Topic: PARLIAMENT HOUSE VISIT

Date: 9 May 2023

Description

Department of Political Science, Janki Devi Memorial College organized an educational visit to Parliament for first-year students on the 9th of May. Dr. Vijay Kumar Badetia took his students to the Parliament so that they could experience and understand the history and functioning of democratic institutions like the Parliament in India. The day was followed by giving homage to GURUDEV RABINDRA TAGORE. Students of various states wearing their costumes took part in this activity, which took place in the Central Hall. This is an important part of the Parliament structure as this is the place where the Indian Constitution was drafted.

The students were fortunate enough to interact with the 17th and current Speaker of the Lok Sabha "OM BIRLA". This was a treat for someone who is a political enthusiast.

SEMINAR ON ASYMMETRICAL FEDERALISM REPORT

TOPIC : ACCOMODATING DIVERSITY THROUGH ASYMMETRICAL FEDERALISM IN INDIA

DATE : 1 NOVEMBER 2022

TIME : 12 p.m. Onwards

VENUE : SEMINAR ROOM

ABOUT THE SPEAKER :

Dr. Rekha Saxena is a professor at the Department of Political Science, University of Delhi, honorary Vice-Chairperson at Centre for Multilevel Federalism, New Delhi, and honorary Senior Advisor at the Forum of Federations, Ottawa.

Prof. Saxena completed her PG, M.Phil, and Ph.D. from the University of Delhi and specializes in Indian and Comparative Politics, particularly in the study of Political Institutions, Constitution, Federalism, Party Politics, and Elections. Her various publications on Indian Politics, Indian Judiciary, and Federal Governance are widely applauded. Prof. Saxena has delivered various lectures on political concepts, Indian democracy, the federal system of governance, gender and politics, in many national and international institutions. She has authored and co-authored several publications on the Indian Judiciary, Indian Politics, and Federal Governance. She has also worked as country Co-coordinator for India on two global dialogue programmes of the Forum of Federations, Canada on the themes of - 'Intergovernmental relations in Federal Countries' and 'Legislative, Executive and Judicial governance in Federal Countries.'

DESCRIPTION :

On 1 November 2022, the Department of Political Science of Janki Devi Memorial College organised a seminar on 'Accommodating Diversity through Asymmetrical Federalism in India'. The invited speaker was Prof Rekha Saxena. This session was attended by 75 students from the department.

The event began with the introduction of the topic for the session. Dr. Suman Gupta, the TIC of the department addressed the audience and welcomed the speaker by presenting a memento as a token of appreciation.

This was followed by the introduction of the speaker. Beginning with laying emphasis on the basic idea of Federalism, the speaker mentioned the various models of federalism like symmetrical federalism, asymmetrical federalism, executive federalism, centre-state federalism, inter-state federalism, UT model and much more.

The speaker stated that federalism, in its different forms, is becoming the ultimate choice for governments of different nations, like Nepal and Sri Lanka, to opt for, because of its feature of being inclusive and accommodating diversity.

By drawing a comparison between different countries, she also cited the fact that India follows both, constitutional and political asymmetric federalism. Giving an insight about the nature of Indian Federalism, she mentioned that during the Pandemic times, the centre and the states were coordinating with each other which is an example of Cooperative Federalism. She discussed about her major works on Federalism and how diverse Federalism as a course of study is. In her concluding statements, she mentioned the 'historical/cultural background of a country' along with the 'political will of the leadership' as the most important factors that determine the federal model for any nation-state.

The key takeaways of the sessions include Federalism in India, its forms, the changes and how it is going to be shaped ahead.

After such an enlightening session, the students as well as faculty members engaged in an interactive question and answer round.

The session ended with the vote of thanks extended by the President of the department.

DESCRIPTION:

The Department of Political Science, Janki Devi Memorial College, organized a 'Soft Skills Enhancement' workshop on the topic - 'Enhancing Your Aura and Exploring Life Skills' on 15th October 2022. This session was facilitated by two honorable speakers - Dr. Bhavna Chawla and Mr. Rachit Nema. The session was attended by 45-50 students and was well-received by the entire audience.

The session was preceded by the investiture ceremony of the Political Science Students' Union, where the new union was badged by teachers of the department, namely, Dr. Poonam Kanwal, Dr. Rehamol P R, and Dr. Debahuti Bramhachari.

The workshop then commenced with the introduction and felicitation of the speakers, after which the speakers started the session. Dr. Chawla, with her enthusiastic spirit, started off the session by discussing personal challenges that students face and gave real-life examples of how adversity can be and has to be overcome. The speaker, through an interesting presentation, laid emphasis on self-realization and tapping one's hidden potential. She conducted student-based activities intending to explain the importance of effective communication and also to understand different perspectives and perceptions. She shared the 'Ikigai' concept with the students and discussed some tools for building the right attitude to navigate success and failures through conscious decision-making.

Dr. Chawla's talk was followed by Mr. Nema's interaction with the students. This session mainly focused on communication skills and the importance of understanding communication and miscommunication. Mr. Nema emphasized on human relations and monitoring one's self-conduct in a professional work environment. He also discussed some practical tools that the students can practice to build their self-esteem and establish positive relationships with the people in their lives. The seminar concluded with the speakers answering individual questions that the audience had. The session was interactive and provided a sense of direction to the students towards the path of personal development and was well-received by the audience. The association in-charges congratulated and thanked the speakers for the successful event and a group picture was taken with the Students' Union and the speakers.

At the end, the anchors thanked the speakers, audience and organizers for the smooth and efficient functioning of the event.
