

Certificate Course on Development Finance (2018-19)

The Certificate Course on Development Finance was offered by the Economics Department, JDMC in Collaboration with the Centre for Financial Accountability (CFA), New Delhi. This course was conducted by the Centre for Financial Accountability.

The Centre for Financial Accountability (CFA) aims to strengthen and improve financial accountability within India. CFA engages in critical analysis, monitoring and critique of the role of financial institutions – national and international, and their impact on development, human rights and the environment, amongst other areas.

The certificate course on development finance was a short course of 20 hours to introduce students to the world of finance and critical discussion on development finance. The course would help students build critical perspective on development finance and introduce them to financial institutions, their roles, relevance and critiques.

This course introduced different aspects of finance – looking at the fundamental premises on which the world of finance is systematically built, understanding the role of financial institutions beyond lending/banking, addressing the contemporary issues related to finance in India and critically looking at the gaps in governance, transparency and accountability in finance / of financial institutions. The course was an effort to make finance palatable and highlight the integral nature of finance in all walks of our lives.

The course was a combination of lectures, seminars, group discussion and a short assignment and evaluation.
