the stated mission:

The institution is committed to continue with its founding principles of creating an enriching and holistic environment for academic excellence and empowering its women students to ensure greater gender-equity and inclusive growth.

- The college was founded by eminent Gandhian and philanthropist, Shri Brij Krishna Chandiwala, who established this institution as a vehicle for women’s empowerment and social justice in the society. These principles are embodied in every policy and programme of the college.
- The formal quality policy enshrines the broad principles and mechanisms through which the college envisions and implements its plans of quality assurance.
- The Principal, with the support of the Governing Body, plays a pivotal role in the management and administration of the college. The Head of the Institution is responsible for the communication and translation of the mission and goals of the college. This is facilitated through the synchronisation of the various constituencies of the college.
The academic year commences with the Orientation Programme, where the Principal introduces the new entrants and their parents to the academic and administrative staff along with the various curricular and extra-curricular activities of the college. The primary goals and functioning of the institution are also communicated by the Principal.

Formulation of action plans for all operations and incorporation of the same in to the institutional strategic plan:

- The core constituent units of the organisation, the Governing Body, the Principal, the Staff Council and the Students’ Union, are linked with each other for planning and implementation of its aims and policies. The Principal acts as the intermediary between the Governing Body, the Staff Council and the Students’ Union.

- The Staff Council and Association regularly meet and take decisions concerning academic changes and developments, which are then deliberated upon and implemented by the Governing Body. For instance, the Governing Body approved the demand of the Staff Council by sanctioning the construction of an additional floor with nine classrooms and the necessary amenities. In a similar fashion, constant feedback from the Students’ Union is taken by the faculty as well as the Principal.

- The faculty and students regularly interact and resolve departmental issues through the Faculty-Student committee in each department.

Interaction with stakeholders:

The stakeholders interact and discuss the various structured action plans to deal with admissions, curricula-related issues, co-curricular and extra-curricular activities, examinations and many more. The leadership involves all stakeholders in the formulation of all action plans:

- Every department/committee possesses complete autonomy to plan and organize its co-curricular activities. Also, every department organizes its own departmental festival annually, which witnesses a healthy inter- and intra-college participation.

- The proposals for introducing new courses have to be discussed in the Staff-Council meetings and, subsequently, sent to the Governing Body for approval. After approval by the Governing Body, the proposal is then sent to the University and authorities concerned for necessary sanctions.

- The Placement Cell of the college interacts with the industry and corporate sector, as well as the University’s central placement cell to provide increased and better employment opportunities for the students.

- The Alumni Association is the college’s link with its widespread alumni network. The institution seeks the feedback and active participation of its alumnae. Please refer to 5.1.14 and 5.3.7 for details.

- The parents/guardians of the students are a part of the Orientation programme, where they learn about constituencies like the Principal, the faculty and the non-teaching staff as well as the functioning of the college. Departments correspond with parents/guardians of students to apprise them of their ward’s performance.

This ensures the complete, transparent and democratic involvement of the Faculty, the Principal, the Governing Body and the University in the formulation and implementation of any strategic plan.

Proper support for policy and planning through need analysis, research inputs and consultations with the stakeholders:
The planning and policy-making of the college is contingent upon the feedback of its constituent units. The college has a structured and hierarchical organisation which is functionally equipped to meet the continuous needs and demands of the system. This is achieved by providing research inputs to the decision-making bodies.

- Various departments and committees, post internal consultation, put forward their requirements- both academic and non-academic- to the Head of the institution, who may, in certain cases send it to the Governing Body for approval. For example workload requirements are given to the college by the various departments to ensure faculty appointments. Other related areas are requirements of the library, infrastructure, computer laboratories and sports. Extracurricular activities are also planned to cater to the interests of the students.

- Staff Council and Association discussions and decisions are an integral part of institutional planning and policy.

- Professional assistance and consultation is sought for specialised activities in the college, like coaches for the sports teams, choreographers and directors for theatre and dance performances.

- Since its inception, the IQAC, with representation of the alumni and the external members, plays a significant role in planning and formulating the policy of the college.

- Institutional mechanisms like the Online Student feedback Form and the Non-Teaching Staff Self-Appraisal Form provide inputs and suggestions to the planning and decision making processes.

- Institutionalisation of best practices is a core aim of planning and policy-making of the college which involves decentralised planning and participation, resource management, monitoring and skill enhancement.

Reinforcing the culture of excellence:

The institution upholds the Gandhian vision and values of its founder, Shri Brij Krishna Chandiwala. However, it is also committed to constantly evolve, adapt, and usher in changes which are necessary to meet the challenges of the ever-transforming society. The Principal is responsible for communicating and translating the vision and policies of the college to its constituencies. The various committees and societies of the college contribute to, and sustain a culture of excellence through a plethora of activities. This is facilitated in the following ways.

- The college has Gandhi Study Circle (GSC) to generate awareness amongst the students concerning the social and economic disparities in the contemporary Indian society.

- Every year, the college celebrates the Founder’s Day when the faculty and students reiterate their commitment to academic excellence and social improvement. This is also the day when the founder of the college, Shri Brij Krishna Chandiwala, is remembered for his Gandhian vision and contributions to the society through numerous philanthropic acts, including founding of this college to educate the women of India.

- Regular interactions are organised between the Principal, the faculty and students in an inclusive and productive environment to facilitate communication at all levels.
Excellence is pursued through organising seminars, lectures, conferences and advanced learning resources and facilities. The Academic Excellence Committee focuses on three core aspects—research projects, journals and publications and discussion forums. The committee is planning to produce an e-book with articles written by the faculty on prescribed curriculum that would facilitate learning for the students.

The college has a tradition of holding a Long Assembly every Wednesday during an hour long period assigned for co-curricular and extra-curricular activities.

The institution continuously strives to inculcate cultural and creative excellence among its students by encouraging them to join an array of societies formed to nurture their talent. Each society is headed by teachers to guide the students. Also refer to 5.1.6 and 5.3.1 for details.

- Technology: The College has incorporated changes in modes of education through three fully-equipped computer laboratories, availability of Wi-Fi, twenty-five ICT enabled classrooms, Seminar and Committee Rooms and issuing laptops to the students and faculty. Information related to admission, timetables, attendance, vacancies, curricular and extra-curricular activities is uploaded on the website. The library is fully computerized, using Libsys Software (an integrated library management system). For the convenience of the visually challenged students, a screen reading software (SAFA), audio recorders/CD players, plectalks Angel pocket recorders, DAISY (Digital Access Information System), Braille and talking books are available in the library. The library also imparts computer training to them. Technology has been adopted by the faculty in practicals, preparation of timetables, allocation of examination duties and conducting students’ elections.

- Infrastructure: Constant development of institutional infrastructure is an important dimension of organisational change. With the increase in student-intake, the college has constructed an additional third floor, tutorial rooms and a girls’ hostel (in progress). Classrooms have been equipped with projectors to facilitate innovative and blended learning techniques. Some parts, like the HDFE Laboratory and one of the computer labs, have been renovated. The canteen has been completely renovated and a Mother Dairy kiosk added. The college has adopted environment friendly practices like rain water harvesting, installation of solar panels, switching to LED lights, paper recycling and maintaining a green and tobacco-free campus. Please refer to sections 4.1, 4.3 and 4.4 for detailed information.

- Pedagogy: The change in the modes of education has been reflected in the change in pedagogy adopted by the faculty to keep up with the changing academic demands. The use of LCD projectors in classrooms, student-led classroom lectures and alternative learning tools like music, dance and theatre are a few examples of the change in educational practices. Remedial classes have been restarted to assist students who require special attention or have missed regular lectures due to sports and extracurricular activities. Add-on courses are also introduced at regular intervals to complement curricular teaching. 6.2.3. Describe the internal organizational structure and decision making process.

The twin units of the college—the Administration and the Faculty are symbiotically engaged with each other in a participative mode.

The Governing Body is the highest authority and decision-making entity of the institution. It exercises control and supervision over the college. The powers of the Governing Body and other authorities are in accordance with Statute 30 and Ordinance XVIII of the University of Delhi. It plans and decides on core issues of finance, infrastructure, staff recruitment and overall development of the college. The Principal is the member-secretary, and is authorised to implement the decisions of the Governing Body.

The Principal is the Chief Executive and Academic Officer of the college. The Head of the Institution plays an advisory and supportive role in relation to all the constituencies. She is responsible for administration and organisation of the teaching and extra-curricular activities in the college. The Principal, in regular consultation with the Governing Body, the faculty and the administration, takes decisions regarding academic and non-academic matters, thereby ensuring a smooth functioning of the institution.

The newly-established post of the Vice-Principal was created to assist the Principal in academic and administrative matters, and to officiate in the absence of the Principal.

The Bursar is responsible for the proper utilisation, disbursement and accounting of funds in the college.

The Staff Council meetings are held periodically in each academic session. The Staff Council deliberates and democratically decides matters pertaining to extra-curricular activities, admissions and college timetables, subject to the provisions of the Acts, Statutes and Ordinances of the University of Delhi.
Statutory committees and societies regularly meet, plan and organise programmes and activities related to academic, administrative, curricular and extra-curricular matters.

The non-teaching staff is headed by the Administrative Officers, who are assisted by Section Officers to deal with everyday administration of the college.

The Students’ Union and Extended Union, under the guidance of the Staff Advisors, plan and implement student-related activities and programmes.

6.2.4. Give a broad description of the quality improvement strategies of the institution for each of the following:

- Teaching and Learning
- Research and Development
- Community engagement
- Human resource management
- Industry interaction

The college has structured plans and mechanisms to ensure the efficiency of the various quality improvement strategies for each of the following areas:

- Teaching and Learning: proactive efforts are made constantly to meet the requirements of the changing academic environment.

  At the commencement of an academic session, every department prepares academic plans and outlines to ensure the smooth functioning and regularity of lectures, tutorials, practicals, internal examinations, projects, and department activities. Departments also engage in a systematic analysis of their students’ results which contributes towards the qualitative improvement of education and the results of the students. The Student-Faculty Committee of each department meets every month to discuss and review the teaching-learning process. The Online Student Feedback Form is used to seek feedback on seminal issues related to teaching and learning.

  Teaching methodology is carefully chosen to provide academic flexibility for students to select ‘minor’ areas of interest, engage in sports and cultural activities, and undertake projects and research. Emphasis is placed on increasing student-teacher interaction, student participation in the classroom situation, besides use of aids like power-point presentations, laptops, and alternative forms of pedagogy (dance, music, theatre), like concepts and practices drawn from Indian classical and folk art forms, and Western Performance Theory (Richard Schechner’s method-acting strategy of rasaboxes, Mayurbhanj Chhau and digitised Odissi performances of Sharon Lowen) to provide blended learning.

  The ideal student-ratio is maintained by making requisite appointments as per the course requirement.

  The college effectively adapted itself to the changed academic structure and pedagogy introduced with the FYUP. Similarly, with the introduction of CBCS, the college and the faculty have adapted their pedagogical strategies to facilitate academic flexibility by offering multidisciplinary and skill-based courses.
Under the aegis of the EOC and NSS, the college takes special care of its differently-abled students.

The college has reintroduced remedial classes to help students who have missed regular classes due to extracurricular or sports activities or who need special help in studies. Students are provided with personal attention through contact periods, which are a part of the individual timetable of the faculty.

Departments are encouraged to plan and organise study tours and field trips to provide blended learning to the students. The Environment Studies department organises a mandatory field trip for the first year students in every semester to enrich their knowledge of the biodiversity of Delhi.

The college and the faculty periodically convene to assess the educational environment and the academic needs of students, and introduce add-on courses with the approval of the Governing Body. These courses are designed and taught by the faculty, keeping in mind the changing academic and pedagogical trends, the economic empowerment of students, and to complement and expand their knowledge and skills provided under the university-mandated structure. From 2004-12 an add-on course in Hindi Journalism was offered to the students. In collaboration with ILLL, an English Language Proficiency Course (ELPC), offered to enhance students’ English speaking, reading and communication skills was operational from 2009-2012. At present, an add-on course in collaboration with Bharatiya Anuvad Parishad in Hindi Translation is being offered to the students.

For detailed information, please refer to 2.1, 2.2, 2.3 and 5.1.4.

- Research and Development: The faculty and students are encouraged to attend and organise seminars, conferences and workshops. They are also encouraged to submit projects to various funding agencies. In 2013, the college was involved in a DU Innovation Project-'Creative Solutions to Waterlogging through Rainwater Harvesting’ funded by the University of Delhi, which was successfully concluded in March 2015. The college collaborated with IIT Delhi and Centre for Science and Environment for technical assistance. Presently, the college is collaborating in a Joint Research Project with the Indian Council for Social Sciences Research (ICSSR) and the Japan Society for the Promotion of Sciences (JSPS).

The Academic Excellence Committee monitors research projects in collaboration with external research institutions like UGC, ICHR, ICSSR, and Rajiv Gandhi Research Foundation.

The college provides facilities like internet, WiFi, LAN, e-journal subscriptions as well as a well-stocked, fully computerised and updated library for research to the students and faculty.

The faculty constantly endeavours to update and expand its academic credentials, thereby contributing to quality improvement in education and the knowledge pool. Articles, research papers and books, edited and authored by the faculty are a glowing testimonial to the academic credentials and the research endeavours of the faculty. The college plans to introduce an e-book, which would serve as a forum for the faculty to contribute articles on the curriculum prescribed by the university to facilitate learning for students. The Academic Forum of the college motivates the faculty members to share and engage in their individual research.
Conferences and seminars are organised at both the college and the department level to promote interaction with the external academia. The Gandhi Study Circle organised an international conference on peace and conflict-resolution on 4th November 2015. The college recently organized an international multidisciplinary conference ‘Divergences’ in April 2016.

It has also arranged Brailler, ipods for recording lecture notes, 90 books in CD format, Braille books, smart canes, a separate computer room equipped with facilities like the internet, printing, screen reading softwares like kurzuwell, JAWS and SAFA and a full-time computer instructor to teach and help them. Samarthya, an NGO working for the disabled, had ranked the college as the Most Disabled Friendly College in 2007. Please refer to the “Innovation and Best Practices” Report for Details.

  - NCWEB: The Non-Collegiate Women’s Educational Board was established in the college in 1987. On 15th June 2016, the college also received the Special Category Award from the Earth Day Network for the #SayNotoPlasticBags Campaign. The club is conducting a tree census in the college. In collaboration with Goonj, Avani organised a collection drive in August 2016, to provide relief to people affected by natural calamities in various parts of the country.

- To encourage sports, the department of Physical Education provides extension services to the community by offering its sports grounds and other amenities to the neighbouring government-run schools and various sports federations and associations free of charge.

- A well-maintained garden, besides providing opportunities to be in proximity to nature, also serves therapeutic purposes. The college gardens have won several accolades and instituted prizes. The college gardens have eighty herbs, which have been catalogued for their therapeutic potential by the Garden Committee. In 2014-15, the Ministry of Environment assisted the college gardens and provided a thousand saplings with medicinal and aesthetic value, which were planted across the college premises. With its abundance of greenery, the gardens lend a peaceful and harmonious ambience to the campus.

- The Swachhta Abhiyan was launched on 20th October 2014 in the college, inspired by the ideology and vision of the Prime Minister’s nationwide Mission-Clean India Programme. The event, a collaboration of Avani and NSS cell of the college, was also successfully held in 2015. As part of the daily routine, cleanliness in the campus is taken care of by the staff and student volunteers.

Appreciation and recognition of the faculty and staff provide immense motivation for further improvement. This is done through instituted prizes and awards for the non-teaching staff and recognition of twenty five years of service for the faculty. The academic achievements of the students and the faculty are also highlighted in the Annual Report.

6.2.8. Does the affiliating University make a provision for according the status of autonomy to an affiliated institution? If yes, what are the efforts made by the institution in obtaining autonomy.

The University of Delhi does not grant autonomy to an affiliated college.

6.2.9. How does the Institution ensure that grievances/complaints are promptly attended to and resolved effectively? Is there a mechanism to analyse the nature of grievances to promote better stakeholder relationship.

The college favours an open interaction between the stakeholders and the management. The Chairman, the Governing Body and the Principal are always accessible to the constituencies. There is frequent interaction between the Principal, the faculty and the students.

• The college receives complaints and grievances and forwards them to the relevant committees for further action.

• The Principal addresses the grievances and issues affecting the faculty at the Staff Council. Similarly, the faculty also deliberates and resolves issues pertaining to it at the Staff Association meetings.

• Convenors of various societies and department-associations regularly meet to discuss and solve issues concerned to them. Important decisions are communicated to the Principal for further action.

• The Faculty-Student Committee of each department convenes every month to review problems affecting the department. It is also a platform for dissemination of information and receiving feedback from students.

• The college has systematised its mechanism to receive feedback from the students through the new Online Student Feedback Form. The data is electronically processed and communicated for further review and discussion.

• The Apex Grievance Redressal Committee addresses academic and administrative problems in the Institution.

• Any complaints and grievances related to the admission process come under the purview of the Admission Committee.
• The college has an Internal Complaint Committee against Sexual Harassment at Workplace to deal with any relevant complaint/issue, if and when required.
• Faculty members serve as ST, SC, OBC liaison officers and are responsible for dealing with any related matter.
• The college has a counselor on call to deal with the psychological needs of the students, guiding them to cope with the stresses and challenges of everyday life.
• The Northeast Society facilitates the adjustment of students in the college environment, and helps resolve their problems.

6.2.11. Does the institution have a mechanism for analyzing student feedback on institutional performance? If yes, what was the outcome and response of the institution to such an effort?

The college encourages its students to give their feedback and is open to suggestions for improvement. There is a Suggestion / Complaints Box, and issues concerned are dealt with in an appropriate manner. Feedback is taken regularly from the students' elected representatives.
The recently instituted Faculty-Student Committees in each department serve as an efficient mechanism to assess and resolve the needs and problems of the students. The committees also gather and document student feedback in a systematic manner.

The college has designed and initiated the process of obtaining student feedback through the Online Feedback Form. This form is a comprehensive mechanism for receiving systematic feedback on seminal matters like infrastructure, technical facilities, amenities, curricular and extra-curricular activities and administration. A survey was conducted in April 2016 on 426 final year students. Some of the responses are given below:

- Technical Assistance in Computer Labs
  - Excellent: 102 (24.3%)
  - Good: 198 (47.3%)
  - Satisfactory: 86 (20.5%)
  - Needs Improvement: 36 (8.6%)

- Classroom Lectures
  - Excellent: 186 (43.9%)
  - Good: 192 (45.3%)
  - Satisfactory: 40 (9.4%)
  - Needs Improvement: 7 (1.7%)

- Lift/Ramps for students with disability
  - Excellent: 168 (40.1%)
  - Good: 164 (39.1%)
  - Satisfactory: 58 (13.8%)
  - Needs Improvement: 31 (7.4%)

- Teacher support for participation in activities inside/outside the college
  - Excellent: 158 (37.9%)
  - Good: 172 (41.2%)
  - Satisfactory: 65 (15.6%)
  - Needs Improvement: 24 (5.8%)
Major dissatisfaction was expressed by the students over two key concerns—water and toilets, which were addressed by the institution. Toilets were reconstructed and are regularly maintained with the help of Sulabh International. The RO water purifiers are regularly serviced to ensure safe drinking water. The canteen has been completely renovated and a Mother Dairy kiosk has also been added. The common room and the medical room have been recently refurbished.

6.3. Faculty Empowerment Strategies

6.3.1. What are the efforts made by the institution to enhance the professional development of its teaching and non-teaching staff?

The institution encourages the continuous professional development of its teaching and non-teaching staff through the following mechanisms:

- Organising academic events, talks, seminars and lectures to enable the faculty to keep abreast of their areas of expertise. Two international conferences were organised to this effect, one on 'Peace and Conflict-Resolution' in November 2015 by the Gandhi Study Circle; and 'Divergences,' a multidisciplinary conference in April 2016.

- The college provides optimum facilities to its staff for not just executing their professional duties but also increasing their knowledge, skill and performance capacity. Free Wifi, computer laboratories and a well equipped library are some of these amenities available in the college.

- Famous personalities and experts from various fields are regularly invited to address the staff and the students. Please refer to Department Evaluative reports for details.

- The faculty is granted Duty Leave to attend orientation and refresher courses to expand and upgrade their academic expertise.

- The faculty and staff are also encouraged to attend short-term training programmes, as per their specialisations.

- Financial support is provided to the faculty by the UGC and the University of Delhi for attending international seminars, conferences and workshops.

- The faculty is also granted Study Leave to pursue research, as per the University rules.

- The outstation travel expenses and registration charges for attending other conferences, seminars, and workshops are also reimbursed by the college, as per the University rules.

- The non-teaching staff is also periodically sent for various training, finance and administration skill enhancement programmes. The Self-Appraisal Form is used to assess and review the competence and performance of the non-teaching staff.

- The Academic Excellence Committee encourages and assists the faculty to undertake inter-disciplinary research. This not only helps the faculty to improve their professional capabilities but also contributes to the academic environment of the institution.

- The recently revived Academic Forum serves as an interdisciplinary platform for the faculty to share and engage in their individual academic work.

For detailed information, please refer to section 3.1.5, 3.7.1 and 3.7.6.
6.3.2. What are the strategies adopted by the institution for faculty empowerment through training, retraining and motivating the employees for the roles and responsibility they perform?

- The faculty and non-teaching staff regularly attend training programmes organised by the University of Delhi. The faculty is encouraged to attend various orientation and refresher courses organised by different universities.

- They are also encouraged to participate in seminars, workshops and conferences. For example, Capacity Building Workshops were organised, with the support of ILLL, in 2016 for the faculty to help them incorporate technological expertise into learning/teaching practices.

- The prospective plan of introducing an e-book will provide the faculty with an avenue to contribute and publish their research and help the students.

- Faculty members are appointed as convenors of various societies and committees, according to their interests and capacities, to informally train them in administrative and extra-curricular tasks.

- The decentralised nature of the college administration is reflected in the appointment of key administrative posts like the Vice Principal, Bursar, Superintendent of Examinations, Staff Council and Association Secretaries and faculty representatives in the Governing Body.

- The college follows the principle of rotation where each department takes responsibility of the Staff Association for an academic year. Teachers-in-charge of every department are also deputed on a rotational basis. Two faculty members are appointed as Staff Advisors to the Students' Union every academic year.

- The dedication and excellence displayed by the staff is recognised by the college in the form of instituted prizes and awards for the non-teaching staff and twenty-five years of service for the faculty. These achievements are highlighted in the Annual Report.

- Various cultural and recreational activities like yoga, meditation and self-defense are organised for both the teaching and non-teaching staff of the college.

- To enhance the interaction and camaraderie between the different stakeholders of the college, lunches, sports and entertainment programs are organised at the college level.

6.3.3. Provide details on the performance appraisal system of the staff to evaluate and ensure that information on multiple activities is appropriately captured and considered for better appraisal.

As quality is inbuilt in the system, departments have been informally collecting data from the faculty on the following matters:

- Academic issues: teaching, completion of syllabi, use of alternative pedagogy, enhancement of knowledge and technical skills, with emphasis on research activities.

- Results of a department are discussed with the Principal at the commencement of an academic session.

- Administrative issues: delegation of duties, implementation of plans and decisions.

- Examination issues: conducting examinations, invigilation, and evaluation.
• Extra-curricular activities: organising extra-curricular activities for students and the staff.
• Community services: creating awareness and responsibility among students.

The college has designed and implemented the Online Student Feedback Form which allows the students to assess the faculty's performance as well as the infrastructure, technical facilities, amenities and extra-curricular activities.

The Faculty-Student Committee is a crucial mechanism that helps in the collection of feedback, suggestions and appraisal of the functioning of each department.

The institution has introduced the process of review and assessment of its non-teaching staff through the self-assessing PAS system, using the APAR form, designed by the University. The data obtained, for the year 2014-15, is graphically represented below:

![Bar charts showing assessment data]

Self-appraisal is inbuilt in the promotion procedure of the faculty through the PAS system.

6.3.4 What is the outcome of the review of the performance appraisal reports by the management and the major decisions? How are they communicated to the appropriate stakeholders?

The Management generally does not review the self-appraisal of the faculty under PAS.

The PAS serves the dual purpose of assessment as well as promotion of the non-teaching staff. Since the management follows a system of continuous assessment which is communicated by the Administrative Officer/Principal to the person(s) concerned, the PAS is therefore a formal culmination of this assessment. However, if any new, emergent aspect needs to be communicated, the management undertakes a review of the PAS reports.
Based on the feedback, received from the students through the Online Student Feedback Form, measures were implemented like the reconstruction of toilets, collaboration with Sulabh International for their maintenance and the renovation of the canteen, common room and the medical room.

Department meetings are held to review issues like results, curriculum, attendance and suggestions from the Faculty-Student Committee. Changes and plans are discussed and implemented.

Remedial classes have been reintroduced in the college based on the appraisal of students' needs, especially students who miss regular classes due to sports and extra-curricular activities.

6.3.5 What are the welfare schemes available for teaching and non-teaching teaching staff? What percentage of staff have availed the benefit of such schemes in the last four years?

There are several welfare schemes for the faculty and non-teaching staff members as per the Central Government Employees' Regulations, like provision of loans, Children’s Education Allowance, Medical Reimbursement, Leave Travel Concession and retirement benefits.

The college provides residential facilities for both the teaching staff and non-teaching staff on the campus.

Furthermore, the children of staff members get preference in admission on supernumerary seats. They are also given fee concession in annual charges (non-compulsory University charges).

There is also a Child Care Centre for the teaching and non-teaching staff.

6.3.6. What are the measures taken by the institution for attracting and retaining eminent faculty?

The recruitment of faculty is conducted as per the rules and regulations of UGC and the University of Delhi. The advertisement for vacancies is placed in national newspapers. The interviews are subsequently conducted by a selection committee, as per the Ordinances of the University of Delhi. Ad hoc appointments are made through interviews after displaying the vacancies on the college and University of Delhi websites for at least a week before the interview. In order to be eligible for the interview, candidates have to be empanelled at the University. The appointments are made strictly on the basis of merit.

6.4. Financial Management and Resource Mobilisation

6.4.1. What is the institutional mechanism to monitor effective and efficient use of available financial resources?

The college has mechanisms to take care of all its financial functions like planning of the budget, monitoring expenditure, auditing and requisitioning funds and grants. The Treasurer, Principal, Vice Principal, Bursar and the Finance Committee are the responsible authorities for the financial decision-making in the college. The financial status of the college is regularly documented by the Principal and forwarded to the Governing Body for review. The Governing Body monitors the fiscal proceedings of the college through its members in the Finance Committee, the Building Committee and the Development Fund Committee.

The college has well established accounting procedures and budgetary control. All payments are made by account payee cheques, with very few exceptions. No payment is released without the authorisation of the Principal and the Bursar. For some proposals, the college invites quotations and floats tenders as per General Financial Rules (GFR) and college rules.

The college prepares the budget in accordance with the fiscal plans, which are developed keeping in mind the necessary expenditure, proposed expansions and financial resources available. The budget is then sent for approval to the UGC and the funds are allocated accordingly. The UGC provides 95% of the salary of the college staff, and the remaining 5% is paid by the College Trust.

The college committees and societies are provided the allocated budget, which serves as the parameter for their expenditure. Bills are scrutinised by the Staff Advisors, who forward them to the Accounts Section. After approval, the bills are paid and the expenses are reimbursed.

6.4.2. What are the institutional mechanisms for internal and external audit? When was the last audit done and what are the major audit objections? Provide the details on compliance.

The college has transparent accounting procedures. Internal audit is done at the end of every financial year by a team of chartered accountants. The auditors are rotated on a regular basis. Presently, the accounting firm of Ellahi Goel and Co. New Delhi, has done the internal audit of the college.

External audit of the college is done at the end of every three years. The last external audit of the college was conducted by the Director General of Audit, Central Expenditure, New Delhi in 2013-14. The inspection report and the compliance report are provided in the annexure.

6.4.3. What are the major sources of institutional receipts/funding and how is the deficit managed? Provide audited income and expenditure statement of academic and administrative activities of the previous four years and the reserve fund/corpus available with Institutions, if any.

The major sources of the income of the college are:
- UGC Grants
- Management contribution
- Student fee
- Sponsorships

The college was sanctioned an Endowment Fund of Rupees Five Lakhs, by the Banarsidas Chandiwala Sewa Smarak Trust Society. An amount of Rupees Two Lakhs and Fifty Thousand was invested in the construction of teaching staff quarters. The remaining amount is invested in the bank.

The audit for the financial year 2015-2016 is awaited. Hence, the concerned approximate figures are provided below.

- Actual grant released for 2015-16 = 28,94,39,760.00
- Actual Expenditure for the year 2015-16 = 26,47,26,358.00

The college does not have a reserve fund as the balance amount is adjusted in the next financial year. The completed audited income and expenditure statement of the previous four years along with the balance sheet are provided in the annexure.
6.4.4. Give details on the effort made by the institution in securing additional funding and utilization of the same (if any).

The expenditure of the college has never exceeded the allocated funds due to systematic planning and management of expenditure. However, the institution proactively seeks additional sources of fund for its expansion activities.

- Additional funding has been granted by the UGC for developing infrastructure. For example, construction of the third floor classrooms; the girls' hostel; repair, renovation and refurbishment of existing infrastructure; and the sports ground.
- The Academic Excellence Committee guides research projects to receive funds from external funding agencies.
- The college has also received a grant from the University of Delhi for its Innovation Project.
- Sponsorships received for the annual festival, 'Symphony,' are also an additional source of funding.

a. Has the institution established an Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC)? If yes, what is the institutional policy with regard to quality assurance and how has it contributed in institutionalizing the quality assurance processes?

The college has an Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC). Its first IQAC meeting was held on 7th April, 2015. The formal quality policy of the institution articulates broad guidelines through which quality assurance is ensured. The Gandhian principles that the college practices, ensure an egalitarian and ethical system of imparting education to students of diverse social backgrounds. Emphasis is placed on imparting life skills that empower women. Quality assurance is sought through raising academic standards, upgrading of institutional infrastructure, ensuring transparency, inclusion of all stakeholders and service to the community and environment.

The IQAC reviews all institutional processes. It coordinates with all the constituted committees of the college and monitors their functioning. The Cell holds meetings to evolve mechanisms to usher in quality assurance. This is reflected in its efforts to collect feedback from different stakeholders, organising workshops, seminars and awareness programmes.

Besides the IQAC, quality assurance is apparent in the constant interaction of the constituent units of the organisation—the Governing Body, the Principal and the Administrative Staff, the Faculty and the Students' Union.

b. How many decisions of the IQAC have been approved by the management/authorities for implementation and how many of them were actually implemented?

The IQAC had its first meeting on 7th April 2015. The Principal reiterated the concern of the Governing Body for quality control and development in the college. The following recommendations were made by the Cell, many of which have been approved by the Governing Body, and thereafter implemented by the college:

- Initiate steps to improve the teaching-learning process; subsequently, remedial classes were restarted to assist students who needed additional attention.
- To further improve the teaching-learning process, Faculty-Student Committees were set up in every department to discuss and resolve issues raised by students on a monthly basis.
• Regular IQAC meetings to be held, the details of every meeting to be documented.

• The Cell affirmed the need of instituting feedback mechanisms from various stakeholders. Hence, the Student Feedback form was designed and the process of receiving feedback was initiated in April 2016. Similarly, the non-teaching staff also filled in their self-appraisal forms.

• Seminars, workshops, etc to be organised to impart specialised knowledge and training on quality assurance to the college staff.

• It was discussed that the functioning of the college is oriented towards quality assurance, as exemplified by practices like the Library Festival, which encourages student and faculty participation.

• As per the suggestions of the IQAC, an Apex Grievance Committee was constituted to redress grievances and complaints of the non-teaching staff and faculty-related issues.

• Following the suggestion of the IQAC, the administrative staff has participated in additional training programmes.

• Informal brainstorming sessions are frequently held between the Principal and the senior faculty, in particular the IQAC coordinator, on the subject of quality assurance.

Due to multiple changes in the administrative setup of the college in the past one year, the IQAC meetings have been of an informal nature. An internal meeting of the IQAC was held on 19th April 2016, where the following recommendations were made:

• A dedicated shelf in the library to display faculty publications, as suggested in the earlier IQAC meeting, has been made available.

• The Orientation programme organised for the I\textsuperscript{st} Year students should include the participation of the II\textsuperscript{nd} and III\textsuperscript{rd} year students, the faculty and the non-teaching staff to facilitate more effective interaction. This suggestion has also been implemented.

• The Principal stressed the importance of parent-teacher interaction through meetings and written correspondence, once in the middle of a semester. These meetings are conducted on a regular basis by some departments of the college.

c. Does the IQAC have external members on its committee? If so, mention any significant contribution made by them.

There are two external members of the IQAC. They are: Prof. T.K.V. Subramanium, (Retd.) Department of History, University of Delhi; and Prof. Vinay Srivastava, Department of Anthropology, University of Delhi.

The contributions made by Prof. T.K.V. Subramanium are:

• The importance of academic audit.

• Creating a mechanism for monitoring administration.

• The need for the continuous engagement of the college with the society at large.

The contributions made by Prof. Vinay Srivastava are:

• To differentiate between routine college tasks (admission, classes, assessment, etc) and quality (innovative practices).
Quality development is contingent on three vital domains of institutional functioning—academic, extra-curricular and administrative, and related innovative practices.

Interaction with the academia to be encouraged by inviting distinguished experts for lectures and seminars.

Active participation of the alumni in quality development.

d. How do students and alumni contribute to the effective functioning of the IQAC?

There is proportionate representation of students in the IQAC through two members of the Students' Union. There is no formal representation of the alumni in the IQAC, although the convenor of the Alumni Association is a part of the IQAC. Through its website, email and messenger services, the college reaches out to its alumni. It was decided that the college will regularly communicate with its alumni, especially those in the field of education, to seek suggestions and inputs on improving the college's quality assurance processes.

e. How does the IQAC communicate and engage staff from different constituents of the Institution?

The college encourages its different constituents to participate, deliberate and engage in the quality assurance processes. A strong communication network exists among the stakeholders of the college through electronic modes like the college website, email groups and messenger services. Communication is also facilitated amongst the faculty by conducting Staff Council, Staff Association and departmental meetings. Similarly, the Principal engages regularly with the non-teaching staff to ensure the dissemination of information and their participation. There is proportionate representation of the different constituents of the institution in the IQAC. The composition of the IQAC is as follows:

- Chairperson – Head of the Institution
- Three Members from the Administrative Staff
- Six Faculty Members, including the Bursar
- One Governing Body member
- One Alumni Representative
- Two members of the Students' Union
- Two External Nominees (from the academia)
- Coordinator – Senior faculty member.

6.5.2 Does the institution have an integrated framework for Quality assurance of the academic and administrative activities? If 'yes,' give the details on its operationalization.

The framework for Quality assurance is enshrined in the quality policy of the college. It identifies six core areas for quality assessment and development. They are:

- Improvement of academic standards: the constituted committees of the college supervise all academic activities related to them (admissions, timetables, attendance and internal assessment). The functioning of these committees is supervised by the Academic Excellence Committee and the Monitoring Committee. The Student-Faculty Committee in each department reviews the teaching-learning process. The Staff Council and the Staff Association deliberate and decide on academic issues. Workshops and seminars are organised both at the department and college level, which contribute to the academic excellence of the students and the faculty.

- Upgrading institutional infrastructure: the maintenance and expansion of the college infrastructure comes under the purview of the Building Committee and Development Fund Committee. The necessary expenditure is managed by the Finance and Purchase Committee. An additional floor has been constructed with nine new classrooms as part of the main building. Construction of the Girls' Hostel is underway. The canteen has also been recently renovated. The Library has been completely automated and one of the computer laboratories and the HDFE (FCW) laboratory has also been renovated. The ICT Committee manages IT issues in the college. Timetables and allocation of examination duties are done through software designed by the faculty and staff of the college.

- Maintaining transparency: through the process of monitoring and documentation of all college activities, transparency is ensured at various levels. Detailed information about courses, rules and regulations is provided on the college website, the Prospectus and the Annual Report. Another example of transparency is the Admission Committee, which is responsible for taking all decisions regarding admissions collectively, thereby doing away with any possibility of nepotism or undue influence in the admission process. The centralised and online admission procedure for 2016-17 has also made the process more transparent.

- Engagement with stakeholders: the college encourages the inclusion and participation of all its constituencies like the faculty, the administrative staff to develop a decentralised and democratic manner of functioning. Continuous review of all the institutional processes by the stakeholders ensures a system of checks and balances. Feedback and periodic appraisal also contribute to the development of quality assurance.

- Engagement with society and environment: the societies of the college like NSS, EOC, WDC, the Gandhi Study Circle not only sensitise the students but also serve the interests of people belonging to the economically disadvantaged sections and with physical disabilities through their activities and programmes. For instance, the college computer laboratory served as a resource centre for the students of the locality, providing them with IT facilities required for the admission process. The college was the first campus in the University of Delhi to install a water-harvesting system that resulted in raising the water table of the area by two meters. It won the Chief Minister's Award in 2006 for the rain water harvesting system. The college has recently installed solar panels for generating clean electricity. These measures are a few examples of Best Practices that the college undertakes to ensure quality assurance. For detailed information please refer to 7.1.2 and 7.3.1.

- Professional interaction: the college has an active Placement Cell which facilitates interaction with the industry to provide employment opportunities to the students. A counsellor on call is also available to the students. The college also regularly invites experts and resource persons to interact with the students and the staff to upgrade their knowledge and skills.

6.5.3. Does the institution provide training to its staff for effective implementation of the Quality assurance procedures? If 'yes', give details enumerating its impact.
Quality assurance is an inherent part of the institution's functioning, and is exemplified in the roles of the management, the staff and the students.

The college plans to organise seminars/workshops on the subject of quality assurance for the staff. Besides these programmes, the non-teaching staff constantly undergoes training programmes organised both at the college and the University level. The details of these programmes are given below:

The constant effort to upgrade the technical skills of the faculty and staff have helped in improving the process of admissions, examinations and internal assessment.

6.5.4 Does the institution undertake Academic Audit or other external review of the academic provisions? If 'yes' how are the outcomes used to improve the institutional activities?

According to the norms of the university, to which JDMC is affiliated, the college has not formally undertaken any Academic Audit or external review of the academic provisions. However, the college has in place its own mechanisms which continuously examine and scrutinise its academic functioning.

- The academic achievements of the faculty and the students are highlighted in the College Website and the Annual Report, which is subsequently forwarded to the University. Remarkable achievements of the students, like University positions, are communicated to the Governing Body.
• The Principal conducts periodic meetings with all the departments to discuss the results and other academic issues.

• Every department, through regular meetings, examines the functioning of all its activities like regular holding of classes and tutorials, distribution of papers, mid-semester examinations, internal assessment, attendance, projects and extra-curricular activities. Each department also has a Faculty-Student Committee, which meets every month to discuss issues related to the department.

• The Monitoring Committee reviews the timely completion of all academic work of the college like internal assessment.

• The Academic Excellence Committee monitors research projects, seminars and conferences.

• The Library Committee and Purchase Committee upgrade and expand academic and infrastructural resources to develop the academic standards of the college.

• Feedback generated through the Online Student Feedback is also used to review the academic functioning of the college.

6.5.5  How are the internal quality assurance mechanisms aligned with the requirements of the relevant external quality assurance agencies/regulatory authorities?

The college has formulated its internal quality assurance mechanisms in complete consonance with the requirements of the external quality assurance agencies and regulatory authorities like the National Policy of Higher Education, GOI, the Ministry of Human Resource Development (MHRD)/University Grants Commission (UGC) and the National Assessment and Accreditation Council (NAAC). Further, the composition of the IQAC of the college is as per the guidelines of the NAAC.

• The college follows the regulations and the ordinances of the University of Delhi in matters like the calendar, and academic and co-curricular activities.

• The college, through its IQAC, has initiated concrete programmes to ensure quality assurance in its internal functioning like student feedback, Faculty-Student Committees, remedial classes and contact periods.

• The appraisal of the non-teaching staff of the college is in accordance with the appraisal procedure of the University of Delhi, through the usage of the standardised APAR form.

6.5.6  What institutional mechanisms are in place to continuously review the teaching learning process? Give details of its structure, methodologies of operations and outcome?

The college has a well-structured system of mechanisms that continuously monitor the teaching-learning process:

• The Governing Body takes the major decisions related to the academic functioning like the introduction of new courses, providing facilities like research room, upgrading laboratories and the library.

• The Principal regularly meets each department/teacher-in-charge to discuss the progress and problems of the department.
• The Staff Council and the Staff Association serve as a platform for the faculty to engage on academic issues.

• The department follows the structural parameters for review of student performance through examinations, tutorials, home assignments, projects, presentations, workload allocation, faculty recruitment, department meetings and parent-teacher meetings. There are informal procedures to review staff performance, like department meetings and analysis of examination results. Each department has a Faculty-Student Committee which is convened every month to confer on issues related to the department. It is composed of four teacher representatives (rotated every two years) and two student representatives from each year (rotated every semester).

• Remedial classes and contact periods for students have also been restarted to supplement regular teaching.

• The Academic Excellence Committee, which consists of one teacher representative from each department, monitors and guides the academic activities of the faculty and students. It focuses on three core aspects—research projects, journals and publications and discussion forums. The Monitoring Committee also supervises the process of internal assessment in the college.

• The IQAC regularly meets to scrutinise the teaching-learning methodologies adopted in the college, the resultant academic performance as well as to devise newer strategies to qualitatively improve the teaching-learning process.

• The college has designed an Online Student Feedback Form which seeks information on teaching-learning, among other issues.

• The college organises talks, conferences and seminars to contribute to the teaching-learning process.

• Information related to academic activities of the college is disseminated through the Website, the Prospectus and the Annual Report.

• The college has a long tradition of collaborating with premier institutions, both national and international, to connect the college academically with the outer world. A few of them are the Kinnaird College, Lahore (Pakistan), University of Sunderland (UK), the University of Central Florida (USA), Cleveland Institute of Technology (USA), the British High Commission, the British Council, the Embassy of the United States, the Netherlands Embassy, the Japan Society for the Promotion of Sciences (JSPS) and Indian Council for Social Sciences Research (ICSSR).

6.5.7 How does the institution communicate its quality assurance policies, mechanisms and outcome to the various internal and external stakeholders?

The college regularly relates its quality policies, mechanisms and outcomes to various internal and external stakeholders through various modes of communication.

• The Governing Body is regularly apprised of all major developments and activities in the college.

• The college prospectus gives information about all relevant aspects and activities of the college to all students who seek admission.
The college website not only provides information about the subjects offered to the students, but also the information about attendance, curricular and extra-curricular activities, various societies as well as specific information such as notices, appointments and tenders.

The Annual Report of the college highlights the achievements of the students, the faculty, and the societies. The report is also sent to the University of Delhi.

The Orientation programme is held to welcome and introduce the 1st year students and their parents to the units of the college and their functioning.

Parents and guardians are invited to the Orientation Day and the Annual Day to apprise them about the college rules and regulations, its distinctive qualities and the performance of the students. Some departments also conduct parent-teacher meetings to address issues like student attendance and performance.

The notice boards of the college are the primary instruments through which information is communicated to the students and the staff.

Furthermore, the Staff Council and Association meetings address the issues concerning the faculty and the students of the college. It is through these channels that the various quality assurance policies, mechanisms and outcomes are circulated among the stakeholders of the college.

The college has an Alumni Association, which facilitates interaction between the present and past members of the college, and organises an Alumni Meet every year.

A strong network of communication exists between the various constituents of the college through the use of electronic media like the college website, email groups and messenger services.

The composition of the IQAC of the college is in accordance with the guidelines of NAAC, which ensures representation of all the stakeholders, facilitating the communication of all major decisions and activities of the IQAC.

Any other relevant information regarding Governance, Leadership and Management which the college would like to include.

The college is inspired by its founder, Shri Brij Krishan Chandiwala and his lifelong dedication to Gandhian ethics and ideals. It is these ideals that guided his choice of the present site for the establishment of the college because the present location seemed more egalitarian, in comparison to the other, more elite, options. Gandhian philosophy forms an integral part of the college's vision and approach to imparting education to women across the country, who hail from diverse social backgrounds.

In its pursuit of imparting higher education and excellence, the college has always focussed on greater engagement with the society and community. The college is especially cognizant of the needs of those who are marginalised- physically, socially and economically, thereby ensuring social justice and equity. The college can boast of being one of the most disabled-friendly campuses in the University.

The college campus is located in the Central Delhi's Ridge area which offers a scenic and bio-diverse space amidst the forests and the Aravallis. The campus is a green, tobacco-free zone with lush gardens which are maintained through conscious eco-friendly initiatives. The college is the first in the University of Delhi to install a rain-water harvesting system, for which it received the Delhi Chief Minister's Award in 2006. The college has also installed solar electricity panels to generate clean power.

Renowned statesmen and distinguished academics have always been part of the top management of the college. The institution has been a recipient of the knowledge and experience of these personalities. Sunita Narain, noted writer and environmentalist, currently the Director-General of the Centre for Science and Environment (CSE); Director of Society for Environmental Communications; recipient of honours like Padma Shri (2005) and World Water Prize for work on rainwater harvesting, was part of the Governing Body. The present Chairperson of the Governing Body is Mr. T N Chaturvedi, the former Governor of Karnataka and Kerala, former Member of Parliament (Rajya Sabha) and former Comptroller and Auditor General (CAG) of India. Dr. Aruna Chakravarti, a noted writer, translator and Sahitya Akademi Award (1996) recipient, was the former Principal of the college. Dr Indu Anand, former Principal, was a recipient of the Mahila Shiromani Award and the Indira Gandhi Priyadarshini Award for her contribution in the field of women’s empowerment and education. Dr Anuradha Anand, the former Principal (Officiating), was awardee of the 31st S. Radhakrishnan Memorial National Eminent Teacher Award. Dr. Swati Pal, the present Principal (Officiating), is the first Asian to be awarded the prestigious John McGrath Award for Theatre Studies by the University of Edinburgh.

The faculty and students of the institution have excelled in all walks of life. Dr. Kiran Datar, former faculty, Department of History of the college, was appointed the Principal of Miranda House, University of Delhi. Thereafter, she served as the Dean of Colleges and the Vice Chancellor (Officiating) of the University of Delhi; Advisor, National Knowledge Commission and Member of the Advisory Committee to set up the B. R. Ambedkar University. Mrs. Amrit Bose, former faculty, Department of Physical Education, served as the Secretary General, Indian Women's Hockey Federation, 1984-88 and 1994-2008; Joint Secretary, Indian Olympic Association; Tournament Director of Asian Games, Busan (Korea) and Doha (Qatar), Commonwealth Games, Malaysia and Asian Games, Bangkok. She is the first International Woman Umpire from India. Students have also brought laurels to the college by representing the country in the women's handball tournaments in the Asian Games held at Guangzhou, China in 2010.

To encourage the development of women's sports, the college has offered its sports grounds and facilities to several football, hockey and volleyball federations and associations. The first National Games Women's Hockey competition was held in the college sports grounds. It also served as the camp for the Indian Hockey Team in 1982. The grounds were the official practice venue for the participating women's hockey teams of the Asian Games during that period. Presently, the college offers its sports grounds, free of charge, to Delhi Soccer Association, University of Delhi; various state women's teams and the Indian men's Football team for training and trials of national and international tournaments. The sports facilities are also extended, free of charge, to the neighbouring government-run schools to assist them in their sports activities.

On the Golden Jubilee Year (2008-09), the college was proud to host the former President of the country, Dr A. P. J. Abdul Kalam Azad as the Chief Guest for the Teachers' Day celebrations.

One of the most distinguished visitors of the college in recent times is Rt. Hon. David Cameron, former Prime Minister of the United Kingdom. He visited the college in 2013 with a team of British parliamentarians and Vice Chancellors of universities of the United Kingdom. The focus of the visit was on women’s empowerment through education, especially through a partnership between the college and institutions of higher education in the United Kingdom. Prime Minister Cameron highly appreciated the college gardens and selected the front-garden for his interaction with the Indian press in New Delhi. Hindi film industry actor, Mr. Aamir Khan, then UNICEF brand ambassador of child nutrition, also accompanied him to raise awareness about malnutrition in the country.

Though Gandhian in its beliefs, the institution strives to strike a balance between traditional values and a modern outlook in its endeavour to educate and empower women to become responsible citizens of a globalised world.
CRITERION VII

INNOVATIONS AND BEST PRACTICES
7.1 Environment Consciousness

7.1.1 Does the Institute conduct a Green Audit of its campus and facilities?

The college is planning to initiate a full-fledged green audit of the campus in the near future. However, in keeping with our professed aim to adopt environment friendly policies, we invited Ms. Padmavati Dwivedi of the NGO 'Compassionate Living' to initiate the annual Tree Census of the campus. We have consciously adopted eco-friendly practices like rain-water harvesting, using solar power, recycling paper and waste management in the course of the last decade to accomplish this aim.

7.1.2 What are the initiatives taken by the college to make the campus eco-friendly?

As our campus is located in the Ridge area of Delhi, we are particularly sensitive to the need to maintain the ecological balance of this vulnerable region. We have taken pains to conserve the strip of urban forest in front of our college, which is a notable feature of our college environment.

We have been harvesting rain water for the past decade, which has resulted in the increase of the water table in the area. We have practiced recycling for many years and the college is a tobacco free zone. JDMC has also initiated waste management and solar power generation in the campus since last year.

Avani, the environment club of the college, is a proof of the college's commitment to the environment. Many of the eco-friendly activities of the college are spearheaded by this group.

- Energy conservation:

  The college had switched to CFL lights almost a decade ago in an attempt to conserve energy. Now we are planning to use LED lights, as they are arguably more economical in their usage of electricity as well as less harmful to the environment.

- Use of renewable energy

  Using solar energy:

  We introduced the use and generation of solar power on a larger scale in our campus in 2016. The college was already using solar lights to illuminate the road near the faculty residential area of the campus.

  To continue the process of making our campus green, we have recently installed a Rooftop Solar Power Plant of 58.90 kWp capacity with the help of Azure Power India Private Limited. The generated solar power will be provided to the college at the rate of Rs. 5.80 / kWh for 25 years, which is going to be significantly more economical and safer for the environment. This is likely to cut our dependence on conventional sources of energy almost by half annually (please see the table provided below):
The estimated production of energy through the use of these solar panels in the next twenty five years is given in the table below. The yearly Generation Units are:

• Water harvesting

Rainwater Harvesting:

JDMC was among the first colleges in Delhi to start rainwater harvesting. Our college received the second prize in Chief Minister’s Best Rain Water Harvesters Award in 2006 in the institutional category. The acknowledgement of our environment friendly practices in an all India competition, where 24 institutions were short-listed, was indeed an honour for the college.

In May 2002, before we started this programme, the water level in the areas around the college premises was 35.8 m below ground level (bgl). After implementing the rainwater harvesting system on the campus, water levels rose by 10 meters within a year, even during the peak summer months.

• Check Dam Construction :

Not Aplicable

• Efforts for Carbon neutrality:

The college has been recycling paper for almost a decade with the help of NGO SCOPEPLUS from 2007. We exchange waste paper with them three times a year and manage to give them approximately 800 kilos of paper annually. We also help them promote goods made by the inmates of Tihar Jail in our college as an example of our engagement with the society at large.
Janki Devi Memorial College was declared one of the winners of Earth Day Network’s #SayNoToPlasticBags Campaign, held in India to commemorate the 46th Anniversary of Earth Day (April 22nd, 2016) by the Earth Day Network, a well-known international environmental organisation. One of our students, Advaita Parashar, B.A. (Hons.) Sociology IIIrd Year, was presented a certificate and a letter of commendation for her role in spreading awareness about the environmental hazards posed by plastic material. (Certificate and letter of appreciation attached)

Furthermore, in order to sensitise our students and involve them in recycling waste matter more actively, Avani, the environment club of the college, began a Clay Modelling Project in 2014, which received enthusiastic response from the students. One of the aims of this workshop was to combine clay with recycled material to create beautiful objects of art, which satisfies the creative urge of the students while reducing our carbon footprint and teaching them social responsibility.

Another evidence of our deep engagement with environment issues is the participation of our NSS students in the TERI LEADearthSHIP launched on 14th September, 2015, at India Habitat centre. One of our students, Niharika Sharma, B.A. (Hons.) Philosophy IIIrd Year, has been selected for the LEADearthSHIP Fellowship. Under this programme, students are mentored by TERI and GENPACT for a year. The fellowship focuses on leadership and sustainability. Her project is titled Directing Discourse and the aim of the project is to refocus on Delhi’s rich heritage.

Many of our students also participated actively in the Swachchta Abhiyan, a cleanliness campaign that was held in the college in the month of October 2015, in which more than 50 student volunteers participated. Under the Swachhta Pahkwa (16th August to 1st September 2016), our NSS volunteers cleaned the entire college. They also went to each classroom to create awareness among the students about cleanliness. In addition to this, they cleaned the garden adjacent to our college. As a part of community service, the students went to Arya Mahila Ashram, an old age home for women, and cleaned their prayer hall. To create awareness among the public and the concerned authorities, the students marched till Shankar Road.

Plantation

JDMC has the unique privilege of being located on the Delhi Ridge area, which makes us particularly aware of our responsibility to protect this ecologically fragile space from threats posed by urbanisation. To sensitise our students to the issues of environment, the environment club, Avani, takes its members for nature walks to acquaint them with the flora and fauna of this part of Delhi.

JDMC is also famous for its green ambience and the College has won prizes for its gardens. Apart from the lawns, we have a cactus garden and herb garden that not only add to the beauty of the campus but also educate students about the health benefits of various herbs. The lush green campus contributes to the pleasant atmosphere of the College and helps in sensitizing the students to the need to conserve one’s environment.

JDMC is unique in having successfully conserved a strip of urban forest in front of our college. Very few institutions have been able to sustain such ecosystems while facing the pressure of urban sprawl. We have tried to protect this urban forest by safeguarding it from encroachments and being turned into a dumping ground for garbage from neighbouring residential areas.

Similarly on the other side of the College gate, we have a herb garden that is maintained by the Horticulture Department of MCD.

- Hazardous waste management:

JDMC is a Humanities, Social Sciences and Commerce college and does not teach pure sciences. As a result, we do not have laboratories where hazardous material may be used and produced. But we are very conscious of the problems posed by the urban waste and therefore, have already initiated the process of waste management.

Waste Management:

The College practices waste management by segregating biodegradable waste from non-biodegradable waste for the past three years. But to further our engagement with eco-friendly activities, the College has plans to deal with its organic waste in order to further reduce the problem of waste management in the campus.

- E-waste management

The College recycles e-waste by exchanging old batteries for new. We plan to take care of the e-waste management problem on a larger scale in the near future.

7.2 Innovations

7.2.1 Give details of innovations introduced during the last four years which have created a positive impact on the functioning of the college.

With the introduction of significant changes in higher education in the shape of the Semester system (2012) and Four Year Graduate Programme (FYUP) (2013) and Choice Based Credit System (CBCS) (2015) in the past four years by the University of Delhi, of which our college is a constituent, the pace of academic innovations has also accelerated. Even before this, apart from taking pains to make our college student friendly, we introduced many innovations in modes of pedagogy and evaluation to make the process of transference of knowledge to students and the functioning of the college more effective by constantly reviewing and modifying its operations.

Using Technology

Students, faculty and staff are encouraged to use technology for easy dissemination of information. JDMC has provided Wi-Fi facility in the campus, along with three computer labs with 130 computers. Important information like class time tables, monthly attendance, vacancies/appointments and extra- and co-curricular events is uploaded on the College website; this simplifies access to relevant information for all stakeholders.

In fact, time-table making and creation of invigilation lists for semester exams have also been computerised with the use of software created specifically for this purpose by members of our faculty.

This year, the college also introduced online election process for the student elections and the results have been exceptionally satisfactory. The college not only managed to hold the elections smoothly and was able to declare the results almost instantly; a lot of paper and time wastage was avoided.

Furthermore, the students and faculty also use text messaging applications to exchange information for an easy, quick and extensive propagation of information. We also encourage students and faculty to use new technologies in classroom by providing 25 ICT enabled class rooms in addition to ICT enabled Seminar Room, Committee Room and library and three fully equipped computer labs. To further the use of technology in education, the University had also given free laptop computers to all the first year students when the FYUP was introduced.

High speed internet connection provided by the college simplifies access to the web based resources further. It facilitates an extensive use of computers and OHPs in the form of power... point presentations in class, especially when the subject is information dense and the class is large. For instance, the English department, uses power point presentations to teach students about background topics like the nature and features of the western Epics and Rasa Theory that derives from the Natyashastra for the ‘Classical Literature in Translation’ paper for students of B.A. (Hons.) English. We expose our students to the cinematic recreations of literary texts as a matter of routine; a case in point would be the screening of Oliver Twist and The Merchant of Venice, which are prescribed as texts for the students of English Discipline, B.A. Programme.

To facilitate the usage of technology by all segments of the college population, the College arranged ICT workshops for the faculty in collaboration with Microsoft in 2010-11 to upgrade the computer skills of the staff and faculty.

The College also organised another full day ICT workshop on 15th June, 2016 to train and upgrade the skills of our non-teaching staff.

Innovative pedagogy

The faculty of the College strongly believes that learning is not restricted just to classrooms. Consequently, our students don’t just sit in classrooms attending lectures and use web resources. For us, the process of learning incorporates experiences to be garnered from the society at large. For instance, our students study literature not through the medium of the written text alone; they are encouraged to dramatise the texts that are a part of the syllabus. They are shown films, taken to see performances of dramas at the NSD and encouraged to stage Shakespeare’s plays in college and for competitions outside the college. Bardolators, the Shakespeare Society of the College, has been winning awards for enacting scenes from Shakespeare’s plays.

JDMC’s street theatre society, Anubhuti, too has been writing scripts and performing them at various venues to make the audience aware of social issues like female foeticide, dowry system and violence against women. Such activities not only help students exercise their creativity, they also sensitise them to significant contemporary issues.

Similarly, Commerce students are given exposure to real life situations to make their educational experience practical and more relevant to the situations that they are likely to face professionally.

Students of Family and Child Welfare (renamed Human Development and Family Empowerment) are given practical training of dealing with children. Apart from playschools, students are taken to NGOs dealing with abandoned and orphaned children to sensitise them to the psychological trauma faced by these children and how to deal with such situations.

In JDMC, we try to give students the most effective education within the parameters of the curriculum created by the university. A prime example of this is the Application Course in Mass Communication that is taught to students of B.A. (Prog.) IIIrd Year. Apart from teaching the theoretical aspects of the subject, we give students hands-on experience that is the key component of an ‘Application’ course. Consequently, students actually bring out a newspaper once every year on the college cultural festival as a part of their curriculum, although it is not a requirement of the syllabus.

We are also unique in having produced multiple volumes of Disha, the NSS magazine, to make students aware of social issues and to encourage them to engage actively in extension activities.

Using traditional modes of Pedagogy Efficiently

The faculty of this College believes that practice does indeed perfect one’s skills. Therefore, we emphasise writing in tutorial classes and have had a well-established tradition of holding in-house exams for the past two decades.
The College also has provision for remedial classes for students who are in danger of dropping out. Remedial classes are held for the required courses in the last one month of the semester.

We have contact periods during which students can get in touch with faculty to seek guidance about professional as well as curricular matters.

Financial Support for Students

According to Government of India regulations, all reserved category students who fulfil the criteria are given scholarships and free books. However, we work hard to provide financial support to students from economically weaker sections in the form of free-ships and fee concession and Students’ Aid Fund. We feel that these initiatives help us retain those students, who are in danger of dropping out of college due to paucity of funds, by helping them to complete their education (Refer to ‘Student Support and Progression’ Report for more details).

Although many scholarships/prizes have been instituted by the faculty and well-wishers of the college to support and encourage students in their curricular and co-curricular endeavours, many students in our college as first generation college-goers hailing from economically marginalised sections of society, need financial support. So, some faculty members of the college have been voluntarily subsidising the college fee of 10 to 12 students every year for the past four years in an attempt to support these students to continue their college education. In March 2016, the Krishna family instituted cash awards of Rs. 25,000/- each for the academic achievers in Commerce, Economics, English and Hindi Departments. The differently-abled students have also been awarded Rs. 20,000/- each as a tribute to Sh. Autar Krishna, who belonged to our Founder’s family.

To promote interaction among students, their families and the College, we encourage the parents of our students to come to college and interact with the faculty in the Parent-Teacher meetings that are organised for this purpose by some departments. The Sociology department in particular has been holding parent-teacher interactions for many years.

Transparent and Student / Employee Friendly Initiatives

The College has painstakingly made the admission procedure, appointment of faculty and staff, and in fact, the whole process of education more transparent and student-and employee-friendly by making relevant information accessible to the stakeholders through the College and University websites.

The College practices participatory decision making by including faculty, non-teaching staff and students in various decision making bodies. The Principal holds regular brainstorming sessions with the non-teaching staff to make the functioning of the college more transparent. Even before the University introduced centralised online registration to ensure transparent and corruption free admission, we ensured fair and merit based admissions by abiding strictly to the university norms and creating an admission committee consisting of representatives from all departments that took collective decisions, so that students are admitted purely on merit without any donations or nepotism.

Similarly, appointment of teachers is strictly on merit; we stringently follow the University and UGC guidelines to appoint faculty.

The College also takes pains to appreciate and acknowledge the achievements of the faculty members, staff and students on record as well as in various functions. The Founder’s Day, Teachers’ Day, Annual Day, Sports Day, LibFest and the annual cultural festival, Symphony, are organised to grant the students, staff and faculty an opportunity to felicitate and interact with each other and with participants from other colleges and universities.
The College believes in inclusive practices and encourages students, faculty and the non-teaching staff to contribute positively to the corporate life of the college. Student-Faculty committees have been set up in each department to serve this end.

One of the most popular inclusive practices that JDMC encourages amongst the students is a programme that allows us to appreciate the varied art forms of different regions of India. Dance and music in particular, depict the cultural ethos and values of that region and symbolize unity and diversity of Indian cultural heritage. To sensitise our students to the culture of the lesser known parts of India, the North-Eastern students’ society regularly performs the traditional dances of their natal states, which are greatly enjoyed by all members of the college.

Similarly, classical dances such as Odissi, Kathak, Bharatnatyam and Kuchipudi are blended with folk forms such as Garba, Dandiya, Chhau etc as well as contemporary forms of dance. Apart from hosting numerous performances throughout the year, the college annual festival, Symphony, hosts competitions for the young, talented dancers to come and perform in front of an enthusiastic audience.

The College encourages the creativity and talents of the differently-abled students by organising a special event for them during the cultural festival.

Seminars and conferences

Most departments of the College engage students in the process of active learning and scholarship through the departmental associations by organising seminars, paper presentations and workshops that have special panels for student paper presentations. Please refer to the Department Evaluative reports for details.

Study Tours and Programmes

The College regularly organizes study tours to museums and places of historical interest to enhance students' knowledge. The College grants freedom to students to organize activities of their choice. For instance, the ‘Film and Photography’ club was conceived in September 2013 because of the enthusiasm shown by the students. Over one hundred students joined the club. The idea behind the club was not only to watch movies, but to sensitise students to important social issues through the films and documentaries that are screened.

7.3 Best Practices

7.3.1 Elaborate on any two best practices in the given format at page no. 98, which have contributed to the achievement of the Institutional Objectives and/or contributed to the Quality improvement of the core activities of the college.

As an undergraduate constituent college of the University of Delhi, we have attempted to develop capability for initiating new practices as well as changing the existing ones in order to optimise our effectiveness and rationalize our actions and responsibilities in the larger social context. Since practice is the actual and conscious application of an idea because it serves a particular useful function, in the course of almost sixty years of existence, JDMC has established practices that have been adopted with a view to accomplish objectives efficiently. Some of them have become hallmark of excellence and have been perpetuated thereafter. Obviously some became irrelevant with the changing times because what may be a good practice today might lose its relevance tomorrow. Good practices emerge out of institutional interaction and engagement with internal and external stakeholders as well as the larger social context. The effectiveness of good practices depends upon their sustainability which arises out of the physical, financial and intellectual resources of the institution and its representatives. As a result, it takes sustained hard work to implement or erase these practices.

Best Practice I: Adoption of Innovative, Application-Oriented Pedagogies and Student Friendly Initiatives leading to Better Employment Opportunities for our students

We believe that the primary purpose of an institute of higher learning is to educate its students not only in theoretical terms but to also equip them to deal successfully with the increasingly complex life in the contemporary society in a responsible and ethical manner. With a good education, students should not only get employment commensurate with their abilities but they should also have the values and life skills that will help them to function productively in a socially, economically, ethnically and religiously diverse global society. So, we pay special attention to make our students competent in dealing with the challenges of a global society by learning to be intellectually receptive, while being ethical and sensitive to the needs of different sections of society.

In keeping with our Gandhian beliefs, the mission of the college is to provide young women of all classes, ethnic groups and faiths an inclusive education that teaches them to be responsible citizens in addition to empowering them to be economically self-sufficient. So, our best practices include innovative pedagogies and student-friendly initiatives that make education accessible to all students regardless of their affiliations and give them well-grounded theoretical knowledge and values, along with practical, hands-on training that stimulates them intellectually and simultaneously makes them more employable.

In addition to the conventional methods of pedagogy consisting of lectures, using the blackboard and dialogue with students, the faculty and students use new technologies like computers, OHPs etc. We use power point presentations to teach large groups, in addition to interactive modes like group discussions, and presentations to make the learning process engaging for the students.

Students are also encouraged to create projects using new technologies. We have had audio-visual projects and movies made by students on a range of topics for many subjects. As a result, our students have written projects on juvenile crime, drug abuse, water conservation, violence against women for Mass Communications, in addition to surveys of jhuggi clusters for their Foundation Courses. Such projects aid study and encourage a sense of social responsibility. Our NSS students visit old age homes to learn about the issues of aging, while the students of FCW visit orphanages to study issues of childhood.

Students are consistently encouraged to pursue cross-cultural and inter-disciplinary studies, which is also one of the highlights of the newly introduced CBCS. Teachers inculcate an interest in the visual arts by locating texts in the larger context of movements in art (as for example in the Renaissance, Eighteenth-century studies and Modernism). Examples from popular culture media are also used and attention is drawn to useful lectures and films available on sites like TED EX and youtube.

Promoting creative thinking

In an attempt to give students a more diverse experience of engagement with social issues and articulating their creativity through writing, the College has been bringing out a magazine, Janki annually. The magazine is tri-lingual (English, Hindi, and Sanskrit) and has provided a platform for self-expression to the students since its inception. The articles range from personal reflections, to discussions and debates on international affairs, labour problems, questions on sexuality to engaged readings of books and films.
Apart from English and Hindi articles, the unique feature of this magazine is the Sanskrit section. The Sanskrit section was introduced for the first time in 1969 and was re-introduced in 2013-14. Since we believe in engaging the students’ interest in topical issues, the last three years, for instance, saw Janki celebrating 100 years of Delhi (2011-12); 100 years of Indian cinema (2012-13); and the cultural diversity of India (2013-14). This makes the College magazine more relevant and it is not surprising that Janki continues to be a prominent part of the cultural life of the College as it provides a foothold for a prismatic presentation of emotions that young people experience. The poems, short stories and even the sketches that grace the pages of Janki are a true reflection of the creative talents of the young minds of the college. Furthermore, students who want to pursue journalism get some valuable experience of writing and editing while working on and for the magazine. For the other students, the magazine becomes an important medium of learning life lessons in harnessing their creativity as well as working as a team. In fact, many departments have their own magazines to encourage students to think creatively about their subjects (Refer to Departmental Evaluative reports for details).

Another unique and innovative practice of the college that has been extremely successful is giving B.A. (Prog.) students the hands-on experience of writing, editing and formatting a newspaper for the Application course in Mass Communications. Students pursuing this course in English medium bring out a newspaper covering the college cultural festival entirely on their own. Starting from the selection of the name of their newspaper to collecting information, interviewing the participants and organisers, writing reports, taking pictures, editing and formatting the newspaper to getting it printed, all these activities are performed by the students. The entire responsibility and credit for this endeavour lies with students; the faculty merely guides them as and when required, while the college funds the printing of the newspaper. Students consider this to be a highly empowering experience as it acquaints them with their, so far, unexplored talents.

Results visible in our placement statistics

Over the past few years, the College has worked actively to create awareness about the need for financial autonomy among women, which is one of the guiding principles of our college. To enable our women students to carve out an independent life for themselves, the Career Opportunity / Placement Cell of the College was established in the year 2005. The objective of this Cell was to look out for the best job opportunities to make our students economically independent.

The Cell organises sessions on counseling, employability, recruitment drives, resume writing, personality development to enhance the employability of the students. The emphasis is not only on finding employment, but also on development of entrepreneurial skills for career advancement along with personal growth. Entrepreneurial training, initiatives and business ideas are the prime focus of placement activities as well as the WEST programme that aimed, in collaboration with the Netherlands Embassy and ECORYS, to encourage the entrepreneurial skills of our students. Campus recruitment by prominent companies and corporate giants has been facilitated by the Career Opportunity Cell of the college.

Please refer to the attached tables for details about the companies that come for recruitment and the number of students who were recruited via our Career Opportunity Cell in the past 5 years.

Best Practice 2: Creation of a student friendly and safe campus for the Differently-abled students and students from other states and faiths

The College believes that we must provide the best possible education through student-and employee-friendly initiatives to live up to the egalitarian principles of Gandhiji that were espoused by our Founder. To fulfil our duty to Bhaiji’s beliefs, we are particularly sensitive to the needs of our differently-abled students. We have always been a campus known for welcoming students from all sections of the society. For decades, students from Andha Kanya Vidyalaya, Rajender Nagar, used to come to our college to get their college degrees. We had a Braille library for these students when very few colleges offered such facilities. But when this school for the visually-challenged students moved to a different campus, there was a drop in student enrolment from this category of students.

However, our Equal Opportunity Cell worked hard to communicate with the students who used to register in the central cell at the University earlier for admission to undergraduate courses under this category. JDMC’s well established reputation for its sensitive handling of the problems of the differently-abled students has encouraged many of them to enrol here.

Samarthya, an NGO working for the rights of the disabled, rated JDMC as the most disabled-friendly college in Delhi on 23rd October, 2007, when its directors came to inaugurate the ramps specially constructed in JDMC for the differently-abled students to access the college with ease. Canara Bank located at JDMC also provided two wheel chairs for the orthopedically-challenged students. At any given time, we have about 15 visually-challenged, and sometimes, orthopedically-challenged, students enrolled in the College. We encourage our differently-abled students in every possible way and take pains to make them feel an important part of the larger community.

The EOC and the NSS collaborate in providing the differently-abled students with all possible help and guidance whether it involves recording texts or taking them to the University library.

JDMC is perhaps the only college in the University of Delhi and its constituent colleges to provide free meals and scholarships to students with disabilities.

Extension facilities
EOC and Women’s Development Cell (WDC) regularly organize sensitisation workshops on disabilities and gender for students and staff in collaboration with organizations like Sanjeevani India, Amarjyoti Charitable Trust and SCORE Foundation.

One month self-defense workshop was organised last year for the differently-abled students. They were trained by Mr. Mohammed Kaish, a black belt in Judo, in basic practices of self defense.

The students were taken for Raahgiri that had been organised specially for persons with disabilities at Connaught Place by Dr. Sudnya N. Kulkarni and Dr. Nivedita Sharma. They participated in various activities like cycling, running, playing drums and singing.

Another example of JDMC’s attempt to be an inclusive campus is our initiative to host an event for students with disabilities as a part of its Annual Cultural Festival SYMPHONY, which was a first for a Delhi University college.

We are a college dedicated to Mahatma Gandhi’s philosophy that women’s empowerment is possible only through education and employment. Therefore, raising the social consciousness of the students is of special importance to us. In keeping with that belief, the NSS cell of JDMC has been actively involved in generating awareness on pressing social issues and inculcating humanitarian values among our students. The NSS cell and WDC of JDMC have been consistently working on raising the general awareness about issues of gender, environment, substance abuse, road safety, along with contributing to uplift the weaker sections of the society. The cells organise talks, seminars and visits to various NGOs to create awareness amongst students.

A sensitisation workshop in collaboration with Samvedna was held on 3rd March, 2016 to create awareness about disabilities and the problems faced by the differently-abled people.

Given our inclusive culture, we welcome students of different backgrounds, regions, faiths and ethnicity in the College. In order to make the students from the North-Eastern parts of the country feel at home in the environs of the college, we have formed an organization that gives them emotional and educational support, as and when required. We have faculty members belonging to this region to guide the new students and ease them into the corporate life of the campus.

As a significant number of our students come from outside Delhi, especially Assam, Mizoram, Meghalaya, Nagaland and Manipur, we want our students belonging to various parts of the country to be sensitive to each other’s belief systems. We also expect the local students to be receptive to and appreciative of the diversity of India’s culture and states. In order to accomplish this, students from the North-Eastern regions organise programmes in which they perform traditional dances to acquaint the larger student community with this vibrant region, which are hugely popular among our student community.

We firmly believe that education, including higher education, should be available to every individual and that no one should be denied the opportunity to pursue it because of social or financial reasons. Therefore, we are very sensitive to the needs of students hailing from the Old Delhi who are a significant presence in our community, many of whom come from traditional families and are first generation college learners. We take pains to make them feel comfortable in the campus and welcome interaction with their families. This gives their families confidence in the well being of their wards while they are in the college premises and encourages other families from that area to send their daughters to pursue higher education.

As mentioned above, WDC is another organization of JDMC which is deeply involved in issues of women’s empowerment at various levels. The primary focus of WDC is to work towards empowering not just our women students, but all women. To accomplish this aim, WDC has given vocational training to the wives and daughters of the class IV employees of the College, so that they can be economically self sufficient.

In order to build our students’ confidence in their ability to take care of themselves under adverse circumstances, WDC organizes self-defense training programmes in collaboration with Delhi Police from time to time. The Cell also arranges legal literacy workshops and lectures to make them aware of their constitutional rights.

In order to fulfill its responsibilities as a good employer, the college has also provided a child care center for the children of faculty members for the past four years.

This year, the College provided computer and technical support to people of nearby localities during admission time, even though our college was not officially assigned as a centre for online admission to University of Delhi. Many students and their families dropped by every day not just to avail themselves of the facilities provided by the College but also to familiarize themselves with the College and its infrastructure. We aim to continue our engagement with our neighbours in future by interacting more actively with them.
One of the most significant extension activities of JDMC is the Non-Collegiate Women’s Education Board (NCWEB), which started in 1987. Currently, more than 1000 women students are studying B. Com and B.A. (Prog.) courses under the auspices of NCWEB. At the time of its inception, this programme was popular primarily among students with less percentage because of which they were not able get admission in regular courses. However, the scenario has changed now and taking admission in Non-Collegiate courses is becoming increasingly competitive every year. In fact, last year more than 12 students of NCWEB-JDMC scored 100% marks in different subjects. With improving academic performance, their placement, especially in the fields of education and IT, is also improving steadily.

We can affirm that the college has been successful in its professed aim to provide quality education to students of all sections, regions, and ethnicities because of its constant efforts to improve the educational experience of the students. The college plans to continue its quest for better practices to provide quality education to students from different regions, sections, classes and faiths.

33. Teaching methods adopted to improve student learning:
Our faculty tries to make teaching interactive and a two way process where students are encouraged to express their views or raise doubts. Apart from the traditional black board teaching, we follow contemporary methods of teaching by making use of latest technology; for example, PPT based presentations and Video/Audio based lectures etc. Besides, we try to give real life examples while explaining the concepts in order to help students relate the curriculum with the real life and apply the same when required. Other methods adopted are case study discussions, Games, Activities, etc.

34. Participation in Institutional Social Responsibility (ISR) and Extension activities:
Our Department is committed to social responsibility, a concept that includes social and environmental responsibility, ethics and sustainability. These dimensions are incorporated and integrated into our academic institution, in an interdisciplinary manner, aligned with our mission, identity and daily activities.

The faculty members of the department contribute to the corporate life of the institution by participating in various university and college level committees. These include Conduct and Evaluation of Examinations, Designing Syllabi etc., at the University level.

The Anti-Ragging Committee functions to prevent any unethical behaviour among the students, from the commencement of the academic session.

The department has an efficient and well-structured system of decentralized, transparent and democratized governance. Different committees for admissions, attendance, examinations, library are constituted at the departmental level. Conveners and members of the committees are given complete freedom to plan their activities.

The students of the Commerce department participated in “Training in self defense techniques” training camps organized by special police units for women and children in 2013 and 2014.

Research and Development: the faculty is encouraged to attend and organise seminars, conferences and workshops. Similarly, students are encouraged to participate in the same. They are also encouraged to submit projects to various funding agencies.

31. Number of students receiving financial assistance from college, university, government or other agencies:

Total number of students receiving financial assistance in the shape of fee refund and free books, regardless of their department affiliation, is 364.

32. Details on student enrichment programmes (special lectures/workshops/seminars) with external experts:

- The Department started a Creative Writing Club, “Iridescent” in 2015 to encourage students to come forth and hone their writing skills. It organised two creative writing competitions and a workshop for the students.
- A special workshop was organised on Legal Literacy for the students studying the Generic Elective Course–Contemporary India: Women and Empowerment with special reference to sensitising students about Acts against Domestic Violence and Sexual Harassment. This was conducted by the lawyer Ms. Gayatri Sharma.
- JDMC has a well established tradition of student enrichment. We are the only college in the University of Delhi to host a creative writing competition, known as Atul Krishna-Binodini Devi Creative Writing Competition for the past twelve years, in which hundreds of students participate. The participants are not just from our college, we have representation from other colleges of the University of Delhi as well as Jawaharlal Nehru University and Jamia Millia Islamia.
- The department has been bringing out the English section of the college magazine, Janki, for the past four decades, which provides students with an avenue to exercise their creative and editorial skills.
- The department also teaches Mass Communication to B.A (Prog.)IIIrd year and as a part of that course, students have been encouraged to bring out a newspaper every year.
- The department has organised a series of seminars and conferences over the years.
- We routinely invite eminent speakers to address our students.
- Films based on texts are shown regularly to the students
- Students are encouraged to participate in plays to enhance their appreciation of literary texts of eminent dramatists like Shakespeare; in addition to this, they are also taken to venues like NSD to enjoy live theatre.

33. Teaching methods adopted to improve student learning:

- In addition to the conventional methods of pedagogy consisting of lecturing, using the blackboard and dialogue with students, the department has consistently encouraged the use of new technologies like computers, OHPs etc.
- We use power point presentations to teach large groups, interactive modes like group discussions, and presentations.
- We ask the students to watch the online content and lectures prepared at ILLL, University of Delhi.
- Students of Mass Communication bring out a newspaper once a year.
• Students are also encouraged to create projects using new technologies. We have had Audio-visual projects and movies made by students on a range of topics.

• Students are encouraged to attend plays at NSD as well as participate in theatrical productions ranging from Shakespeare to street theatre, that are regularly organised in the college.

• Films based on the novels/plays that students study are also screened, followed by discussion sessions. For example, films based on many different versions of Shakespeare's Othello were screened and a comparative study was encouraged to explore the socio-cultural contexts as well as the dynamics of adapting texts.

• The English Department encourages its students to actively participate in the activities of the Women's Development Cell, NSS, Blood Donation camps, contributing to “Food for Hungry” programme to sensitise students about social issues. A tie up was done with Ganga Ram hospital to offer free medical counselling (by various departments including dentistry, ophthalmology and advice on diet and nutrition) to encourage an overall holistic approach. Lectures to spread awareness about a range of issues from HIV prevention to women's legal rights in India are held regularly.

• Our students have done surveys in jhuggi clusters for their Foundation Courses. Such projects aid their studies as well as encourage a sense of social responsibility.

• Students have also visited old age homes to learn about the issues of aging.

• Students are consistently encouraged to participate in cross-cultural and inter-disciplinary studies.

• Teachers inculcate an interest in the visual arts by locating texts in the larger context of movements in art (for example in Renaissance and Eighteenth-century studies). Examples from popular culture and media are also used and attention is drawn to any useful lectures and films available on sites like you-tube.

• Inter-disciplinary seminars are held regularly in collaboration with other departments of the college such as History and English, Sociology and English etc.

• Bardolators

  The students have been a part of the following in-house productions.

  • Shakespeare's Merry Women: For the Inter-collegiate Drama Competition organised by the Shakespeare Society of India, 2016.

- A performance by Asmita theatre group was organised in the college to depict the conditions of the domestic help in the metropolitan cities, 2009.
- Use of concepts and theories from Performance Studies to enhance students' understanding of semiotics and presentation skills. One example is Schechner’s method-acting strategy of rasa boxes, and Saraikela Chhau (dance form) to train the student members of Bardolators. Another example is the presentation of digitized Odissi performances of Sharon Lowen to B.A (Hons.) English IInd year students, which gave a multi-modal introduction to Classical Sanskrit drama and performance.

34. Participation in Institutional Social Responsibility (ISR) and Extension activities:

- The English Department Faculty has been involved in almost all the facets of the college. The members have spearheaded various committees. They have worked in their capacity as Staff Advisors to the Students’ Union, Convenors of College Prospectus, Annual Report, Janki (college magazine), N.C.C., Rhetorique (English Debate Club), Bardolators (Shakespeare Society), Euphonic (Western Music Society), Iridescent (English Creative Writing Club) Lumiere (Film Club), Nritya (Western Dance Society), Nupur (Indian Classical Dance Society), Women's Development Cell, Committee for Media and Publicity, Committee against Sexual Harassment and Discipline Committee. One of our faculty helped make a documentary on the college. One member is also the Convenor of B.A. (Prog.), the NAAC report and the college RTI Officer.
- The teachers are also involved in syllabus revision and paper setting at the University level. They have also contributed towards co-operative teaching in the University at the post-graduate level.
- The English Department most actively engages in college activities. The teachers are convenors and co-convenors of the Debating society, Film Society, Western Music, Drama, Quiz Society and have managed WDC, NCC and NSS.
- FYUP Committee: Dr. Jitender Gill was in charge for its implementation in the college.

• Our students have done surveys on jhuggi clusters for their Foundation Courses.

• Students have also visited old age homes to learn about the issues of aging.

• We are in active touch with the Crimes Against Women cell, and organise Self-Defence camps for girls. We network with NGOs like Jagori, AAG and Rahi on a regular basis.

• English Department teachers take an active interest in organising health camps (organised with a panel of Ganga Ram Hospital doctors) and blood donation camps, HIV awareness workshops (with inputs from army doctors), legal awareness workshops and debates on women's issues.

35. SWOC analysis of the department and Future plans:

Strengths:

• The most noticeable strength of this department is the faculty consisting of scholars with many different areas of specialisation ranging from Eighteenth century British literature, to European and Indian Classical literature, Indian literature, Performance studies, Shakespeare and Early Modern Studies, Victorian studies, Continental Philosophy, Visual Arts, Travel literature, Literary Theory, Partition Literature etc.

• The willingness to be innovative in pedagogy in an attempt to engage student interest is one of our strengths.

• The faculty is constantly upgrading its skills including software and technological skills. This year, the English Department successfully made the transition to digitizing attendance and internal assessment (evolving our own model to do so) and sharing it on the Dropbox.

• A desire to evolve in accordance with professional requirements stands us in good stead.

• Remedial classes are organised for students to enhance their Reading, Writing, Listening and Speaking (RWLS) skills.

Weaknesses:

• A large number of the senior faculty members have retired around the same time and we have not been able to appoint permanent faculty members in their place.

• There are too many students and not enough teaching faculty at present.
Opportunities:
- We would like more fellowships and sponsored research opportunities, given the calibre of the faculty.
- We would also benefit from greater library interconnectedness. For example, English teachers need to borrow books from the NSD, the Sahitya Akademi Library or the British Council Library. This process should be made easier.

Challenges:
- As higher education is increasingly focussed on research, we need to have better facilities and infrastructure to encourage competent research practices.
- At present the admission process is less conducive to humanities students. An entrance test will support the bright students who may not have scored well.
- We need to organize more placements for students from humanities streams.
- A system to provide financial support to the students from the underprivileged backgrounds.

Future plans:
- The Department plans to encourage Research activities for the students and the faculty.
- In future, we intend to take on social responsibility projects that will involve the students and faculty in a cohesive manner to encourage students to contribute in a constructive manner to society.
- Students must be equipped with professional skill-sets to ensure better employability. In this regard, add-on courses that enhance their skills can be introduced.

35. SWOC analysis of the department and Future plans:

   Strengths:
   1. All First Year students of the college study Environmental Science.
   2. Students from various disciplines study this paper, which makes teaching a more interesting and challenging experience.
Weaknesses:

1. The department has recently come into existence and there is no prior tradition and experience to guide the faculty.
2. This paper is taught only for one semester, which is a very short time to inculcate in students a deep concern for the natural environment and its value.

Opportunities:

1. Concern for our environment is an enormously challenging and important task. We can use these classes to sensitise the students to the global environmental concerns.
2. Environmental Science can give a new direction to the students' career where they can choose to work with an interdisciplinary sense of exploration in a variety of fields, thereby enhancing their employability.

Challenges:

1. To grow and develop as a proper department.
2. To make students of non-science streams appreciate the value of Environmental Science subject.
3. To increase the quality and quantity of study material for Hindi medium students.

Future Plans:

1. Try to establish a full time degree course, B. Sc. (Hons.) Environmental Studies.
2. To increase students' research projects so that students get more practical experience to deal with the various Environmental issues.
3. To organise seminars on important Environmental issues to increase public awareness.

35. SWOC analysis of the department and Future plans:

Strengths:

- “History” offers wisdom on every aspect of the human past and every human endeavor. It is invaluable for careers in politics, civil services, journalism, heritage and museum management, tourism, academics, law, social service, advertising, performing arts, business and other professions.
- Specializations of faculty members, use of traditional and innovative teaching methods, academic interests and involvement of faculty.
- The Department has set up two Facebook Profiles: History JDMC and Heritage History Association – JDMC to enable students, faculty and alumna to interact through new digital tools. This profile is used for disseminating information about academic and popular department activities among department members and the larger community. https://www.facebook.com/jdmc.dept.history? fref=pb&hc_location=profile_browser and https://www.facebook.com/Heritage-History-Association-JDMC-1480479115611075/

Weaknesses:

- Inadequate study materials for Hindi medium students.
- The inadequate number of permanent teachers.
- The inadequate scope for teachers to exploit their academic specializations to the fullest in the realm of pedagogy.
Opportunities:

- To ease the teacher-student imbalance for better redistribution and utilization of the teaching strengths of all teachers.
- To enhance the College infrastructure to accommodate increasing numbers of students seeking admission.
- To enlighten the weakest students who are marginalized by the intellectual elitism of high cut-offs, by reserving a pre-determined percentage of seats for students who did not fare well in school examinations and are determined to redeem their education at college.
- Intellectual development through refresher courses.
- Publishing monographs or short research papers in peer reviewed journals or presented in academic seminars and conferences.

Challenges:

- Finding ways to enhance the knowledge and character of students.
- Finding ways to arouse an interest in History as a subject among students who are undecided about their careers.
- Finding ways to awaken a passion for knowledge in students above any quest for degrees and shortcuts to success.
- Finding ways to maximize utilization of the specialization of the faculty as per the requirements outlined by the University of Delhi.

Future Plans:

- Introducing more interactive teaching methods by extensive use of ICT.
- Organizing more national and international seminars and other workshops.
- Setting up a Departmental Placement Cell for opportunities for History students. The Cell would also organize talks and presentations by potential employers NGOs, Art Galleries, Tourism and Heritage Management Companies.

* Our students diversify into varied fields. Since JDMC is an undergraduate college, our students have to apply to the University of Delhi/other universities to pursue higher studies.

Approximately 50% of our students pursue post-graduation in Mathematics, Operational Research, Statistics, Business Administration or Computer Application.

Many of our students take up a degree in Education and join teaching profession.

Some of our students also appear for Civil Services, Actuarial Sciences and other competitive exams.

- Career Guidance workshops are organized on a regular basis to apprise the students about the varied career options which they can choose after graduation.

- The department has also introduced 'Mathematics Section' in the college magazine, JANKI, which provides students with an opportunity to create some interesting problems/quizzes in the field of Mathematics. They have also contributed in the magazine in the form of Mathematical poems and articles.

- A video screening of select videos of the eminent motivational and inspirational speaker Mr. Sandeep Maheshwari was arranged on 24th September, 2015
33. Teaching methods adopted to improve student learning:

- Mathematics department uses both traditional and modern methods of teaching to impart knowledge to the students. Besides the lecture method, we also use problem based approach and multi-media techniques for teaching. Problem-based learning produces graduates who are creative and can think critically, analytically and solve problems.
- We also believe in Project Based Learning. This method includes developing a focused question, using solid, well crafted performance assessments, allowing for multiple solutions, enlisting community resources, and choosing or/and engaging with meaningful themes for projects.
- We use Multi-Media techniques like Microsoft Office, Mathematica, Maxima, C++ etc. for Teaching-Learning Process.

34. Participation in Institutional Social Responsibility (ISR) and Extension activities:

- The faculty members contribute to the corporate life of the institution by participating in the conduct and evaluation of examinations, and designing syllabi at the University level.
- The faculty members of the department have been convenors and members of various college level committees like Time-Table, Examination, Gardening, Attendance and Magazine and they have also been members of different welfare committees of the college such as Adult Education, NSS and Equal Opportunity Cell.
- The convenor of Exam Committee developed a tool on MS Excel in order to automatize the process of assigning Examination duties in the most efficient, accurate and standardized manner. This platform is very helpful in analyzing and making suitable modifications in order to address the changes in the duty list which was otherwise a very difficult task if done manually.
- A member of the Time Table committee of the department has developed a tool on MS Excel which has automised the process of making Time Tables. This tool helps to generate various reports like Class wise Time Table, Teacher wise Time Table, Room wise Time Table, after feeding the primary information with seamless integration and automated processing. It was successfully implemented in 2015 as part of a pilot project in the Mathematics Department.
- As a pilot project, the Department of Mathematics conducted online elections for Departmental Students' Union in 2015-16. The online elections were held using Google Form in well equipped computer labs in the college premises. The paper less and hassle free online elections turned out to be a great success and was well appreciated by students as well as by staff members. The Elections not only reduced overall voting and counting time but also made the whole procedure economical, eco-friendly and transparent.
- The students and faculty of the department have actively worked to collect food stuff, clothing, beddings, medication and other miscellaneous items for the victims of floods in Kashmir and Chennai in collaboration with Goonj.
- The department organised an educational excursion for students to National Science Centre on 31st October, 2015 to make them aware of principles of Science and Technology, develop critical thinking and also visualize the application of Mathematics in the real world.
• Students also take part in the field trips organised by the Environmental Studies department as part of their curriculum.

• Mathematics Department organized three events, Mathematical Pictionary, Mathematical Poetry and Just-A-Minute, in Symphony’ 15, the Annual cultural festival of the college and two events, Doodle-O-Math and Pic-Charades, in Symphony’16.

• The students of Mathematics department participated in “Training in self defence techniques” training camps organized by special police units for women and children in 2013 and 2014.

• Neha Sharma, B.Sc. (Hons.) Mathematics (batch 2011-2014) participated as a volunteer to facilitate the participation of the visually challenged students of JDMC in the Salwan Cross Country run for three years (2011-2013) and she also provided educational assistance to the wards of non-teaching staff of the college for a year in the college (2012-2013).

35. SWOC analysis of the department and Future plans:

Strengths:
• We believe in team work and encourage our students to develop creative and analytical thinking.
• We employ a combination of lecture-discussion, visual media, group discussions and whatever is appropriate to accommodate diverse learning styles to maintain interest in the students.
• Evaluation is done on a regular basis in which students are graded based on their performance in class tests, tutorials and presentations.
• The department organises remedial classes every semester, catering to the needs of the weaker students and those who have missed classes due to medical reasons or extra curricular activities.
• The faculty constantly updates their ICT skills by attending different workshops and computer courses and also uses the latest computer knowledge in teaching and in administrative work.

Weaknesses:
• Since the merger of B.A. (Hons.) Mathematics with B.Sc. (Hons.) Mathematics, a disturbing trend has emerged. We have noticed that in spite of getting 100% marks in Mathematics, our students do not secure University positions. The reason behind it is that since JDMC does not offer Science courses, our students study Mathematics in conjunction with Humanities and Commerce based subjects and their aggregate marks tend to be less than those students who study Science based subjects/disciplines courses.
• Vacant teaching posts.

Opportunities
• With the up-gradation of B.Sc. (Hons.) Mathematics syllabi in the past few years, the students have been given the opportunity to be trained in the use of softwares like Mathematica, Maxima and Matlab. This helps them to apply the concepts of Mathematics in diverse range of disciplines such as Environmental, Biological, Archeological etc.

- Practical knowledge of the subject helps them to understand the complex problems related to day to day life and gives them a tool to construct a mathematical model for the same.

Challenges:

- Studying Mathematics at advanced level requires highly developed computer skills. Students who are not familiar with the basic concepts of computers find it difficult to use Matlab, Mathematica or Maxima software without extra effort on their part and by the faculty.

- We frequently get students who lack mathematical aptitude. So, given the tight schedule of the semester system, the faculty and students have to struggle to manage the extra time required to bring them up to the required level of competence in Mathematics as well as computer literacy.

- As some of our students have studied in Hindi medium, very often abstract concepts are difficult to communicate because of language issues.

Future Plans:

- To organize seminars/workshops covering topics related to Applications of Mathematics.

- To increase interaction with other departments through teaching of DC-II courses.

- To impart skill-based training through Application Courses.

- To make Mathematics more interesting for the students, more innovative pedagogical techniques will be adopted.

35. SWOC analysis of the department and Future plans:

Strengths:
- Having academically and professionally qualified faculty in Music.
- The USP of the Music Department is the personalised rapport, the student teacher equation we cultivate.
- Around 8% -10% of students opt for Music in post-graduate courses and go on to complete their M.Phil. and Ph.D. or enter professional or commercial industry in Music.
- Besides academics, they actively participate in music and dance performances and theatre from time to time through the year.
- Studying Music as a subject trains the students to be sensitive to other cultures. Exposure during performance gives them confidence, which further enhances their personalities.

Weaknesses:
- Music is a highly specialised subject but a large number of students who opt for this discipline have had almost no basic foundation or training in the same.

Opportunities:
- Organise national and international events and performances, competitions, group discussions and presentations.
- Organise concerts by maestros.
- Celebrate music related festivals such as Guru Purnima, and Saraswati Puja, thus making the students aware of their cultural and musical heritage.
- Talented students from various disciplines form a part of the music society.
- Music offers opportunities for self-employment.

Challenges:
- Preservation of traditional classical vocal music styles in their pure form through Guru Shishya Parampara. Adaptation of training methods to meet the demands of the contemporary society.
- Conducting research projects to enhance the understanding of Music not only as a cultural phenomenon but also as a contrivance for human development.
- Music requires a great deal of discipline and regimented work.
- Training students in music is different from conventional teaching.

Future Plans:
- To upgrade the infrastructure of the dept. to facilitate teaching and increase productivity level which includes updating of musical instruments and electronic equipments.
- To stimulate the academic environment for promotion of National Integration through cultural awareness and cultivate social, moral & cultural values amongst the youth. By encouraging our students to interact with students from all states specifically during the preparation and performance at college and university events.

   Strengths:
   • The department has a committed team of dedicated teachers.
   • The department organizes open interactive sessions among learners and teachers which result in quick and effective solution to academic problems.
The library is also a source of inspiration for students and teachers to update and upgrade academic standards.

Holding Intra- as well as Inter-Collegiate competitions, which provide a platform to students to brush up and showcase their skills.

Weaknesses:

- The department gets students with very low percentage of marks. They generally have little interest in the subject.
- Students' poor skills in English language stand in the way of reading and understanding famous English critical appreciations of Sanskrit texts.
- Vacant posts in the faculty affect regular teaching-learning of the department.
- Limited scope for jobs is becoming a problem that may lessen enrolment in future.
- The teaching of Sanskrit Language and Literature at school level is being neglected. Therefore, the students' knowledge of this subject is poor.

Opportunities:

- To help students develop in all core spheres, like teaching-learning, research, knowledge transfer and international outlook. Modernization of the curriculum may be done keeping in mind the placement sector.

Challenges:

- To attract the students in this subject is a great challenge, especially when the trend in the enrolment in this subject is declining.

- One of the major drawbacks of the admission policy of the University of Delhi for Sanskrit, Hindi etc. is that students who opt for a particular course/subject in the OMR admission form are not supposed to change the same at any stage of the admission. This has resulted in not filling the required number of seats in the Sanskrit Department. Students, who wish to take admission in other courses and could not do so due to high cut-off percentage in the admission list, cannot seek admission in the Sanskrit Department as they had not applied for the same in the OMR admission form.

Future plans:

- The department is planning to start short term courses like Jyotish, Vastushastra, Vedic Mathematics, Management in Geeta.

- We shall try to collaborate with other institutes for further research in new areas.

Individual attention and personalized guidance is the hallmark of department. Tutorials as well as lectures are held stringently as per the schedule laid out in the time-table. The Department engages with the parents of the students either in person or telephonically, especially in case of students who are irregular with attending classes or their assignments.

The department relies upon multiple pedagogical tools that go beyond classroom teaching. Field trips to places like Jaipur, Udaipur, Hyderabad and Vrindavan have been organised. Besides field trips, walks and excursions within the city are also arranged at times.

Screening of films, both documentaries and mainstream followed by discussion is an engaging way to study issues like racism, (Mississippi Burning), global warming (The Inconvenient Truth) problems related to urban and industrial society (Gold Rush).

Preparation of projects and their presentation help the students to research issues that interest them. Some of them have collected first hand data from Kathputli Colony, surrogate mothers, women entrepreneurs, other issues of social concern.
Interaction with eminent scholars, social workers, writers also helps widen their horizons of learning.

Students from the Sociology department have topped and secured university positions. The analysis of the input-output shows very clearly that while students are admitted with far less cut-offs, their results are almost at par with other colleges of the North Campus. Our students regularly find themselves being selected at TISS, Delhi School of Economics, Delhi School of Social Work, JNU, Ambedkar University and other reputed universities.

Training in Sociology opens up avenues in law, journalism, social work and research and HR departments of various reputed organizations.

Weakness:

There is a paucity of reading material for Hindi medium students.

Opportunities:

Studying sociology trains the students to be more sensitive towards contemporary issues relating to caste, class, gender and other differences. The students are well versed in dealing with the issues pertaining to cities, industries, environment, increasing their employability in varied fields.

Sociology helps foster creativity, innovation, critical thinking, problem-solving and communication skills. A graduate with a Sociology degree will have a foundation for better understanding of engagement with the global issues.

Challenges:

Since most students have not studied Sociology at the school level, it is a challenge to start afresh at the under-graduate level where most of the students have been trained in Commerce or Science.

Future Plans:

The Sociology department endeavors to increase interaction with other departments through teaching of Generic Elective Courses. There will be an attempt to enhance interdisciplinary focus through teaching and research. The department has submitted innovative projects in collaboration with other departments. It will strive to ensure availability of resources to enable field trips in order to provide first hand experience of observation and data collection to its students.
B.A. Programme is one of the largest programmes in the college with student strength equal to all the Honours courses. B.A. Programme is not a department; it is the aggregate of almost all the departments of the college. Apart from Sociology and Commerce, all the other courses are taught under the umbrella of this programme.

Established as one of the earliest programmes under the title of B.A. Pass, its nomenclature was changed to B.A. Programme in 2004, when significant changes in the structure of this programme were introduced by the University. The inclusion of Foundation Courses in the IIrd Year and Application Courses such as Mass Communication, Legal Literacy, Tourism and Creative Writing etc in the IIIrd Year, added the much needed skill component to a programme that had been theory-oriented earlier.

But when the Four Year Undergraduate Programme (FYUP) was introduced in 2013, B.A. Programme, along with B.Com. Programme and B.Sc. Programme, was scrapped. It is with great relief that the student community welcomed its reintroduction in the Semester System and CBCS in the following years.

Although this programme incorporates most of the Humanities / Social Science subjects taught in the College, there are some departments/courses that are dedicated exclusively to the students of B.A. Programme. Family and Child Welfare (FCW/HDFE), a Home Science based course, can be studied only by B.A. Programme students as a Discipline Course. Similarly, Music is another Discipline subject accessible only to the students of this programme.

In B.A. Programme, we also offer self financing courses like Advertising, Sales Promotion and Sales Management (ASPSM) and Office Management and Secretarial Practice (OMSP). Given the nature of these courses, they are taught by guest faculty and students have to pay more to enrol in these courses.

Due to its diffuse nature, it is difficult to circumscribe this programme within the parameters of an evaluative report, as details of most of the subjects and faculty associated with this programme are already included in the respective departmental self-evaluation reports. Consequently, we have included the highlights of ASPSM and OMSP here because of their exclusive association with this programme. We have also included the relevant details of the students enrolled in B.A. programme.

Since many of the questions are already covered in the self-evaluation reports of the departments which teach the courses offered in B.A. Programme, we will be responding expressly to those questions that are specific to this programme.

Advertising, Sales Promotion and Sales Management (ASPSM):

This course is offered to B.A. Programme students in the college as a self financing course. In July 1996, the University introduced a set of vocational/job oriented courses in B.A. Programme. The idea was to give students the option of choosing one vocational course along with an academic subject and two languages.
Since this is a self-financing course, the students have to pay extra fee, which is used to pay the experts who teach this course as guest faculty. Till a few years ago, when the payment made to the guest faculty was Rs. 250/- per lecture, the college charged an extra one thousand rupees from the students to finance this course. However, with the increase in payment for each lecture, we had to increase the fee that has resulted in a reduction in the number of students opting for this course. Earlier, the student strength of this course per year was around 30, but now due to a steep increase in the fee for this course, it hovers between 15 to 20 students.

The main objective of this course is to equip students with the basic knowledge of different concepts and techniques of marketing, while providing insights into the process of marketing; tools of sales promotion; how to prepare an effective advertising message that results in increasing sales; functions of sales managers; successful management and organization of sales force etc.

This course was introduced to make B.A. Programme more employment oriented. After successfully completing this course, students can work in Advertising agencies as public relations managers and sales representatives, depending on their communication skills and creativity.

Office Management and Secretarial Practice:

Office Management and Secretarial Practice (OMSP) was introduced as a course in B.A. Programme in 1976. The main purpose of this course is to train students to manage office activities like filing, indexing the documents; mailing procedures; uses of the office stationery; using modern technology; and office communication like email, voice mail, internet, and multi-media.

This course orients the students to take notes by using stenography, which can help them become good writers and accurate note takers. After the successful completion of this course, students can work as stenographers, personal secretaries and office assistants.

In the last five or six years however, there has been a decline in the interest shown by students in this course. A decade ago, there used to be around 30 to 35 students in each OMSP class. But now, there are barely 10 to 15; most of whom tend to be students from the vocational stream, who cannot otherwise get admission into B.A. Programme.

The college is planning to introduce Computer Application as a course to provide students with an option that may be more professionally productive for them in future.

26. Student Profile Programme/Course-wise:

Important note:

Under the FYUP, B.A. Programme was removed from the list of undergraduate courses offered by colleges affiliated to Delhi University and there were no admissions in this programme in 2013-2014. So, there are no records available for that year.

Till 2014, admission to all courses for reserved categories was centralised. The Central Registration Cell of Delhi University used to allocate colleges to the candidates. Therefore, colleges have no records of admission details of any category except the general category.

Please refer to 2.1.5 to assess and compare the maximum and minimum marks required by students of various categories for admission to B.A. Programme at JDMC with various Delhi University colleges in the last few years.

27. Diversity of Students:

Please refer to 2.1.5 for details.

35. SWOC analysis and Future Plans:

Strengths:

By its very nature, B.A. Programme is inter-disciplinary in nature. It allows students to study a combination of subjects according to their choice without restricting them to one subject and associated options.

This programme offers courses to students from Humanities, Social Sciences and Commerce stream simultaneously, thereby giving all students something to suit their requirements.

This programme is also convenient for students who do not want to specialise in one course. It offers the ideal combinations of subjects required for professional courses like B.Ed. and competitive exams.

Weaknesses:

Although one of the largest programmes in the College and the University, its students often feel marginalised as they do not have one, focal, affiliation because they study multiple courses. To rectify this situation, we have created a B.A. Programme, Association and Student-Faculty Committee to address the issues specific to the students of this programme in 2016.

The general perception is that B.A. Programme is not as value-oriented as the Honours courses. This was reinforced when the FYUP was introduced and B.A. Programme was removed from the list of undergraduate programmes.

Another drawback of this programme is a belief that B.A. Programme lacks the rigour of Honours courses because students study many subjects instead of focussing on one.

Very often, the classes of B.A. Programme tend to be very large numerically. Due to these large numbers in most classes, it is difficult for the students to receive, and the faculty to provide, personalised learning environment.
Opportunities:
It was indeed heartening when B.A Programme was reintroduced with the rollback of the FYUP, as it was a validation of the importance of this course for students, which makes it imperative that we should try to make B.A. Programme more relevant and student-centric. Consequently, we are planning to introduce Computer Application as a course for the students of B.A. Programme in the near future.

We also hope that the introduction of Skill Enhancing and Generic Elective Courses in the II\textsuperscript{nd} and III\textsuperscript{rd} year will add to the educational experience of the students affiliated to this programme.

Challenges:
We have to continuously strive to make B.A. Programme courses more relevant and value oriented in the face of popular perceptions, overcrowded classrooms and infrastructural issues.

We will have to constantly update the courses and faculty's skills to keep B.A. Programme relevant to the students, so that they can get the most out of their education.

Future Plans:
We hope to give B.A. Programme and its students a new identity by providing more skill-oriented course which enhance the employability of the students.

We plan to make B.A. Programme a more cohesive unit with a greater choice of subjects for the students.

The other aim is to organise more workshops and seminars for the students of this programme.

It can be seen from the above that an amount of Rs 45.33 lakh is outstanding as management share up to 2013-14. Necessary action should be taken to recoup the arrear of management share at the earliest under intimation to audit.

Part II-B

Para 1: Non-deduction of medical contribution of Rs.11.76 lakh from the beneficiaries.

University of Delhi provides medical facilities to its employees on the analogy of CGHS i.e. number of private hospitals and diagnostic centers have been approved by DU from where the beneficiaries can reimburse the cost of treatment at CGHS rates and it also maintains four health centers at different locations in Delhi. After implementation of the Sixth Pay Commission the Government of India revised the rates of monthly contribution for availing CGHS facilities by Central government employees effective from 1 June 2009. Accordingly, the DU forwarded (June 2009) the following revised rates of subscription under CGHS Scheme to all colleges:

<table>

<td>3</td>
<td>Rs. 4600/-, Rs. 4800/-, Rs. 5400/- and Rs. 6600/- per month</td>
<td>325/-</td>

</tbody>

During scrutiny of relevant record it was observed that the Janaki Devi Memorial College was charging the medical contribution at the CGHS rates from the employees who were covered under WUS Scheme. But no contribution was being recovered from the employees who were not covered under WUS but reimbursement on account of medical charges was being made to them, which is irregular. This irregularity leads to non-recovery of Rs. 11.76 lakh on account of medical contribution from beneficiary employees during the period June 2011 to March 2014.

Thus, due to non-recovery of the medical contribution, the college suffered a loss of Rs. 11.76 lakh during period 2011-12 to 2013-14.

Para 2: Short recovery of license fee amounting to Rs 8.76 lakh from outside agencies.

Ministry of Urban Development, Directorate of Estates vide OM dated 1 January 2004 had prescribed the rate for recovery of license fee in respect of General pool office accommodation i.e. @ Rs. 220 per sq. meter per month from commercial departments w.e.f. 16 March 1999. Subsequently, the Ministry revised the fee to Rs. 249 (1 April 2002 to 31 March 2005), Rs. 279 (1 April 2005 to 31 March 2008) and Rs. 337 (1 April 2008 to 31 March 2011).
and Rs. 455 (1 April, 2011 to 31-03-2014) vide order dated 11 November 2005, 10th December 2007 and 19 June 2009 respectively.)

Scrutiny of records revealed that College had allotted land/space in its premises to the following outside agencies:

The details of short recovery of license fee as per above mentioned rates from all these agencies are tabulated below:

It can be seen from the above, that due to non-fixation of rates as per orders of the Govt. Of India, Directorate of Estates, the College had suffered a loss of Rs. 8.76 lakhs during last 5 years. The college may, henceforth, take necessary steps to levy the rates of license fee to be charged as per above mentioned orders, from canara bank authorities which have been allotted land in its premises under intimation to audit.

Para 3: Non-utilization of Grants for OBC expansion

(A) As per instruction of Ministry of HRD/ UGC each college was required to expand the student capacity by 54% to implement Central Education Institutions (Reservation in Admission) Act 2006 by the academic session in July, 2010. The UGC/Delhi University has sanctioned grant of Rs 571 lakh in 2008-09 & onwards towards Non-recurring expenditure for infrastructure expansion relating to OBC reservations and Rs 342.3 lakh towards recurring grant for undertaking repair-renovation & establishment of the existing infrastructure of College.

It can be seen from the above table that out of a total available funds of Rs.1118.16 lakh under non-Recurring and recurring heads, the college could spend an amount of Rs 452.34 lakh, only 40% of the available funds which is very low leaving an unspent balance of Rs. 665.82 lakh under non-recurring/recurring grant as on 31.03.2014.

Para 4: Inadmissible payment of Service Tax of Rs. 16,962/-

In terms of notification No. 25/2012- Service Tax dated 20th June 2012 and circular No. 172/7/2013-ST dated 19th Sepetember,2013 educational institutions imparting education is exempted from payment of service tax on housekeeping, security services, canteen etc. Scrutiny of records in audit revealed that the college authorities were paying service tax on housekeeping, security services and canteen etc amounting to Rs 16,962 during June 2012 to 31st March 2014. Being an educational institution the college authorities are exempted from payment of income tax on these services. The college authorities may apply for a refund of the service tax paid under intimation to audit.
The procedure followed by the college authorities and showing undue favour to the firm M/s A.K Electricals for award of work was in contravention of GFRs and thus the expenditure incurred on purchase of stage equipment was irregular.

Para 8: Non-conducting Physical Verification of Stores

As per G.F.R. 192 (1), The inventory for fixed assets shall ordinarily be maintained at site. Fixed assets should be verified at least once in a year and the outcome of the verification recorded in the corresponding register and also a physical verification of all stores shall be made at least once in every year under rules subject to such general directions as may be issued by the concerned Departments of the Central Government or the Administrator, as the case may be. The verification shall never be left to low paid subordinates and in the case of large and important stores, it shall be, as far as possible, entrusted to a responsible officer, who is independent of the subordinate authority in charge of the store.

As per GFR 194(1) Complete physical verification of books should be done every year in case of libraries having not more than twenty thousand volumes. However as the collection of the library in Janaki Devi Memorial college is large physical verification is done in parts. The process was started with political science and commerce and still under process.

The physical verification in respect of the non consummable articles and Libraries has not been conducted in the Janaki Devi college for the period of audit. The same may be got conducted urgently under intimation to audit.

The Building and Other Construction Workers' Welfare Cess Act 1996 provides for the levy of cess at a rate not exceeding two per cent but not less than one per cent of the cost of construction incurred by an employer engaged in any construction work. The cess is to be collected by the local authority or the State Government and paid to the Building and Other Construction Workers Welfare Board constituted under the Act. The Act also provides for payment of interest at the rate of two per cent for every month in case of delay (Section-8) and levy of penalty not exceeding the amount of cess due on the employer in case of non-payment of cess within the specified time (Section-9). In pursuance of this central legislation, the Government of NCT of Delhi notified the DelhiBuilding and Other Construction Workers (RE&CS) Rules in January 2002 and subsequently constituted the DelhiBuilding and other Construction Workers Welfare Board in September 2002. In August 2005, Government of Delhi directed that all government departments and agencies carrying out any activity covered under the provisions of the Act shall get themselves registered with its Labor department and that they should deduct one per cent of the approved cost of the work from the bills of the contractor at the time of making payment as cess. The amount so collected was to be remitted within 30 days to the Secretary, Delhi Building and other Construction Workers Welfare Board after deducting one per cent of the total amount collected for meeting administrative expenses. The cess is leviable on the all contracts with effect from 10 January 2002.

Audit observed that the College had not complied with provisions of the Act. During the period of audit, the college paid a sum of Rs. 77.77 lakhs to the contractors engaged in various works. The college was to deduct cess amounting to Rs.0.77 lakh from the contractors’ bills but it failed to do so. Failure of the College to comply with provisions of Act resulted in undue benefit to the contractors.

Further, college is also liable to pay penalty equal to the levy of cess i.e. Rs. 0.77 lakh to the Workers Welfare Board for non-payment of cess under intimation to audit.

Para 10: Non-imposing of Penalty of Rs. 3.07 lakh due to delay in completion of works

As per clause 2 of the CPWD Manual, if the contractor fails to maintain the required in terms of clause 5 or to complete the work and clear the site on or before the contract or extended date of completion, compensation for delay of work will be computed @ 1.5% per month which shall not exceed 10% of the tendered value of work or the tendered value of the item or group of items of work for which a separate period of completion as originally given.

Scrutiny in audit revealed that in the following works no penalty for delay in completion of work was imposed by the college authorities even though the work was completed with a delay ranging from 2 months to 8 months. Thus an amount of Rs. 3.07 lakh as penalty is recoverable from the contractors. The same may be recovered under intimation to audit.

Para 13: Non submission of Annual Property Returns by the employees.

The guidelines regarding submission of annual property return was issued by University of Delhi vide their letter 19.10.2012. However during the scrutiny of audit it was been noted that the property returns for the permanent teaching staff and non teaching staff for the years 2012 & 2013 are in arrears.

Para 14: Descripancies in maintance of service records
The test check of service records during the audit scrutiny has revealed the discrepancies in maintenance of essential service particulars. In the instant case of Ms. Sipu Jaiswal, Assistant Professor appointed on 19.11.2007, there are no entries of pay fixation done after the implementation of sixth pay commission since year 2008-09 and annual increments thereafter in her service book till date. Also no leave records and nomination forms are attached in her service book, which is irregular as per the extant rules. In case of every government employees all necessary entries like annual increment, promotion, MACP, suspension, leave, nominations etc should be entered timely in his/her service records with attestation by the competent authority. Further scrutiny of audit also revealed that as per the university of delhi leave rules-2013 para 2 (16) in which it is mentioned that after the leave has been sanctioned, the teacher shall, before availing himself/herself of the leave, execute a bond on the prescribed format appended with rules in favour of the University/College/Institution but in case of Ms. Sipu Jaiswal it has been observed that she has been granted study leave vide college letter dated 31.07.2013 from 01.08.2013 for a period of two years with mentioning the bond clause in letter however she has not executed the required bond to the college. Ms. Jaiswal has completed her six months period of study leave on 31.01.2014, but till date she has not furnished the required reports of progress of her study. These type of discrepancies in maintenance of service record is irregular.

All such cases may be reviewed and necessary action should be taken to complete the all record of such employees under intimation to audit.

Para 15: Irregularity in award of housekeeping work.

Rule 178 to 185 of the General Financial Rules prescribe the procedure and guidelines to be followed by any organization for outsourcing of services. Rule 178 prescribes that an organization may outsource certain services in the interest of economy and efficiency and it may prescribe detailed instructions and procedures for this purpose without, however, contravening the basic guidelines. Further, Rule 181 (a) stipulated that in case of work or service whose estimated value is up to Rs. 10 lakh or less, the organization should scrutinize the preliminary list of likely contractors as identified as per Rule 179 above, decide the prima facie eligible and capable contractors and issue limited tender enquiry to them asking for their offers by a specified date and time etc. as per standard practice. The number of the contractors so identified for issuing limited tender enquiry should not be less than six.

Scrutiny in audit revealed that Janaki Devi Memorial College hired the services of Specialist Housekeeping Services from August 2013 for the work of providing housekeeping workers to the college. The college invited limited tenders from only three firms viz Shiv Shakti enterprises, Specialist Housekeeping services and modern protection force for the work of providing housekeeping services to the college. As per GFR 181 number of contractors so identified for issuing limited tender enquiry should not be less than six.

Thus the expenditure of Rs 1,53,849/- incurred by the college authorities in contravention of GFR 181 is irregular. It may also be pointed out that college is paying ESI and EPF to M/s Specialist Housekeeping Services @ 4.75% and 13.61% respectively for Rs. 367/- and 1051/- per person but the college authorities are not taking the proof of submission of these contributions in respect of employees paid for the respective months. The College authorities should take the proof of submission of ESI & EPF payments from the contractor and irregular payment, if any should be recovered from the contractor under intimation to audit.

Para 16: Non maintance of stock register for consumeables

As per General Financial Rule 190 (2) (ii) separate accounts shall be kept for consumables such as office stationery, chemicals, maintenance spare parts etc. in the form GFR-41. The scrutiny of audit revealed that the Janki College Memorial College is not maintaining any stock register for the consumeables. The college is purchasing consumable material from the department of Agriculture Employees consumer Co-operative Store Ltd directly for more than Rs. 50,000/- yearly. This practice for not maintaining the stock register of consumable cannot be vouched safe in audit.

The college authorities should maintain the stock register for consumable in GFR form 41 under intimation to audit.

Para 17: Vacant posts in Janki Devi Memorial College

Scrutiny of records for sanctioned strength and men in position of Janki devi memorial college from the year 2011-12 to 2013-14, revealed that there were total 170 posts of teaching staff (56 were increased under OBC expansion) and 72 non teaching staff lying vacant as on 31-03-14, as shown below:-

University of Delhi vide its letter No. DC/OBC/Grant/2009/405 dated 03.02.2009 has intimated the college regarding creation of 55 additional posts under OBC expansion under implementaion of the central educational institutions(reservation in admission ) act 2006 and advised to college to fill up the 28 teaching posts sanctioned in the first tranche. However till date college authorities are not able to fill up the 50% vacant post of teaching staff and the vacant post of non-teaching staff to improve the efficient working of the college. For the vacant posts of teaching staff the college has appointed the 31, 46 & 48 adhoc teachers in different departments in year 2011-12,2012-13 & 2013-14 respectively and guest lectures also.

The college authorities should take necessary action for filling up the vacant posts of both teaching and non-teaching staff under intimation to audit.

A Personal file which is maintained for every Government employee is not a substitute for Service Book but a parallel document which contains only the routine correspondence and leave application, etc.

Scrutiny of the service books of faculty and non-teaching revealed that the service books were incomplete in respect of the following aspects:

a) Photograph of the concerned employee was not found pasted in any service book. The GPF account No. was not found entered in the service books.

b) Leave taken by each employee was entered but credit of leave and calculation of balance leave as on a particular date viz. a leave account was not maintained in the prescribed form along with the service book. It is being maintained in separate registers which is wrong.
c) The certificate of previous in 25th year of service or 5 years before retirement of employee, whichever is less and communicate the qualifying service to the employee was not found in the service book.

d) Entries of annual increments are not complete and signed.

e) Family details and nomination forms are not attached.

Necessary steps may be taken for maintenance of service books in proper form and complete in all respects.

Para 2: Not maintainance of proper voucher numbering and cancellation of paid vouchers.

As per the Receipt & Payment rules, 1983 rule 28 & 56 “a bill becomes a voucher only when it is receipted and stamped ‘PAID’ however audit scrutiny revealed that the vouchers are not cancelled and stamped paid. Also the proper numbering on the vouchers is not being done, which is wrong in terms of R&P rules.

Para 3: Non maintainance of register of LTC claims.

Scrutiny of the ltc claims has revealed that the college is not maintaining the register of LTC claims as per the forms mentioned in CCS LTC rules 1988. In absence of maintainance of such register it is very difficult to keep watch on timely submission of ltc claims in r/o employees taken advance and also to keep record of ltc taken by an employee in a particular block. The college authorities shold maintainance register of ltc claims.

Dear Sir / Madam,

Part II A

Para 1: Non contribution of management share of 5 per cent Rs. 45.33 lakh.
The observation was communicated to the College Management for the release of Management contribution. The Management has contributed its share.

Part II B

Para 1: Non-deduction of medical contribution of Rs. 11.76 lakh from the beneficiaries.
The college would like to state that it is following the policy decisions of the University.
Hence, such observations can be made to the University. We will communicate this observation, on our part, to the University. Meantime, we will abide by University rules.

Para 2: Short recovery of license fee amounting to 8.76 lakh from outside agencies.
We have communicated this observation to the Management of the college. This is a girls college where safety and security of girls is a prime concern. The bank presently serves the needs only of college staff and students. No outsiders are permitted. Under such circumstances, the issue is under consideration. The decision of the Management will be communicated as and when arrived at.

Para 3: Non utilization of Grants for OBC expansion.
The balance amount of OBC expansion Grant has now been committed as the construction of the Girls hostel has now commenced.

Para 4: Inadmissible payment of Service Tax of Rs. 16,962/-.

by the college will be recovered through the procedure suggested by the CAG.

CXXXVII
Para 5: Over payment of 3.37 lakhs as water charges
The issue has been taken up with the Delhi Jal Board. The college has applied for the necessary rebate. We await the DJB’s approval.

The audit observations on this subject have been conveyed to the college Management and the college awaits the managements decisions for future compliance on this issue.

Para 10: Non imposing of penalty of Rs. 3.07 lakhs due to delay in completion of works
Janki Devi Memorial College is almost seventy years old and the buildings have undergone reconstruction and construction in parts. Very often any new construction leads to emergent changes which involves revising and altering plans. It is difficult to ascertain the reason for delay. Hence the penalty cannot be imposed upon the contractor alone. However, the audit observations have been considered and will be complied with in future.

Para 11: Excess payment of Rs. 3.41 lakh due to irregular LTC claims
The rules relating to LTC etc. are always routed through University of Delhi by the UGC/MHRD. There is a time gap in the college receiving them. These LTC claims were reimbursed before the receipt of University communication. However, care would be taken to act according to Govt. of India notification in this regard in future.

Para 12: Excess payment of Rs. 2.59 lakh due to irregular leave encashment
Janki Devi Memorial College is a small organization where verbal communication carries the same import as written communication. The employees mentioned in Para 12 had all made a verbal request for claiming 10 days leave encashment before proceeding on LTC. Care will be taken that in future such applications are received in writing, in advance.

Para 13: Non submission of Annual Property Returns by the employees
