Pedagogy Series Lecture on "Why do we Objectify Everything: Analyzing the Root Cause of Suffering" by Prof. Vivek Suneja

Topic: "Why do we Objectify Everything: Analyzing the Root Cause of Suffering"

Speaker: Prof. Vivek Suneja

Date: 20 February 2023, 11 AM

Venue: Seminar Room

The NEP Implementation Committee of Janki Devi Memorial College in collaboration with JDMC-IQAC held a lecture, "Why do we Objectify Everything: Analyzing the Root Cause of Suffering" by Prof. Vivek Suneja, Head and Dean, Faculty of Management Studies, as a part of the Faculty Pedagogy Series, on 20 February 2023. Prof. Suneja discussed the basis of some of the Value Addition Courses which was interdisciplinarity and experiential learning. He highlighted the significance of experiential learning with respect to the teaching and learning process. Prof. Suneja also discussed the need to change pedagogical methods to create a different knowledge base. He encouraged the faculty to do a few experiential exercises to emphasize the same. He mentioned that his attempt was to provoke the audience into thinking. Prof. Suneja referred to Buddha's teachings to highlight the significance of mindfulness, listening and looking at our surroundings. Through his reference to Buddha's teachings, Prof. Suneja focused on the loss of subjectivity in the current world and the excessive objectification of everything. He highlighted the significance of subjectivity to become effective teachers and enhancing pedagogical techniques. The lecture was highly inspiring for the faculty and encouraged a healthy discussion between Prof. Suneja and the attending faculty.
